Blue Mt. board OK's new lift

The Blue Mountain Community College board has authorized a sum of not more than $5,441 to install a lift for handicapped access to the Business Department in the college's Morrow Hall.

In a variety of other matters at the Nov. 21 meeting College President Ron Daniels was authorized by the board to prepare bid specifications for an additional lane of traffic coming up the college hill, east of the existing two lanes. The new lane would come up as far as the Morrow Hall parking area. Daniels will also gather bids on the construction of a sidewalk on the south side of Carden from Highway 37 to the college entry way. The construction projects will depend on state highway construction plans and the weather.

Keith Krueck Consulting Firm was hired to develop a complete energy audit of the college campus. The audit will be used by the firm to help BMCC apply for an energy conservation project grant.

According to a report presented by Ellsworth Mayer, dean of academic planning and research, the architectural firm of AJS-Lynch is currently studying remodeling plans with appropriate college committees. Construction for handicapped accessibility would begin in April and the general construction on remodeling in June. Completion date for all projects would be targeted at Sept. 28.

Finally the board voted to request a permanent easement from the State Highway Department for a road from the track area to Highway 30.

In another matter, Blaine Hanks, radio broadcasting instructor, reported to the board that he had located a used transmitter in good condition at a cost of $1,500. In recent months, the college's radio station has been required to either increase wattage or relinquish their frequency. The board authorized the purchase of the transmitter.

Bergstrom was a veteran of World War I in the U.S. Army. He was also a member of the Vernon United Presbyterian Church, a life member of the B.P.O.E. No. 358 in Heppner and a member of the American Legion.

Survivors include his wife, Olga M., and three sons—Don, Wayne and Bill, all of Portland. Also a brother, William E. Bergstrom of Ione, 10 granddaughters, four grandsons, one great-granddaughter and one great-grandson and numerous nieces and nephews.

Funeral services were held Nov. 26 at the Killingsworth Little Chapel of the Chimes, with entombment at the Rose City Cemetery Mausoleum.

In lieu of flowers, friends may contribute to the Valby Lutheran Church in Ione or the Vernon Presbyterian Church in Portland.

Ione band begins rehearsals of marching songs for competition in California

The Ione High School Band began working strenuously Monday on the five marching songs they will be making a tape of Dec. 21 and sending to the acceptance committee in Great America, Calif.

Gene Sartain's group is hoping to be chosen as one of the marching bands that will come to the city's festival extraordinaire April 9.

The five tunes the band will be playing are "The Hustle," "Evil Ways," "Rubberband Man," "You Should Be Dancing" and "Paros Los Rumbos."

The band is having extra rehearsals on weekends for the 26 marchers who are going to be able to go.

Sartain said marching band music is required on the tape since the festival consists of groups of marching bands. A picture of the group must also be sent in and a good appearance is important, he said.

The band director added that the group will begin practicing its marching techniques to sharpen up that area of their program. Because of the cold weather, they will practice in the gym.

"The band will march through the park and play a song until they reach the concert site where they will play a few more songs and then march out playing their final number," Sartain said.

In other band news, Chris Rietmann has been selected to play the baritone sax in the Pendleton Community Wind Ensemble.

The group consists of older adults but Rietmann, only a sophomore, played the music well enough to be asked to be one of the performers.

Sartain was invited to play with the group and he took Rietmann along because he is so "advanced" in his ability and the director of the ensemble invited him to become a members.

Rietmann is also a member of the Cardinal Company school rock band that is in the process of buying a $400 PA system for the high school.

Rietmann plays the bass guitar, Mike Conkila plays the drums, Sartain plays the guitar and Linda Poole plays the organ. They all do some singing.

Sartain said the rock band is polishing its songs, adding some material and gaining some experience by performing for high school functions in an attempt to get ready to play professionally on a regular basis sometime in March.

He said the Heppner Elks Club has already invited the band to play.

With the money the rock band raises at its engagements, they will begin to pay off the PA system. The system consists of two column amplifiers and one head amp. The band is purchasing the system from F&H Music in Pendleton and they are "letting us pay it off on a long time basis whenever we can," Sartain said.

Ione also has never had any type of keyboard instrument before so a used one has been purchased for $140.

The money was taken out of the band parents' fund, which consists of money taken in from a variety of band fund-raising activities that have taken place this year. It is a Fartisa Combo Compact organ and Sartain said a new one would cost about $1,000.

Although Europe is about the same size as Canada, its population is greater than North and South American combined, the National Geographic Society notes.

Bellamy named to commission

State Representative Billy Bellamy (R-Culver) has been appointed to serve on the Education Commission of the States. The commission is made up of public officials from 46 of the states and is designed to study possible solutions to the problems which face schools, including the question of school finance.

"Rep. Bellamy was a natural selection to serve on this important commission," said House Minority Leader-elect Paul Hanneman. "We took a poll of the Republican caucus and Billy was the overwhelming favorite to serve because of his background and concern when it comes to educational issues."

Rep. Bellamy, a former high school teacher, served on the House Committee on Education during the 1979 regular session of the Oregon Legislature and was recently appointed to serve on the House Interim Committee on Education. Bellamy was also a recognized leader in the area of increased funding for vocational education.

"We know that with Rep. Bellamy on this Commission, Oregon will have aggressive representation and a strong voice in the recommendations which will come out," said Hanneman.
