Fake identification 'criminal's best friend'

False identification is a criminal's best friend, Heppner Department of Motor Vehicle officer Gene Murty told the Chamber of Commerce Monday. Taxpayers pay the tab for welfare, bad checks and other fraud methods to the amount of about $15 million annually, according to a DMV slide and tape presentation Murty showed to the chamber members.

Since 83 percent of all adults have driver's licenses, the license is the document most often falsified. Persons giving driving examinations are trained to identify false I.D. and make it harder for imposters to obtain a license. Examiners are trained to be suspicious of inconsistent answers, double check information, investigate tactfully, make sure fine print is on all legal forms, and to examine notary public seals. They also look to make sure the same photo is not on all legal papers and different typewriters are used on forms like birth certificates. They also look for new documents recently issued because they are often false. Examiners watch applicants sign their names to make sure it is natural for them. They look for eraser marks on forms or a photo glued on top of another photo.

Too often a birth certificate is accepted as I.D. when it should not be because it does not have a picture or current description. The slide show also mentioned that persons with no social security cards should also be suspect. Murty said a fairly new law adopted in an attempt to cut down on the amount of fake I.D. is the DMV requirement that three pieces of identification must be presented before a license will be issued.

Next week will be the monthly business meeting for the Chamber of Commerce. The following weeks will include programs on the county, city and school budgets that will be voted on May 20.

Good reports were heard from all the granges, as to their many activities and grange work. It was announced that Mrs. Delta Johnson had held several of the District C.W.A. chairman's conferences due to the hospitalization of Mrs. Akers. A good attendance was reported for these conferences.

The resolutions committee with Vernon Root, Chas. C. Jones and John Weimer, was appointed. There were three resolutions at this time: No. 1, concerning the appointments of parole boards, changing the action from the jurisdiction of the parole board to what is hoped more qualified judges. This was tabled due to lack of sufficient information. No. 2 a resolution concerning the sale of liquor from grocery stores instead of having a liquor store, recommended that this be left as it is. No. 3 was a "thank you" to the Rufus Grange for its hospitality.

Following the dinner hour which was served from tables decorated with spring flowers the group reconvened with the Lecturer's hour which was a beautiful memorial by seven ladies dressed in formals who extinguished lighted tapers as the names of the departed brothers and sisters were read.

Letters were read from Hatfield and Packwood on the using of 2, 4-D and 2, 4, 5-T, and on the research that is being done concerning these two needed chemicals. Assistant Agriculture chairman and President of the Oregon Wheat League Don Thompson spoke to the group on a trip that he and three other members recently made to Washington.

D.C. The farmers need an increasing market for their produce, and they need to tell the story to the public and educate them on the necessity of all farm products to the public and instill in the non-farmers' minds that for this nation and others to survive they must have the farmers' products. There is a new organization called "Oregonians for food and shelter" that is trying to help save the chemicals that the farmers need in order to survive. We must all bear in mind that the farmer feeds the world and he must have the means to control the insect problem and the weed problem for him to survive, and the nation survive.

Rolland Johnson was elected as the delegate to the State Grange insurance meeting at the state session in Woodburn.

The guests were introduced, and each said a few chosen words. Mr. DuPuis was concerned with the miles and the price of gasoline to get to the various in both Morrow and Umatilla counties. He issued an invitation to attend Pomona Grange at Stanfield on May 3 with the 5th degree being given in the evening. He recently attended the Power committee meeting in LaGrande and the expressed interest in thermal power and the possibilities of its use near and around Hot Lake. Margeret and Nathan Thorpe spoke a few words at which time she gave us a message concerning a long time member Andy Skiles who is now 88 years old and residing in Missouri. They each told of the world of their granges and how glad they are to be grangers, and able to take part in the visitations.

The assistant Legislative committee chairman told us that we should be sure and have knowledgeable information on 2,4-D when we explain its usage, also this is election and we should acquaint ourselves with the knowledge of those measures to be brought before the public. Read all petitions and know what they are about before signing them, and there are a goodly amount around to be signed at this time. The meeting adjourned about 4 p.m. and the next meeting will be at the Rhea Creek Grange Hall on June 28, the last Saturday. The grange hall was beautifully decorated with large baskets of spring flowers. The roll call followed the following present Willows-2, Lexington-4, Rufus-18, Mikkalo-6, Greenfield-1 and four visitors from Umatilla County. Voted in for membership were Mr. and Mrs. Lyle Peck of Lexington and Lester Fa-
