Ione's Larry Snider receives awards

Principal Chuck Starr began the awards presentation at the Ione High School graduation last Saturday with some very unusual awards.

He called the awards "I got in trouble at school returned items." They were items collected from senior students during their school years that Starr had no use for. So he decided to return them.

Martha McElligott was given back her cane that she used to herd students with.

Jerry Rietmann was presented with a rocketship that he was caught with just as he was ready to launch it.

Glenn Krebs was presented a silver lid from a can with coffee grounds in it.

On a more serious note, Starr went on to present the other awards and scholarships for Ione students.

Larry Snider was honored as an Oregon state scholar for being in the top five percent in the state scholastically.

Ione Cardinal Club presented Cathy Gutierrez with a $256 scholarship.

Lori Edwards was presented with one year's full tuition scholarship from Blue Mountain Community College. The high school faculty voted on the award.

Heppner Elks Lodge No. 358 presented scholarships to Larry Snider and Terry Starr.

Carl Troedson Foundation grants in the amount of $700 each per year were awarded to Tim Holtz, Martha McElligott and Larry Snider. If the students receive satisfactory grades in college, the grants will be continued.

It was also mentioned that Mike Conklin won a $200 scholarship last year from the Oddfellows Lodge.

The salutatorian award going to the person with the second best grade point average at Ione High School for the last four years went to Terry Starr. Larry Snider won the valedictorian award for having the best g.p.a.

Terry Starr received a plaque and gavel for being the Ione student body president this year.

Senior Citizens

Because not many seniors indicated positive interest in attending a camping session at Cutsforth Park, it seems that this exciting plan is about to be abandoned.

Senior meals for the coming week will include, on Monday, June 2, at Irrigon—Fried chicken, Mashed Potatoes and chicken gravy, fresh asparagus, cucumbers and celery relish dish, pear and cheese salad on lettuce, bread, butter and jelly and St. Patrick's dessert.

On Tuesday, June 3, in Heppner, diners will be offered: Swiss steak with mushroom gravy, baked sliced potatoes, deluxe green beans, tossed vegetable salad, cornbread and jelly and rice and raisin custard.

On Wednesday, June 4, at Ione and Heppner the menu will include: Spaghetti with meatballs, buttered peas and carrots, cheese sticks, Honolulu slaw, plain and garlic French bread with parmesan cheese and lemon pudding with topping.
