A special "thanks" to whomever is responsible for the fine lighted tree at the city hall grounds and for the other lights and decorations in the town of Lexington. The people passing through really enjoy seeing the colorful lights, and at the time of this enjoyment we must remember that someone took the time to decorate and get the tree. These people are really greatly appreciated by the community.

Lexington Grange met for the regular meeting on Monday evening with Master Barbara Cutsforth in the chair. The evening started with a potluck dinner which was served from tables decorated in the holiday motif.

The main business of the evening was the installation of officers by the Morrow County Deputy Berl Akers, assisted by Dot Halvorsen and Marilyn Childers. Besides the installation of the Lexington officers Master Lewis Halvorsen and secretary of Willows Grange, Dot Halvorsen, were installed.

The rooms were decorated with a lovely Christmas tree and a clever driftwood arrangement with twinkling lights was on the piano. The decorating was done by Charlene Papineau.

A musical program was greatly enjoyed, including a trombone solo by Michael Peck, and special vocal music which was furnished by Norita and Phillip Marquardt and pianist Doug Marquardt.

The January meeting will be under the direction of the men of the grange starting with the annual pancake supper cooked and served by them. Cards were sent to the shut-in members away from our community. Gifts were presented to the installing team and to the past Master, Barbara Cutsforth.

Leita Messenger has returned home after a few days stay in Pioneer Memorial hospital.

Rick's Nature Magazine. Ground Feeders include blue jays, sparrows, juncos, quail, mourning doves, pheasants, chickadees, and house finches.

Their favorite foods are sunflower seeds, cracked corn (inexpensive, but will also attract starlings, grackles and pigeons), wild bird seed mix, and peanuts.

Feeders can be split fire-place logs (flatside up), hub-caps (for food or water), garbage can lids, trays, shallow pans, or birdbath tops (for water).

Tabletop or Window Feeders include cardinals, gold-finches, grosbeaks, chickadees, house finches, redpolls, purple finches, mockingbirds, and jays.

Their favorite foods are sunflower seeds, shelled peanuts, wild bird seed mix, raisins, and currants.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Buchanan motored to Portland Thursday where they met their daughter, Katie, who will spend a few days with her parents from her home in California.

Mrs. Frank Robinson and Mrs. Kenneth Howard were visitors in the Tri Cities where they took Stormy Howard to a physician.

Mrs. Freda Majeske has been spending a few days at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Pat Wright, and family. Mrs. Majeske recently had minor surgery at St. Anthony's Hospital in Pendleton.

Mrs. Chas. Jones entertained the Three Links Club members at her home on Thursday. A noon luncheon was served, after which the group held a meeting which was presided over by Chairman Dorothy Burcham. Those present were: Virginia Peck, Josie Peck, Ruth Robinson, Donna Papineau, Dorothy Burcham, Irene Padberg, Joyce Buchanan, Catie Padberg, Eula Bloodworth, Leila Palmer and the hostess. The door prize was won by Joyce Buchanan. The January meeting will be at the Frank Robinson home.

Norita Marquardt, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Bill Marquardt, spent a couple of days last week at the home of her parents. Phillip Marquardt is also visiting his parents from school.

Gary Hunt visited the weekend with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Dean Hunt. He has a teaching position in Irrigon.

Betty Christmas was taken to Pioneer Memorial Hospital one day last week, but has returned to her home.

The bridge club met at the home of Eileen Padberg on Thursday. Playing for the afternoon were Sharon Harrison, Eddi Skow, Lota Tibbles, Juanita Carmichael, Daisy Collins, Eileen Padberg, Pat Lankford, and Lois Hunt. Mrs. Hunt won second high. Mrs. Collins, high, and Mrs. Carmichael, low. Home-made candy and coffee were served during the day.
