

Artifactory offers many creations

by Justine Weatherford
Many old and new sellers have reserved space for the Dec. 1 Artifactory at the Morrow County Fairgrounds. A great variety of artistic creations and Christmas foods will be available there for shoppers who are searching for special, original gifts.

The more than fifty persons and organizations that are planning to sell include: Sharlene Arends, Diana Beckett, Marilyn and Ruth Bergstrom, Jan Bietel, Sandy Campbell, Ken Curtis, Lois Connor, Liz Curtis, Campfire Girls, Cindy Dudley, Gail Elliot, Francine and Jan Evans, Ron Farris, Heppner Neighborhood Center, Karen Holland, Ione Jr. High Cheerleaders, Jackie Jacobs, Alberta Johannes, George Keown, Adelle La Trace, Lexington Rebekah Lodge, Sharon Lindsay, Shirley McNary, Morrow County Cow Belles, Morrow County Gem and Mineral Society, Norine Mulkey, Mary Nikander, Bonnie Palmateer, Marv Peterson, Melba Quackenbush, Pat Rencken, St. Patrick's Altar Society, Soroptimist International, Sans Souci Rebekah Lodge, Linda Tullis and Kathy Halverson, Carla Waterland and Judy Wright.

Among the interesting and unusual items they are offering are oil paintings, macramé, needlework, pencil drawings, and charcoal portraits, china painting, applehead dolls, rock jewelry, cornhusk dolls, pin cushions, Christmas breads, fruit cakes, Christmas tree decorations, wheat weaving, pottery coffee cups, wood carving, decorative clocks, jelly, fancy pillows, toile painting, cutting boards, silk screen articles, wood puzzles and toys, cookbooks, Christmas ornaments and decorations.

There will be several sales to contribute to special causes. Cindy Dudley and others will sell Christmas foods and other items, with proceeds to go to the Jeremy Maben medical fund. They ask that donated items for this table be brought to them.

The Heppner Neighborhood Center Thursday Craft Group has worked all year creating clever items for the sale. The funds they realize are put back into the purchase of craft materials for the center and for the Pioneer Memorial Hospital.

The Artifactory originators and sponsors, Heppner Branch of American Association of University Women, will be selling coffee, tea and homemade pie during the sale. Members also will have a book nook where they will offer an assortment of used books. AAUW donates a scholarship with their proceeds.

For the first time the Heppner Garden Club is offering its Annual Greens Workshop during daytime hours along with the Artifactory instead of in the evening as has been their custom for the last seven years.

This workshop will be in the Fair Annex room, which joins the large Fair Pavilion where the Artifactory is being held. Besides their usual materials and instruction for making Christmas greens decorations, the gardeners are offering some decorative arrangements suitable for gifts or for home use which they have created from dry materials which they have gathered locally recently.

Carl and Sylvia McDaniel were surrounded by relatives and friends at the First Methodist Church Saturday for their 50th wedding anniversary party. From left, are daughter Georgena McDaniel of Salem, Sylvia and Carl McDaniel, Heppner, and Elsa Leathers and Opal Cook, both of Hermiston, Carl's sisters.

In another pose with the golden anniversary cake, are Georgena, Sylvia and Carl McDaniel, and Mrs. McDaniel's sister, Helen Jones of Glen Burnie, Md., and brother, Jim Smith of Pendleton.

Family, friends fete golden wed couple

On Saturday afternoon, Nov. 17, their families and friends happily joined Sylvia and Carl McDaniel in a celebration of their 50 years of marriage.

The anniversary party was held in the social rooms of the Heppner United Methodist Church.

Special family guests included the McDaniels' daughter, Georgena, from Salem; Carl's sisters, Elsa Leathers and Opal Cook, from Hermiston; Sylvia's brother, James Smith, and his wife Sally from Pendleton, and Sylvia's sister, Helen Jones, and her husband Marvin from Glen Burnie, Maryland.

Carl's nephews, Harlan and Perry Adams; his sister Opal's sons, and their wives Janice and Jackie, assisted with greeting and serving the nearly 100 guests.

The lovely gold and white anniversary cake was made and decorated by Heppner's Mary Van Blockland. The room and tables were decorated by long-time Methodist friends of the couple. A small display of family pictures created much interest.

Ida Farra attended the guest book near the entrance. Vern Batty, Alma Green, Beth Bryant, Ida Farra and Inez Erwin helped with the decorating, table arrangements and with the serving of guests.

Adventists set 71st appeal

Nov. 26 is the date set for the beginning in Heppner of the Adventists' 71st World Services Appeal.

The program in Heppner includes Christmas carols. The singers may be seen riding through the streets singing the old Christmas favorites, hoping, perhaps for just a few (not too many!) snow flakes to add to the Christmas atmosphere. And once again solicitors will be ringing doorbells, inviting the community to share in a giant operation to bring hope and help to literally millions.

Last year there were nine and a half million known recipients of aid.

They're engaged

Mickey Sharp of Heppner and Debbie Petit of Lexington announce their engagement and plans to be married Dec. 31 at the First Christian Church in Heppner.

A reception will follow the 2 p.m. wedding.

Both of the young people work at the Kinzua Mill.

Area churches set Thanksgiving rites

Churches in the area will be celebrating Thanksgiving in various ways. Some will hold Thanksgiving Eve services while others will give thanks on their regular Sabbath.

Schedules are as follows: Ione United Church of Christ—The Rev. Cathy Barker

Thanksgiving Eve service, Nov. 21 at 7:30 p.m. Service of meditation and song. The theme will be "That There May Be Bread," taken from the title of a song written by Brother Gregory Norbet of the Order of St. Benedict. Rev. Barker will also sing the song. The offering will go to the "Hunger Action Fund" of the United Church of Christ.

Heppner Methodist Church—The Rev. Mike Sheridan

Regular Sunday service Nov. 25 at 10 a.m. The choir will sing. The sermon will be titled "God Answers", based on Psalm 116.

Homemakers to study Greece

"The Foods and Customs of Greece" will be the topic of a special program sponsored by the Umatilla and Morrow counties Extension service Nov. 29 from 9:30 a.m. to noon at the Peace Lutheran Church in Pendleton.

The food, culture and customs of the Greeks will be discussed, and Greek food sampled. Mrs. Jim Swanson, Ione, will present the training lesson. Swanson spent six months in Greece in 1973 as an International 4-H Exchange Student from Douglas County. She lived with families in both cities and rural areas, so had an opportunity to learn how the average Greek family lives.

According to Extension Home Economist Molly Saul, this lesson is part of Extension's participation in the Associated Country Women of the World organizations. Each year Extension study groups study the culture of another country, which not only broadens their horizons, but gives them an understanding and appreciation of other nations.

Study groups throughout the two-county area will send volunteer leaders who will present the lesson to their members at December meetings. Leaders attending have been assigned typical Greek food dishes to bring, including soups, bread, meat dishes, salads and dessert.

Two Ione freshmen score 4.0 on school honor roll

Freshmen Denny Starr and Roger Morter head the list of 42 students at Ione High School and Junior High that are on the honor roll at the end of the first nine weeks of school.

Starr and Morter are the only students who have a perfect 4.0 grade point.

Five seniors have 3.5 marks or better. They are Terry Starr, Larry Snider, Linda Pool, Martha McElligott and Chris Cheney.

Juniors Richard Ladd and Lisa Meyers and sophomores Michelle LaRue, Diann Morter, Anita Palmer and Chris Rietmann also are on that list.

Other honor roll students are Roger Childers and Craig Gutierrez, freshmen; Craig Hams, eighth grade; and Lori Fetch is the only seventh grader to have a 3.5 or better.

Students on the 3.0 to the 3.4 honor roll list are seniors Carol Cheney, Cathy Gutierrez, Tanna Hams, Tim Holtz, Glen Krebs, Kim Pettyjohn and Jerry Rietmann.

Juniors are Duane Fetsch, Janet Hams, Shirley Harris and Shawn LaRue.

Sophomores are Margaret Doherty and Elizabeth Mill-sap.

Freshmen are Matt Barnes, Sharon Crowell, Ann Forwood, Troy Lindstrom, Tim Patton and Patti Taylor.

Eighth graders on the B honor roll are Richards Fuerstenberg, Bobby Harris, Howard Leavitt and Darrin Padberg.

Karen Taylor and Mark Meyers are the only seventh graders on the honor roll.

County jobless rate rises 4.1%

Morrow County's unemployment rate rose to 4.1 percent in September, compared to 3.9 percent in August.

According to the Oregon Employment Division, agricultural employment remained high while construction and trade employment declined. Division statistics show the employment rate will probably continue to increase with the winter layoffs expected in agricultural jobs, jobs in manufacturing of wood and lumber products, construction workers and governmental seasonal workers.

Compared to the rest of Oregon and the United States, Morrow County is very strong in employment.

The state of Oregon had an unemployment rate of 6.1 percent in September and the United States had a rate of 5.6 percent.

Morrow County had more people working in September than August, 6,890 compared to 6,680, but it also had more unemployed, 280 to 260.

Donna Palmer to marry Joe Rietmann

Mr. and Mrs. Lee Palmer of Ione announce the upcoming marriage of their daughter, Donna Palmer, to Joe Rietmann, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Rietmann.

The wedding is planned for Dec. 15 at 2 p.m. at the Ione United Church of Christ.

A reception will follow and everyone is invited, according to their parents.
