

4-H Achievement night slated Oct. 27 for south county

by Birdine Tullis

Families and 4-H members are invited to the annual 4-H Night, Monday, October 27, 6:30 p.m. at the annex, fairgrounds, Heppner. The event will be a potluck dinner, with main dish furnished; families should bring salads or desserts. An informal evening is planned, but will include recognition of members for their completion of the past 4-H year. New families, or those with boys and girls wishing to join 4-H are also invited to attend.

4-H Night draws crowd in Irrigon

The lure of news about youth programs available, combined with a potluck dinner and recognition of achievements of 4-H members brought out a large crowd of families to the 4-H night in north Morrow last Monday.

Families came to learn about opportunities for their younger children, and some came to volunteer their leadership to the program. Displays of project work by members from the year just past, as well as leaders on hand to discuss their clubs, attracted the interest of a long list of boys and girls wanting to join 4-H this year.

Each 4-H member received a 4-H pin, and told their project and leader's name as part of the evening program. The ham and main dishes for the dinner were provided by the north Morrow 4-H Council, with others bringing desserts and salads.

Lois Richards, council president, was in charge of arrangements for the evening. All schools in north Morrow were visited by John Nordheim and Birdine Tullis, prior to the 4-H Night. Each school assembly was shown slides of events and activities of the past 4-H year and provided with invitations to the 4-H Night.

Potpourris draw tremendous crowds

The "Potpourri," a preview of things to make for Christmas, or just for the joy of creating beautiful things for the home drew larger crowds than anticipated in both Irrigon and Heppner. Demonstrations of many skills, along with exhibits of articles ranging from special table cloths to playdough articles, patchwork, tote bags, candy making, cookies, etc., all proved of interest. Local demonstrators who shared their skills included Theta Lowe, quilting, patchwork and Christmas cookies; Francine Evans, wheat weaving; Jan Evans, playdough and thumbprint arts; Charlotte Carpenter, Christmas ideas; Nellie Madison, off-loom weaving; Birdine Tullis, bags and totes. They were joined by others from Umatilla county who shared their talents in both counties.

A special highlight of both Potpourris was the Brocker family of Pilot Rock, showing their traditional family project of cookie making. Mother, father, and four small children all participate in the making of a wide variety of cookies for gifts, and for their own holiday events.

Estimation of attendance at the Irrigon event was over 200 persons, all intent on learning things to make as families, and creative ideas for utilizing scraps or other inflation fighting ideas.

Look forward to "pasta"

The next special event to be offered by Extension will be held in Heppner on Nov. 11, with "Pastas" as the topic. Pasta has been termed the "food hit of the '80's" with more and more people exploring the wide variety of pastas available, as well as many making their own noodles or other pasta products.

A variety of food preparation will be demonstrated, including making noodles in a food processor, variety noodles, noodles by hand, won tons, sauces, pastas to stuff, and other ways to use pastas.

"Pasta" will be presented as an evening program, to allow working women and men to learn about the fascinating, money saving topic. Local homemakers will demonstrate the various topics. The Oregon Wheat commission is co-sponsoring the program. Many door prizes will be awarded throughout the evening, as well as recipes and information about pastas.

4-H leader meetings set

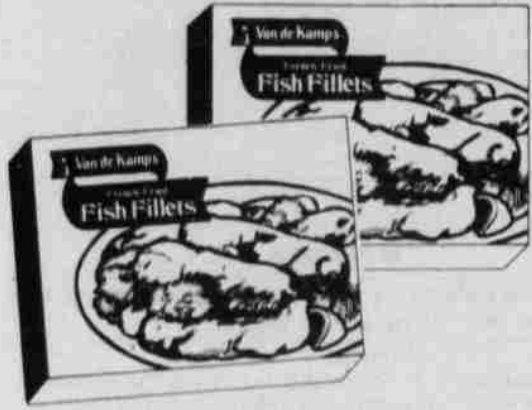

by John Nordheim, Extension Service

Active 4-H'ers need leaders. If you are a new leader or are interested in becoming one, be sure to put Oct. 28 or 30 on your calendar. John Nordheim and Birdine Tullis are holding organizational meetings for you to get the 4-H year off to a good start. They will be at these meetings to answer your questions on organizing a club, how often to hold meetings, how to hold member interest, activities during the year, etc.

Meetings will be Oct. 28, at 7 p.m. in the Extension conference room, Heppner; or Oct. 30 at 7 p.m. at the Justice Office in Irrigon. Plan to attend the meeting closest to you.
