

Lions receive $500 check for flood-control efforts

The Heppner Lions' Club has been busy the last three Saturdays cleaning out debris from the many creeks that run through the town in an effort to stop the flooding that occurs in Heppner. The club was awarded for its efforts Monday when Gene Pierce, secretary-treasurer of the water control district, presented Lions' president John Edmondson and vice-president Bill Helphinstine with a check for $500.

The money will go into the Lions' Club treasury. The water control district is funded through taxes. According to Edmondson, this is the first year the Lions' have cleaned out the streams but he is sure it won't be the last.

"What happened last year created the need for this to be done and it is the kind of project that needs to be done continuously, year after year," he said. "We probably had about 175 hours of volunteer work done by our members this year. The water control district could not hire someone to do it for $500 so we did it as a community service project."

Cross-bred calf wins award

By John Nordheim
Treve Peterson's cross bred calf has won the overall steer award associated with the Morrow County Fair.

This award, sponsored by the Morrow County Livestock Growers Association, is designed to encourage the production of meat-type animals which meet the demands of today's consumer. It is also designed to provide an educational program for its FFA and 4-H participants.

The overall award for market steers is based on rate of gain, live animal placing, and carcass placing. Peterson's steer was second in rate of gain, Grand Champion 4-H Steer, and had the best carcass of the 32 steers competing. Treve Peterson, Ione, will receive $100 from the Morrow County Livestock Growers Assoc. at the annual Farm-City Banquet in December.

Marie VanSchoiack, Heppner, had the second best overall steer. This FFA steer had the best rate of gain, was fourth in its class and had the ninth best carcass. Cathy Lindsay's Reserve Grand Champion 4-H Steer placed third overall. Cathy Lindsay is from Lexington. Trina Hellberg, Irrigon, will pick up fourth place honors, and Matt McElligott, Ione, will take home the fifth place award.

Evening classes to start

Classes will begin next week for the Blue Mountain Community College Evening Division in Heppner.

Classes that will be taught include: American government, E.M.T., beginning bridge, beginning tole, conversational French, on being a parent, expectant parents, math 45, micro-wave cooking and beginning cake decorating.

Many of these courses are still open for additional students. Interested students may contact Nancy Brownfield at 676-5039.

Workshops set for eastern Oregon towns

Mohalt, home economist for Oregon Museum of Science and Industry, Portland, will conduct three workshops, two in Pendleton, one in Irrigon.

Each class will include a meal, prepared by participants. There is a $10 fee to cover costs involved. Advanced registration is required, and limited to 18 persons per class.

Class in Irrigon will be Friday, October 19, 10 a.m. to 1 p.m. at the Columbia View Fellowship Church basement.

To register to attend, send your name, address, and check for $10 to Molly Saul, Box 1107, Pendleton 97801, or to Birdine Tullis, Box 397, Heppner 97836.
