

Close to Home...
Mary Ann Cerullo

Love comes in many sized packages. You can't control it; you may even hate it, but you can't live without it. Along with love comes death, often hand in hand. Most people don't really know how to deal with death either, especially when it confronts them in their close-knit lives. Some turn their heads and shy away. Others try to soothe away the grief and assure the ones left behind that the pain will pass.

Having been the one grieving I realize that very often, not knowing what to do, caused the comforter to say the wrong thing. All that's really needed is a hand for holding and perhaps a shoulder for some tears.

When the shock of the loss has faded a bit, it won't be your words they'll remember. It will be your presence.....and your prayers.

Last Tuesday (May 12) Larry and I lost a dear friend. And today I would like to wish him well wherever he may be.

Mother daughter tea held at Heppner High

A mother-daughter tea was held for Heppner High School girls and their mothers last Wednesday, May 13, in the high school cafeteria.

Refreshments were served and entertainment consisted of a style show of clothing made and modeled by home economics students, and prom dresses shown by the girls. The hit of the afternoon was a group of boys modeling ladies fashions since the 1600's.

What's your opinion?

Question: "Do you feel retirement age for full Social Security benefits should be older than age 65?"

"Yes I do," said Orville W. Cutsforth, Heppner. "I don't think they should be able to retire at 62 or 65, it should be 68 or 70."
