DMV celebrates first year in Heppner

Motor Vehicle Division celebrated its first-year anniversary in Heppner on Jan. 14. Gene Murty, manager, has proudly announce.

Murty recalls opening the state office with a desk, telephone and a pile of cardboard boxes. Being one of the more remote offices in Oregon, Murty says it was solely his responsibility to build the office to what it is today.

Heppner's DMV office, which is located on Main Street, was preceded by a mobile van in 1979. The van traveled to Heppner and other smaller communities, visiting a day at a time. Because of bad weather conditions, however the van was often unable to make the journey. And, according to Murty, the mobile van was very expensive to run.

Gene Murty

Gene Murty is now a permanent state employee in Heppner. He recently was given an opportunity for advancement which would move him out of the area. He said he has decided to stay. In fact, this reporter personally witnessed Murty give his state promotion papers a back-hand toss into the trash.

The Motor Vehicles Division is open in Heppner from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. daily except on legal holidays and the third Wednesday of every month. On that day Murty pays alternate visits to Fossil and Condon.

Sam Boardman's sketches available in booklet

"Oregon State Park System," a collection of historical sketches by the late Samuel H. Boardman, has been reprinted by the State Parks and Recreation Division and is now available for $3 per booklet.

The 64-page publication is reprinted with permission of the Oregon Historical Society, which originally published Boardman's essays in the September, 1954, "Oregon Historical Quarterly," and two years later published the writings in the booklet form.

Often referred to as the "father of Oregon State parks," Boardman served as superintendent from August, 1929, to July 1, 1950. After his retirement he spent time in the State Parks office preparing a written record of early park land acquisitions.

The end result has been described as a booklet "rich in historic lore" and "spiced with Boardman's poignant sentiment, dry humor and spiritual philosophy." In a forward to the original publication, Thornton T. Munger, then chairman of the Recreational and Natural Resources Committee of the Portland Chamber of Commerce, also described Boardman's writing style as "eloquent."

In addition to describing "The Birth of A Park System," which originally appeared as a 1947 guest editorial in the Oregon Daily Journal, Boardman's essays trace acquisition of lands now known as Oswald West, Umpqua Lighthouse, Floras Lake, Saddle Mountain, Guy W. Talbot, George Joseph, Cape Lookout, Ecola, Silver Falls, Cape Arago, Shore Acres, Sunset Bay, The Cove Palisades and Bonneville State Parks.

Copies of the booklet can be obtained for $3 each from the State Parks and Recreation Division, 525 Trade Street, S.E., Salem, Oregon, 97310.
