

General clean-up day set for Morrow County Fair

By Birdine Tullis
Extension Service
Get Ready For Fair

A general clean-up...set up days is planned Sunday, August 12, 9 a.m. for all 4-H departments at County Fair. Home economics and livestock areas will be cleaned and decorated for the big event which starts the following Saturday. All parents, leaders, members and others interested are encouraged to come out to the Fairgrounds to assist. Bring your lunch and we'll bring coffee. All 4-H animals must be weighed in, and in place, by Noon Saturday, August 18th. Livestock judging contest for the 4-H and FFA will start at 2 p.m. that day. Teams should be selected and ready to go at that time.

Style Revue Judging
All girls pre-registered to participate in 4-H Style Revue are reminded that the judging for this event is Friday, August 17, at the Elementary-

Junior High Gym. Time for each division was listed in information mailed to all home economics members recently.

Favorite outfits, as well as other clothing and knitting exhibits will be judged on the member at this time.

Contests For All!
A number of contests at fair are open to all 4-H members, regardless of their project areas. They are: Record and Memory Book Contest, Favorite Outfit Contest, Wheat-hearts Baking Contest, Educational Displays, Presentations, and Conservation Displays. We encourage members to participate in these contests, as well as those that relate to their projects.

Livestock Sale Tuesday, August 21, 8 p.m.

One very important item was omitted from the Fair Schedule in the front of the premium book, the livestock auction, Tuesday, August 21 at 8 p.m. is the time to be there to buy an animal and enjoy the activity of the sale!

OSU Extension Names 4-H Specialist
John Abell has joined the OSU Extension Service as 4-H Youth Specialist, arriving in Corvallis to start work in June.

Abell comes to OSU from Kansas State University, and will provide state wide leadership for natural science projects, camping and older youth programs.

The new specialist fills a position that has been vacant since September when Lois Redman resigned to accept a 4-H position at Kansas State. Abell, who had been a member of the Kansas State 4-H staff since 1975, had previously been responsible for outdoor education and recreation programs in a Colorado school district, a Job Corps Center, and at the Alpine campus of United States International University in Steamboat Springs, Colorado.

He has been an instructor for the Colorado Outward Bound School and co-director of Lifebound Ltd. in Denver.

He earned his bachelor's degree from Michigan State University and holds a Masters Degree in outdoor education and recreation management from Indiana University.

Since arriving on the job in Oregon, Abell has attended many 4-H camps and had the opportunity to see most of the state. He visited the Wheeler-Gilliam County camp when it was in session at Cutsforth Park and helped with the programs there.

Fair... All our thoughts from now until August 17 point to Fair! We encourage all 4-H members to participate in the annual event...We take pride in our members and their accomplishments! Now is the time for them to share what they have learned! See you all at fair.

PGE ENERGY UPDATE

Street Lights Stay On When Something's Wrong

"Fail-safe" is the term applied to the control equipment for the street lighting system in Portland so that if and when anything goes wrong with the circuit, the lights automatically stay on. The system is designed this way in the belief that it is better to run the risk of having a few lights on during the day on occasion — until they can be fixed — than to have them off at night when they are needed for traffic and pedestrian safety. If you do see a light burning during the day — and this could be anywhere in the city, including the ornamental street lighting system of downtown Portland — call PGE's repair department — 226-8111 — and specify the location. Conservation is important and so is safety.

Cornus Nuttalli Gets Nod in New Trees Brochure

The headline above proves that Latin is not a dead language after all, but rather describes a living, breathing, beautiful native Oregon tree popularly known as Pacific Dogwood. And, for more Latin to amaze your friends and neighbors and for more knowledge about the kinds of trees that do well in Oregon and the Willamette Valley, you may have free, PGE's new full-color, 16-page "Trees" brochure. Purpose of the publication is to provide guidelines that will help Oregon tree lovers select trees to bring lasting beauty and also help to prevent interruptions of your electrical service by staying clear of overhead lines. They are available at most garden supply centers in the company's service area and at all PGE's offices.

Save Trips with Tips on Using Freezer Super Mart

Now that it takes close to a dollar or more to buy a gallon of gasoline, it really pays to avoid as many trips as possible — even to your neighborhood supermarket. Your home freezer can help and following these tips can help save those trips: (1) Place freezer away from heat-producing equipment and direct sunlight, (2) Freeze fresh, in-season foods and don't overstock commercially frozen foods that are always available — freeze these when on sale, (3) Don't let frost build up more than a quarter of an inch.

President Sets Energy Conservation Guidelines

In his energy speech July 15, President Carter ordered that air conditioning thermostats of the nation's office buildings and stores be no lower than 78° — and that the wintertime thermostats be set at 65°. Also, that thermostats on water heaters in commercial buildings and stores be set at 105° for personal hygiene and general cleaning. Although a spokeswoman for the federal Energy Department isn't quite yet sure of how the new rules will be enforced, she indicated non-compliers could face fines of up to $10,000 a day. Apartments, hotels, elementary schools and day-care centers are exempt from the rule which remains in effect nine months after the effective date of July 23, 1979.

Trojan, 67 Nuclear Plants Can Now Call NRC Quickly

In the event of an incident that would threaten public health and safety at Trojan and 67 other U.S. licensed nuclear generating plants, newly established "dedicated" telephone lines between the plants and the U.S. Nuclear Regulatory Commission's Operation's Center in Bethesda, Maryland will enable plant operators to communicate directly and immediately with NRC technical staff personnel. NRC staff personnel are on duty 24 hours a day as are nuclear plant operators. Establishment of the direct telephone line is a good idea and was initiated by NRC following the accident at the Three Mile Island nuclear plant last March.

Trojan Producing Near 50% of Customer Needs

The Trojan nuclear plant has been operating since July 11 and PGE's 67.5 percent share of the plant's output is supplying about one-half of the electricity used by customers. Trojan's production of approximately 1000 megawatts of electricity is helping to ease the current critical power situation due to low streamflows in the region's rivers.

Student body leaders attend leadership camp in Salem

Two officers of the Heppner High School student body recently attended an Associated Student Body Leadership Camp in Salem, Oregon at the Oregon State School of the Deaf during the week of July 18-20.

Those attending were Vice President Joe Mollahan and Secretary Jolynn Daly.

The two officers learned and developed leadership skills and exchanged problem-solving and activity ideas with other ASB officers throughout the state.

There were many recreational activities with Junior Olympics and talent night. Joe Mollahan acted in a skit with Jim Orino, a fellow vice president from the Central Catholic High School.

Never lacking in things to do, a swimming pool, pool tables and a gym were a few of the things offered to camp members. Much of the time was spent in group discussions and team activities.

Bill Jordan of Molalla Union High School, was elected as student representative to the Oregon State Education Board. Margarette Hudson of Grant High School, Portland, was elected as an alternate.

Other Heppner High School student body officers are Ron Young, president, Jackie Gentry, treasurer, Nancy Miller, asst. treasurer and Anne Van Schoiack, business manager.

Son's family visits here from Alaska

Carl J. D. Bauman, his wife Margaret and son, John, all of Anchorage, Alaska were in Heppner July 26, 27 and 28.

They were visiting his father, Clarence Bauman, who is a patient at Pioneer Memorial Hospital and his mother, Mrs. Hazel Bauman.

Family receives fly in guests from California

Lois, Ernie and Erna Winchester have had some fly-in guests recently.

Lowell Turner, an American Airlines pilot, who lives at Santa Rosa, California, flew his wife and their two daughters to Heppner to visit with his mother, Lois and family and with Edie's family. Millie Pankey is her mother.

They came in a group-owned plane that Lowell commandeered for the trip. While they were visiting here, he took his mother and Ernie and Erna up. Lois said this was her first look at Heppner and vicinity from above and she found flying in a small plane very different from her experiences in the big jetliners.

Lowell flew the four of them to Pendleton where they had dinner at the airport before returning to Heppner.

Now Lowell and Edie and daughters Tina and Kisha have returned, by air, to their home in Santa Rosa.

Senior Citizen News

By Justine Weatherford

If you have questions about Social Security come to the Heppner Neighborhood Center Friday between 10 a.m. and noon for help from the Pendleton office expert.

Don't forget to stop by to pick up your senior pass to the county fair before the end of next week.

Because County Nurse Pat Wright will be on her annual vacation, there will be no Blood Pressure Clinic at Heppner August 21.

Coming events which you should note on your calendars: August 21 the Area Agency on Ageing and Project Council will meet at the Metcham home of Director Rouin Reynolds. A second mountain picnic is being planned for Cutsforth Park on Wednesday, Sept. 12. The senior bus is expected to transport folks to both of these events, so if you want a bus ride be sure you get your name on the list at the Heppner Center.

Menus for the dinners next week are: on Tuesday, August 14, at Heppner, Mexicali casserole, pear energy salad, corn bread, relish plate and jello rhabarb cake with topping. On Wednesday, August 15, at Ione and Heppner, meat loaf with gravy, mashed potatoes, tossed salad with tomato slices, bran muffins, buttered corn and pear-apple-sauce whip.
