

Watts join All Saints Episcopal

Camp Fire day camp July 6, 7, 8

It's not nice to fool with mother hawk

Zoe and Ed Watts

Deacon Edwin Watts conducted his first service last Sunday as All Saints Episcopal parish priest.

Ed Watts and his wife, Zoe, who moved to Heppner last week, had been living temporarily at The Dalles, and prior to that in Fairport, New York, where he had been employed as youth minister at St. Lukes Episcopal Church during seminary school. He graduated from seminary in June.

From 1972 to 1978 Watts was employed with the Dufur School District as a teacher and administrator. He also served with the U.S. Army from 1961 to 1971.

Watts has a bachelor of science degree in history from Westminster College in Utah, a degree in secondary education at the University of Utah, and a master of divinity degree from Bexley Hall at New York.

Ed and Zoe have five grown children.

Conducting the service with Watts was the Reverend David Blackaller. The Rev. Blackaller and his wife Mary were visiting from Canada.

Boys and girls of Heppner, Ione and Lexington can still register for the Camp Fire day camp scheduled July 6, 7 and 8 in Heppner, says spokesperson Irene Plocharsky.

Boys who have completed the first grade and girls who have completed the first, second, third or fourth grades are eligible. Boys and girls who are not in Camp Fire are also invited to attend.

Registration, $10 for non-members and $9 for members, may be completed by calling Mrs. Plocharsky, 676-5594, by contacting a den leader or by registering at the camp.

The camp will be held at the Morrow County Fairgrounds from 10 a.m. to 2:30 p.m. on July 6 and 7, and on July 8 the campers will have an outing at Cutsforth Park.

Fire season approaches

Effective June 29 at 12 a.m. Pacific Daylight time in the east central Oregon district fire regulations on the use of fire becomes effective, according to the Dept. of Forestry. Regulations require burning permits for open burning and incinerators.

Loggers must have their fire equipment on active operations. As fire season progresses more caution must be exercised in the use of fire.

For further information all Oregon State Forestry Department: Fossil, 763-2575; Hardman, 676-5351.

It's not nice to fool with mother Swainson Hawk.

If you don't believe it just ask Bob Krein of Heppner. Krein and Fish and Wildlife Biologist Glen Ward were attempting to move a Swainson Hawk's nest out of the back yard of Betty Bunch last week. The birds had been making a nuisance of themselves since they built a nest in the tree in Betty's backyard, swooping and diving towards anyone venturing out of doors.

"I had to put a broom over my head everytime I went out of doors," Betty told the Gazette-Times. "The mother was very protective of her young."

She said it finally got so bad she had to call the game department requesting something be done.

That's when Krein came to the house to move the nest. He found, however, that he had his hands full with the job. According to Ward, the mother bird circled overhead, swooping repeatedly at Krein and, at one point, even taking his hat off his head and carrying it away.

Then before the limb was sawed off a second hawk, the male "came around the side of the house and nailed him right in the forehead," said Ward. He said the sharp talons on the bird cut Krein's forehead and left a bruise.

They were upset the nest was touched, said Ward of the birds, which are common to this area and have a wingspan of about two feet.

He added that the nest, which was about 18 inches in diameter and which had three small young, was moved twice, a short distance each time, to keep the hawks from abandoning it.

"At least I can go out in my own back yard now," says Betty after the hawks were removed. "It got pretty bad there for awhile. That mother hawk was real protective of her young. She was a pretty good mother, really."

BMCC instructor to visit Arts and Crafts

Bruce Guiwatts, an art instructor in ceramics from BMCC, will be coming to Heppner Monday, July 6 from 9:30 to 11:30 to work with children in clay and will be in Ione July 7, 9:30 to 11:30 when the usual program is held.

Guiwatts will be bringing a film about working with clay for the children to view during the first part of the period and then demonstrate various methods to the children. The children will also have an opportunity to make something. The following week Guiwatts will return and fire all the projects.

"This should be a lot of fun for all who attend," said a program spokesperson, "so don't miss this chance kids. Parents are welcome to sit in on this project also. So we hope to have a good turnout."

Another guest will also be visiting in Ione at Arts and Crafts July 9 from 9:30 to 11:30. The Rev. Cathy Barker will be dropping by for the morning project next week to show the children in Ione how to recycle newspaper into paper.

"Remember all these programs are free," added the spokesperson, "so the only thing it costs you is some time and imagination." The program is sponsored by the Juvenile Services Commission.

MUSEUM

Saturday - 10 a.m. to 12 noon, 1 to 5 p.m.
Sunday - 1 to 5 p.m.

Lexington news

• Delpha Jones • 989-8189

Holly Rebekah Lodge met on Monday evening for a special session to initiate two new members of San Souci Rebekah Lodge No. 33 of Heppner.

The ladies doing the work all wore pastel colored formals. The NG was filled by Delpha Jones, VG Linda Jones, PNG Joyce Buchanan, and Chaplain by Gladys Van Winkle.

Initiated were Lulu Rowan and Polly Fortenberry of Heppner.

Lovely refreshments were served following the initiation.

Holly Rebekah Lodge held a money making project on Saturday evening for the Scott Groshens Fund. A fine group attended and cards were enjoyed following the supper. The lodge appreciated all those who took the time to attend this worthwhile project. Wining at cards were:

men: Cecil Jones - High, Glover Peck - low and traveling, and women: High was Maureen Howard, low - Sarah Adkins, and traveling Josi Peck.

Mr. and Mrs. Bob Harrison and family returned recently from Anchorage, Alaska where they were guests for the Gary Hunt wedding. The Harrisons drove and returned by ferry. Others going to the June 16 wedding were David Campbell, Jeannine Hunt, Mrs. Pete Skow and Mr. and Mrs. Dean Hunt. The wedding took place at the First United Methodist Church in Anchorage.

Mrs. Gary Hunt spent several days this week at the Dean Hunt home from Corvallis where she and Mrs. Hunt are attending school for the summer session.

Elwood Hunt is a patient in a hospital in Walla Walla where he is receiving medical attention. His brother Ed Hunt visited him there on Saturday. Elwood makes his home in Enterprise.

Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Palmer were visitors at Orcas Island at the home of Claude Wilcox and attended the Eskelson reunion.

Mr. and Mrs. Dennis Dick of Newport were visitors at the home of Erda Pieper over the weekend to attend the reunion of the class of 1961 of Heppner High.

Mr. and Mrs. Sam Bellamy are the proud parents of twin sons born last week in Walla Walla. The young men have been named Clint William and Cody Lee. Maternal grandmother is Majo Hughes of Lexington.

Patrick Kane and mother Leora motored to Echo one day last week to the Roberts home for a short visit. Sarah Roberts returned home with them for a weekend visit.

Stormy Howard was a patient in Pioneer Memorial Hospital one day last week where she had extensive dental work done. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Howard.

Gladys VanWinkle and Betty Christman were business visitors in Salem this past weekend. They visited a the home of Mr. and Mrs. Tom Bradd and small daughter.

Tom Bradd was an overnight visitor at the Gladys VanWinkle home one night last week enroute home to Salem after a business trip to LaGrande.

YANKEE DOODLE DANDY DISCOUNTS FOR THE 4th

Reg. 3.49

Our Price 2.78

Reg. 3.18

Our Price 3.03

Reg. 2.53

Our Price 2.41

Reg. 2.64

Our Price 2.51

Reg. 3.30

Our Price 2.97

Reg. 4.68

Our Price 4.44

FOR A CAREFREE 4th OF JULY, MAKE SURE THAT YOU HAVE ALL THE PROTECTION, FUN AND EQUIPMENT YOU WILL NEED!

Sun Glasses Inflatible Beach
Suntan Lotion Toys & Mattresses
Bug Spray

Murray's Drug
Heppner Condon Arlington

CELEBRATE THE 4th with these Food Values

FREE DRAWING
WHEN YOU BUY AN ARMOUR STAR BONELESS TURKEY AT OUR SPECIAL LOW PRICE ENTER TO WIN A FARBERWARE ROASTER

ON DISPLAY IN THE STORE

BONELESS TURKEY
1.79 LB
ARMOUR STAR

BUNS
SWEETHEART HOT DOG OR HAMBURGER
65¢ doz pack

KRAFT MIRACLE WHIP
32 oz
1.49

SALAD DRESSING
1.69

PORK & BEANS
WESTERN FAMILY
15 1/2 oz
2/79¢

COKE TAB 7-UP PEPSI HIRES DR. PEPPER
12 12oz cans
1.69 plus deposit

POP WESTERN FAMILY
12oz cans 6 pack Assorted Flavors
1.09 plus dep.

POTATOES
10lb US No. 1
1.89 ea

BUD
12 12oz cans cold pak
4.29 plus dep.

RADISHES & ONIONS
5 bunches
1

KINGS FORD CHARCOAL BRIQUETS
10lbs
2.19

FRYERS
Fresh Cut-up
89¢ lb

GRAPES
THOMPSON SEEDLESS
lb.
95¢

No outside burning allowed within Heppner & R.F.D. This INCLUDES BURNING BARRELS effective July 1, 1981 Forrie Burkenbine fire chief

HILLS DOGGIES
12 oz pkg
89¢

Central Market
GROCERY MEAT
676-9614 676-9288

prices effective July 2,3