

New book assists you in making quality resumes

This is the month when not telling a lie is really the thing to do.

The same thing is true in a selling resume, says Executive Recruiter Don Rehner, because when you tell a lie in your resume, you open a can of worms that costs you interviews, and even the job the resume helped you get!

In his just-out book, How to Do Your Own Resume with Professional Results, Rehner says, stick to the facts, don't lie or embellish, and keep it short and simple.

Don't use gimmicks such as over or under-sized paper, or vivid paper and ink combinations; stay with black ink on white or pastel paper.

But, it is important that you do a critical self-assessment to define who you are and where you want to go, then start your resume. When you do, tell your story to sell an interview.

Resume defines opportunity bases, where potential employers are and how to reach them, how to change geography more easily and have interviews waiting, even if you move without a job. Turning unexpected dismissal into opportunity is detailed.

Resume formats—recent graduate, chronological, functional, combination—are shown with variations.

Reasons for using each format, why the combination format is usually the best format to use, and why you should use two separate formats, are all shown.

Lay out your resume for maximum readability; be clear, concise and organized. Above all, be neat.

What to do with the completed resume, what not to do with it, and where Teaser Letters work to get more interviews, are discussed in this complete resume manual.

No lie—all you need to do is send $3.00 to RESUMES, Box 455 New Canaan, CT 06840. You get the truth about doing

MAKING FAMILY LIFE MORE FUN

You can provide pleasure for your family even when you're not with them. An increasing number of people have found that a new way of sending books as birthday, graduation, anniversary, get-well, any-time gifts can help keep a family together when it has to be far apart.

Fond family members can cross the miles with the gift of a book sent a new way.

The gift of a book you never touch can be a great way to stay in touch.

The American Booksellers Assn. and the National Association of College Stores are cosponsors of a "Give-a-Book Certificates" program that lets you send one of 12 attractive cards and a gift certificate for a book redeemable at participating bookstores all over the country. It's a lot faster, easier and often less expensive than sending a book you've picked out yourself.

The next time you're in a bookstore, you might like to ask whether it plans to participate in this program—or if it already does.

THE FOREST AND YOU

Man And Nature
This article has been prepared by Georgia-Pacific, the growth company interested in protecting our natural resources.

Some of America's most beautiful woodlands are protected by forest products companies.

There are 182 species of trees in the U.S. Our Douglas fir, coast redwood and Southern pine are among the most desired species in all the world.

There are 500 million acres of commercial timber in the country, about 16 percent owned by forest products companies. These companies combat the ravages of insects, disease and fire, protecting their trees and producing wood, wild-life and recreation for generation after generation. Only man and Nature work-

Good As Gold

Since the beginning of recorded history, men have traditionally given gifts of gold jewelry to the women they loved. Today, a gift of gold is equally appropriate for women to give to the men in their lives.

Some of the most popular choices are 14 or 18-karat gold money clips, pens, key rings, personalized belt buckles and collar clips—gifts that are useful as well as beautiful, and sure to please even the most discerning man.

The brightness of gold, like the love it celebrates, doesn't dim with time. Impervious to tarnish and wear, a gift of real gold may be enjoyed not only for a lifetime, but can be passed down through the generations as a treasured family heirloom.

What's as good as gold? Perhaps the person who gives it.

Most geologists believe the Great Lakes were once river valleys enlarged by glaciers during the Ice Age.

No More, No Less
BARTLESVILLE, Okla.—There's more to saving energy than turning off unneeded lights and insulating your attic, says Applied Automation, a leading instrumentation company. Computer controls are saving millions of dollars annually by delivering just the right amount of gas fuel—no more, no less—needed in production.
