

Energy Fair to help provide answers to energy crises

In this time of political unrest abroad and threatened massive energy shortages, energy consumers should be aware of the energy alternatives available to them.

On Thursday, Nov. 13, the Heppner-Ione branch of the American Association of University Women will sponsor an Energy Fair which will answer some critical energy questions and expose the public to ways to harness potentially available energy sources.

Participating in the 7:30 p.m. program will be: David

Burns, East Oregon Solar Group, who will speak on solar energy; Rod Aho, Bonneville Power Administration, whose topic is wind power; and Gene Rietmann, Ione, who will speak on windmills in Morrow County.

Also participating will be Harry Kennison, Kinzua Corp., who will speak on a wood waste generating plant; Corrine Lindsay, Lexington, whose topic is gasohol and other alcohol fuels; John Nordheim, Morrow County Extension Service, who will speak on water power; and Paul Sumner of the Columbia Basin Electric Co-op, who will present ideas on conservation.

Each participant will speak for ten minutes, after which will be a refreshment period. During the refreshment break the public will be invited to write questions for the speakers to answer. Following the refreshment period, the questions will be addressed to the speakers.

The program will be held at the multi purpose room of Heppner Elementary School.

Range tour slated in Morrow County

A range tour covering parts of southern Morrow County is planned for this Saturday, Nov. 15, reports John P. Nordheim, Morrow County Extension agent.

The tour will include range fertilizer plots, terraces, forest thinning and reseeding of grasses, range seeding of former wheat ground, water for upland birds, and discussion on the potential of an unimproved site.

Anyone interested should bring a sack lunch and a pickup, if possible. Participants can meet at 7:30 a.m. at the Extension office in Heppner, or at 7:45 a.m. at Hardman, to pool rides.

Special guest speakers will include Tom Bedell, Extension

Rangeland Resources specialist from Oregon State University; Bill Myers, SCS Range conservationist; Bob Krein, State Fish and Wildlife; and Stuart Otto, State Department of Forestry.

Speakers will be available to answer questions. The first stop is at Phil and Louis Carlson's place above Rock Creek. The tour should be finished around 1:30 p.m.
