Julie Miller's into wrap sessions. Helping PGE customers save more than $400,000 a year.

This summer, Julie Miller and her co-workers will help PGE customers save more than $400,000 a year in energy costs by installing electric water heater wraps in a number of communities throughout the PGE service area.

During the summer, Julie and the rest of the PGE water heater wrap team are going door-to-door giving the water heater wraps with the installation free to our customers. With permission, they are also turning down water heater thermostats to a more efficient operating temperature.

PGE customers who take advantage of the program will enjoy an annual average savings in water heating costs of up to $21 a year. It saves the customers money and helps postpone the need for building new, higher-cost generating plants now, when we need it most.

Electricity costs are going up everywhere, it's not just here. Both private and public utilities throughout the country are facing soaring prices. Higher equipment costs, fuel costs and interest rates have everyone on a tight budget.

And the rapid growth of new residential and business customers in our service area is another strain on our existing supply.

But, at PGE, we are fortunate to have people like Julie Miller working hard to keep costs down wherever they can. People who care.

People with cost-saving ideas for you.
