HEPPNER, OREGON

Spicer sworn in as county DA

Former Morrow County Assistant District Attorney Annetta Spicer was sworn in as district attorney by Judge Don McElligott on Monday at the Morrow County Courthouse in Heppner. Spicer replaces Dennis Doherty who resigned the end of October to establish a private law practice in Hermiston.

Juvenile Services Comm. to consider county plans

The Morrow County Juvenile Services Commission met Monday, Oct. 27, in the Lexington School.

The State Juvenile Commission hearing scheduled to be held in Hood River has been changed to Portland on Nov. 6.

Representation of the commission from Morrow County will travel to Portland to present the program planned for area youth. If the program is accepted Morrow County is scheduled to receive $13,300 from the State of Oregon for operation of the program.

A discussion was held on Oct. 27 as to the possibility of hiring students at the rate of $1 per hour to help with the Latch Key program in the North end of Morrow County, and to assist Mr. Jim Ackley with the recreational program in the south end. This would give some students a small income while helping younger children learn new skills.

The major goal of the commission, said a commission spokesperson, is to reach all the youth of the county in an effort to help them master a skill, achieve in school or work and feel good about themselves.

Some of the ideas worked on for next year were the Latch Key program for Irrigon, an alternative school (for Boardman) and the need for a shelter home.

Lay members present at the meeting were Nancy Moore, John Edmundson, Pat Wilson, Elaine Nelson, Mary Bryant, Rikka Tews, Anita Boyer and Bernice Lott. Advisory members present were Bill Sheirbon, Carolyn Holt, Terry Templeman and Bonnie Templeman.

Irrigon girl dead

by Frances Rose Wilson

The community of Irrigon was shocked to learn of the death of Melody Wain Kestler, 18, who apparently died of carbon monoxide poisoning. She was found with a companion, Bartolo Ybarra, who was unconscious and in serious condition. He was taken to Good Shepherd Hospital, Hermiston.

They were found in a car parked in the Umatilla Wildlife Refuge near Irrigon with the car keys in the ignition in the on position.

Wildlife biologists working in the area discovered the pair and notified authorities.

Objections must now be made known to planning commission

Anyone who wishes to appeal a Heppner City Planning Commission decision to the city council must now make objections in front of the commission, the city council ruled Monday night.

Amending a city ordinance, the council voted to include in the wording of the ordinance, "...appeals (may be made) only after an objection is raised in front of the Heppner Planning Commission."

The amendment was apparently prompted after a recent planning commission decision concerning zoning for a church on Cemetery Hill in Heppner. The planning commission ruled against a zone change on the hill which would have allowed churches.

The decision was appealed to the city council, but planning commission members were apparently unaware of objections to their ruling. In other business at the Monday meeting, the council: - accepted a Land Conservation and Development Commission grant to the city for $2,370. The money is to be used "for review of the city's comprehensive plan" in 1980-81;

- agreed to hold a special meeting Friday night, Nov. 7, at 6:30 p.m. to canvas the vote

Baker, Munkers, Ripple win in Lex.

Ed Baker has been elected Lexington's mayor. Baker got 70 votes to William Sheirbon's 57 in Tuesday's election.

In the council race, unofficial returns show Gary Munkers with 89 and John Ripple with 55 to win the two seats. However, Charlene Papineau was a close third with 54 votes.

from the Nov. 4 election and to discuss plans to trade in the city police car on a new model;

- instructed John Weygandt, 530 E. Matlock, Heppner, to restrict certain repair activities in a garage at that address. Weygandt has a permit from the city to operate a beekeeping establishment there.

The fourth candidate, Floyd Borman, took 37 votes.

Chamber won't meet on Tues.

The Heppner Chamber of Commerce will not meet next week, Tuesday, Nov. 11, because of the Veterans Day holiday.

The Chamber will meet the following week at its regular time, 12 noon on Tuesday at the Elks Club.
