Sewer facility study
under way

The Irrigon City Council session was chaired by Pro Tem Mayor Bill Cooley on Oct. 9, since Mayor Vernon Stewart was out of town. Benny Reeves was also absent and the vacancy created by the resignation of Councilman Warren Prouty a month ago has not been filled.

The main topic of business was presented by Tom Clark of Vitro Engineering who is doing the sewer facility study and related consultation work.

He presented data covering lands suggested for location of sewage treatment facilities. One of the sites is federally owned and was recently declared surplus by the government. It lies at Washington Avenue and 4th Street West. Action was taken by the council to make application to acquire that portion of the property lying east of 4th Street West.

The two sites were discussed at length and date was set for a public hearing on proposals related to the facility plan. This hearing will be held Wednesday, Nov. 14, at 7:30 p.m. at the A.C. Houghton School Auditorium.

Signing of an engineering agreement between the city and Vitro Engineering for incidental engineering work was tabled.

Clark also presented the matter of population projection for the city, which he said could have a bearing on grants available to the city.

Some of the environmental agencies question the reality of the city's projected population of 1,970 by the year 2000. At the time the projection was made the population was 470, which would call for an increase of approximately 400 percent.

The Morrow County population projection at the time was 5,100 for 1980 and 6,600 for the year 2000, for a county increase projection of 1,500. If correct this would put the county's increase in the Irrigon area.

These projection figures are a part of the city's comprehensive plan which was prepared by East Central Oregon Association of Counties and approved by the State Land Conservation and Development Commission.

Until the agencies involved can come to agreement on projection figures, progress will be delayed, Clark said, as it will make a tremendous difference not only for engineering services but cost of construction whether a 30 percent increase is anticipated or 400 percent.

The matter of a court clerk was discussed. Municipal Judge Dianne Brownlee said 20 to 30 hours monthly would be involved. She said the work cannot be adequately performed by her while sitting in judgement. The city recorder, Barbara Draxton, was appointed to perform the duties of court clerk, with the provision that she report to the council when the work conflicts with city business so re-configuration can be made.

reunion slated

The Gwen Wattenburger family reunion date has been set for Sunday Oct. 21 at the civic recreation center in Hermiston. It will start about 9 a.m. with coffee and doughnuts for relatives and friends who want to come early to visit. There will be a potluck lunch later in the day. All relatives and friends are welcome. Each family should bring its own table service. Coffee and punch will be furnished.

Family settled in Buttercreek area

Jacob and Mary Wattenburger were early settlers in the Buttercreek area, where they had a homestead and timber claim. They raised seven children and three others died in infancy. It will be their descendants and friends gathering together on Sunday. The seven children are Eliza Wattenburger, married to Pinketon Ely, Will, Wiley, Jake, Ella Wattenburger Ayers, Lon, Ollie Wattenburger Neill.

Arrowhead found

The 4-H Gem and Geology Club had a field trip Saturday, going to the banks of the Columbia River in Umatilla. Some agates and flint were brought home and one arrowhead.

Clam digging good for Irrigon folk

Marge Shade and her granddaughter, Kim Shade of Burbank, went clam digging at Ocean Shores, on Grays Harbor, Wash. with Noel and Lorraine Little of Stanfield. There was a low minus tide and the clam digging was good.

Helena Mulkev is in a Pendleton Hospital with her arm broken near the shoulder. Benny Reeves' mother is in St. Mary's Hospital with a broken leg.
