

Heppner golfer in Oregon amateur tourney

Heppner collegiate golfer Charles Rawlins will be playing in the 71st Oregon Amateur Golf Tournament this week at the Oswego Lake Country Club.

During this last school year, Rawlins has played with the golf team of Western Kentucky University at Bowling Green where he moved after being a participant on the Central Oregon Community College team at Bend, in Kentucky, he took part in many inter-collegiate matches with other southeastern universities. During his 1980 spring break he went to Florida to try out some of the popular courses there.

Very recently, back in his native state, he placed second in the tournament at the Pendleton Country Club. He squeezed in a few practice rounds at his home course, Willow Creek, before leaving his parent's home and heading west to the Willamette Valley last weekend to prepare to compete in the Oregon Amateur.

Monday and Tuesday at Lake Oswego was taken up with qualifying rounds. The top 32 men and top 16 women were then advanced to the respective championship flights for match play that will go on from Wednesday through Saturday.

This summer Rawlins will again be employed by the Bend Country Club. When fall comes, he will return to Bowling Green where he will continue to participate for Western Kentucky on a renewed athletic scholarship.

The eyes of Heppner sports fans will be watching the progress of the son of Bill and Jane Rawlins this week at Lake Oswego.

Willow ladies host McNary, Pendleton

The ladies of Willow Creek Country Club hosted women from McNary Golf and Country Club and Pendleton Country Club at a visitation, June 17.

Chairman for the luncheon was Martha Peterson. She was assisted by Sharon Harrison, Lucile Peck and Betty Rietmann. Lois Hunt was in charge of play, and was assisted by Fran Crook, Juanita Carmichael, Eileen Padberg and Eddi Skow.

Leila Leitch of McNary won low gross honors for the field of nine-hole players and Jenny Irby had the low gross score for the 18 hole group.

Winning special awards were: K.P. No. 3 (2nd shot)-Gerry Cissna (PCC) and Annetta Klinger (WCCC); K.P. no. 8 (3rd shot)-Marie Hulett (McNary) and Linda Shaw (WCCC); and long drive-Jean Weber (PCC) and Bev Gunderson (WCCC).

Pendleton winners in the nine-hole group were: 1st low gross-Gerry Cissna, 2nd-Frances Fonda; 1st low net-Jean Weber, 2nd-Jeanne Smith. McNary winners were: 1st low gross-Bernice Manny, 2nd-Dorothy Max, and low net-Inez Tingey. Local nine hole winners were: 1st low gross-Annetta Klinger, 2nd-Kitty Coon; 1st low net (tie)-Eileen Padberg and Charlene Ison.

Winners for Willow Creek playing 18 holes were: 1st low gross-Lois Hunt, 2nd (tie)-Pat Edmundson and Bev Gunderson; 1st low net-Dorothy Hawkins, 2nd-Pat Lankford.

Eight women also participated in regular ladies' day play later that afternoon. Winners were: Pat Edmundson, low gross; Fran Crook, low net; and Dorris Graves, least putts.

China wall zigzags

China's Great Wall, built about 2,300 years ago, zigzags across mountains and valleys for 1,500 miles—roughly the distance between Washington, D.C., and Denver, Colo.
