Ash on combine and ash particles into the engine. The element may be cleaned with low pressure air blowing from the inside of the filter. Always follow the manufacturer's recommendations for cleaning the filter element. Always check filter elements using a light on the inside to make sure there are no holes or tears in the paper. Inspect the contact surfaces of the element and the air cleaner body. Replace damaged or worn gaskets. Remove any dust or ash accumulation from the inside of the air cleaner body using a damp cloth. Reinstall the element and make sure that gaskets are properly seated and that all of the air cleaner system connections are dust-tight. Furnace duct tape may be helpful in achieving dust-tight conditions.

Never operate the engine without an air filter element.

Engine lubrication system: Depending upon field conditions, it may become necessary to reduce engine oil and filter change intervals to one half to one third those recommended by the manufacturer for normal operation. Some of the small ash and dust particles which passed through the air cleaning system become contaminated with ron diameter and must be changed. Engine oil filters are normally not effective in removing particles smaller than about 25 microns.

Radiators and oil coolers: Ash accumulations on radiators and oil coolers will reduce heat transfer rates and lead to engine overheating and excessive heat build up in the hydraulic system unless removed.

August Garden Hints

Garden hints for the month of August from your OSU Extension agent:

First week: second spray of peach and prune trees for root borers.

First week: second spray of filbert trees for filbert worm.

Plant poppies and peonies.

Western Oregon: fertilize roses.

High elevations, Central and Eastern Oregon: fertilize lawn for last time this year.

Spray walnut trees for walnut husk fly and repeat in 3 weeks.

Spray for root weevils in ornamental shrubs and flowers.

Spray filbert trees for bacterial blight.

Spray for codling moth and spider mite in apple trees.

Spray walnuts if maggots in husks have been noted in previous years.

Spray for scale insects in camellias, holly, maples.

Fall webworm webbing appears in ornamentals and shade trees. Spray with diazinon, Dipel or Orthene.

Control fleas in lawns with spray containing ronnel.

Begin preparations for planting new lawn.

Fertilize cucumbers, summer squash, broccoli while harvesting to maintain production.

Clean and fertilize strawberry beds.

Control caterpillars on leafy vegetables, as needed, with Dipel, rotenone, or Sevin.

For mite control on ornamentals and most vegetables, use Kelthane as directed on the label.

Monitor garden irrigation closely so crops do not dry out.

Use mulch to protect ornamentals and garden plants from hot weather damage.

East of Cascades: check for tomato horn worm.

Western Oregon: mid-summer planting of peas; use enation-virus-resistant varieties.

Oregon coast: plant spinach.

Western valleys, Portland, Roseburg, Medford: plant Chinese cabbage.

Columbia and Snake River Valleys, Ontario: plant Chinese cabbage, endive.
