

Mr. and Mrs. Jimmy Gene Cassens

Couple wed in home rites

Diane Louise Holland, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Dale Holland of 335 North Gale St. in Heppner, was married to Jimmy Gene Cassens, son of Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Cassens, Feb. 17 at 11 a.m. in a ceremony at the home of the bride.

Justice of the Peace Charlotte Gray performed the ceremony.

The bride wore a floor-length gown of nylon tulle that was worn by her mother at her wedding. The gown was designed with a V-neckline with lace inserts trimmed with sequins and seed pearls. French lace panels were inset in the full skirt and she wore tulle and lace mitts. The bride's bouquet was a nosegay bouquet of white roses, daisies, mums, carnations and baby's breath.

The matron of honor was Elizabeth Johnson, friend of the bride. Her gown was a V-neck knit, knee length and tied at the waist by a belt.

The Best man was Allen Cassens, brother of the groom from Pendleton. The bride was given away by her father, Dale Holland.

The wedding music song of "We've Only Just Begun" was sung by Jim Ackley.

Karen Holand, the bride's mother, wore a blue and white houndstooth pant suit. Betty Cassens, the groom's mother, wore a dark blue with red-flowered knit dress which was gathered at the waist with a blue belt.

The bride's grandmother decorated the home with flowers in yellow and blue, with white rose buds, yellow daisies and gypsophelia. The stairway was lighted by candles and the bride was escorted down the stairway by her father.

A reception followed the ceremony at the Holland home.

The going-away outfit worn by the bride consisted of a cream-colored knit dress with a blue buttoned belt and lace on the pocket.

The couple will reside in Corvallis.

Jim Cassens graduated from Pendleton High School in 1977 and is currently attending school at Oregon State University.

Diane (Holland) Cassens graduated from Heppner High School in 1978, attended Blue Mountain Community College in Pendleton in 1979 and is currently employed as a store detective at a Payless store in Corvallis.

Loren and Ruth Fenton

"Prophecy Speaks" Seminar continues

Loren and Ruth Fenton from Irrigon, who began a five-week "Prophecy Speaks" Seminar at the Seventh-day Adventist Church in Heppner March 1, report good attendance at the meetings.

Meetings begin at 7:15 each evening except Monday and Thursday, and are scheduled to continue through April 15.

An added feature is the travelogue presented by Ruth Fenton before the service. She grew up in China where her parents were missionaries, and after they were married, she and her husband served six years in Taiwan as missionaries. They have a large number of slides that show beautiful scenery and interesting ways of life in other countries.

Some evenings, instead of the travelogue, they show a film that fits into the theme of the evening's sermon. Two films that are coming up are "Johnny Lingo", to be shown the evening of March 30 when Pastor Fenton will speak about the home; and "Sorry, Baby", coming April 1, when the subject for the evening will be "Suicide by Inches".

The public is welcome to drop in for any of the meetings. Pastor Fenton believes that the conditions of the world and the times in which we live demand honest answers to questions people are asking.

"In the troubled times in which we live," he said, "we need to know more and more about what the Bible says. It's the light for today's darkness."

Two new adult classes

Interested students can still sign up for Blue Mountain Community College adult courses in the Heppner area, according to Nancy Brownfield, coordinator.

The tote painting class is full but there is plenty of room in most of the other classes, Brownfield said. If 10 or more people do not sign up for a class, it may have to be dropped, she added.

Courses available for the spring quarter term are intermediate golf, beginning golf, oriental cooking, guitar, auto mechanics for women, calligraphy, typing, expectant parents, two sections of tennis, microwave cooking, field bird identification and a science weather seminar.

Cost is $11 per college credit given for the class. All of the classes are either for one or two credits. Both cooking classes have special lab fees in addition to the credit charge and the expectant parent class is $18 per couple.

Two new spring classes are the field bird identification, which includes several local field trips and a weekend trip to the Malheur National Game Refuge, and auto mechanics for women, which prepares women drivers to operate and service their own cars safely and economically.

More information about the classes, their location, time, and cost may be obtained by calling Brownfield at 676-5039.

Most of the classes begin next week.
