Recreation Report cont. from p. 4

built to provide electrical power for the nearby towns and gold mines.

The Powerhouse was constructed in 1908, and after 59 years of continuous service, generated its last electrical power in October, 1967. Due to its age, small size, and remoteness, it was no longer practical to operate the Fremont Powerhouse.

The source of water for the Fremont Power Plant was Olive Lake, a natural Lake at an elevation of 5,394 feet. It is located approximately eight miles west of the Powerhouse and can be reached by traveling Forest Road no. 10.

The water from Olive Lake reached the Powerhouse through wood and steel pipelines. The pipeline is approximately eight miles long and drops 1,068 feet in elevation. Since its original construction, it was replaced twice, the most recent pipe measures 32 inches in diameter. The pipeline provided water under pressure of 425-485 pounds per square inch at the Powerhouse. The pipeline can still be seen at various places along the road between the Powerhouse and Olive Lake.

In 1968, California Public Utilities Company donated the entire complex to the Forest Service. It is now open to the public as a place of historical interest.

HEPPNER RANGER DISTRICT

Penland Lake and Bull Prairie Lakes are both free of ice. Fishing at both lakes is fair, however, it is improving at Penland Lake.

All roads on the district are open, however, the road into Penland Lake is in poor condition.

Copple Butte Trail No. 3052 is open, and Bull Praire Lake Trail No. 3056 is open and maintained.

Both Bull Prairie and Fairview Campgrounds are open.

Mushrooms can still be found at the higher elevations of the district.

Heppner Ranger District firewood cutting permits are available at both the district office and at the supervisor's office in Pendleton.

POMEROY RANGER DISTRICT

The fire danger is increasing as the days continue to be in the higher temperatures. Woodcutters should remember to check the daily fire precaution class before cutting wood.

All trails, roads, and campgrounds on the district are open. A high amount of use was expected for the 4th of July holiday.

There has been an increase of use in the Wenaha-Tucannon wilderness with visitors taking advantage of the fishing, hiking, and camping opportunities available.

Moral mushrooms can still be found in the higher elevations. A few cauliflower mushrooms are beginning to come out.

UKIAH RANGER DISTRICT

Trails: All trails are open and in good condition except for a few wet spots. Motorcyclists should use extra caution.

Roads: All roads are open with a few wet spots.

Campgrounds: All campgrounds are open on a self-service basis.

Cauliflower mushrooms are still in season.

WALLA WALLA RANGER DISTRICT

To many Umatilla Forest visitors, woodcutting is as much a part of the recreational enjoyment of the forest as hiking or fishing. To provide easy opportunity for this activity, a simplified system for obtaining a free-use woodcutting permit has been implemented.

Woodcutting permits are issued free to anyone interested in cutting a little fireplace wood for their own home use. They may be obtained from any Umatilla Forest office. Up to ten cords of wood may be cut. Along with woodcutting permits is a special map showing where wood may be cut.

The Walla Walla Ranger District has reported that Jubilee Lake and Woodward Campgrounds are now in full swing. Starting June 26, fee and garbage collections are in effect. The nightly charge for both campgrounds is $2.

Campers who carry the Golden Age or Golden Access Passport will be entitled to a 50 percent discount on these camping fees. To qualify for the Golden Age Passport, an individual must be 62 years of age or older. The Golden Access Passport may be issued to those who are permanently disabled or blind and can provide written confirmation of their eligibility. Both the Golden Age and Golden Access Passports may be obtained free.

Roads on the Walla Walla District are generally driveable but may be soft in higher elevation areas. Some roads are now experiencing logging traffic and motorists are advised to drive with care and be prepared for encounters with other vehicles.

All visitors are asked to please follow the pack-it-out program and take their garbage home for proper disposal. If even a few visitors would pick up a little that someone else carelessly left behind, the forest environment would benefit tremendously.
