

Morgans yard chosen Ione Yard of Month

Mr. and Mrs. Milton Morgan

Mr. and Mrs. Milton Morgan, Ione, were presented with the Ione Yard of the Month award. The Morgans live on 1st st. in Ione.

The Morgans yard was chosen for the award because of the nice appearance of the house, yard and lawn. Everything looked neat, clean and orderly, said a club spokesperson. Many elderly persons may not have flowers because of their need of constant upkeep, so flowerless yards are not ineligible for the award, said a club spokesperson. It takes enough time and work to keep up a yard with a lawn, trees and shrubs, especially in the summer, she added.

'The Hiding Place' to be shown in Irrigon Sept. 20

By FRANCES ROSE WILSON

The true story of Corrie ten Boom, a former Nazi prisoner, will be presented through the motion picture, "The Hiding Place" on Sunday, Sept. 20 at 7 p.m. at the Assembly of God Church on 8th St. in Irrigon.

This remarkable story of tragedy and victory shares the experience of a family who was willing to risk all for others. The ten Booms became involved in the Dutch Underground during the German occupation of World War II by hiding Jews in a secret room built in their house, thereby aiding them in their escape from the Nazis. As a result of the raid by soldiers, Corrie's family was taken prisoner and Corrie was sent to the dreaded concentration camp, "Ravensbruck".

Millions of readers have been able to relate to Corrie ten Boom and her family through the book "The Hiding Place." Now a motion picture captures the power, excitement and dramatic force that sets this story apart from others.

Valby Lutheran to sponsor Rally Day

Valby Lutheran Church is sponsoring a Rally Day, Sunday, Sept. 20 at 10:20 a.m., announced Rev. John Maas.

Valby is located four miles off the Condon Highway, and off the Gooseberry Road out of Ione.

The occasion will be marked by a Christian feature film geared for pre-schoolers through intermediate ages, singing Christian songs that children enjoy and refreshments.

Sunday school material that is being used in classes will be on hand for viewing. Material is available for classes of three year olds through high school students.

Valby Lutheran was formed in 1886 by Swedish pioneer farmers and is one of the oldest Lutheran congregations in the Northwest. The name Valby, is Swedish for "shepherd's rest," said Rev. Maas. It is considered a "prairie church" because it is located 17 miles from the nearest town, he added.

Worship services are held at 9 a.m. and are followed by coffee fellowship.

The congregations welcomes members of the community to join them for Rally Day and every Sunday for worship.

Christian Theater Company scheduled at Hope Lutheran

John Maas, pastor of the Lutheran congregations in the area has announced The Covenant Players, a Christian Theater Company with troupes of players all over the world, will be performing at Hope Lutheran Church in Heppner on Wednesday, Sept. 23 at 7 p.m. The program is scheduled early so young children can come. There will be a freewill offering to cover their expenses, said Rev. John Maas.

The players will concentrate on the themes of forgiveness and family. They will use this material from a repertoire of over 900 plays.

The Covenant Players was created to let people hear and respond to the vibrant challenges of Christianity. They strive to communicate in a

AAUW carpool to meet

*Carpools will be meeting in front of the Heppner Library - Museum at 6 p.m. on Thursday, Sept. 24 for AAUW's annual International Dinner.

The American Association of University Women's first meeting of the season will be held at the Betty Rietmann home in Ione.

The International Dinner has traditionally been held as part of a membership drive. During the course of the evening, the group will also be outlining their annual agenda. AAUW members will supply the food.

Those who wish to attend should call Bonnie Templeman at 676-5187, or Carol Helphinstine at 676-9439 (after 1 p.m.), or Karen Beck at 422-7526 (evenings).

Adult High School to begin Sept. 21

The Adult High School Program, sponsored by Blue Mountain Community College will begin its fall term Monday, September 21 at the Heppner Neighborhood Center.

The program is available to adults interested in achieving a high school diploma or a GED equivalency.

Two classes are available for instruction. One class will meet Monday afternoons from 1-4 p.m., the other will meet on Wednesday evenings from 7-10 p.m.

Additionally, the opportunity to improve math, spelling or reading skills will also be available to any adult. A high school diploma is not required for these classes.

A non refundable book fee of $5 will be charged this year for materials. However, there is no charge for instruction, said Joy Krein, Adult Education instructor. Anyone interested is invited to attend the classes. For more information, contact Joy Krein, 676-9956.

HEALTH DEPT

Fri., Sept. 18 - Immunizations, Blood Pressure Clinic, Health Dept. Office, 8 a.m. to 12 noon, 1 to 4 p.m.

Tues., Sept. 22 - Immunizations, Blood Pressure Clinic, County Offices, Irrigon, 1 to 4 p.m.

Christian Life Center slates auction, chili feed

The Heppner Christian Life Center will hold an auction Saturday, Sept. 19 at the Morrow County Fairgrounds to support the on-going building program at the Christian Life Center. Doors will open at 8:30 a.m. with the auction beginning at 10 a.m.

Antiques, appliances, jewelry, farm equipment, household goods and other miscellaneous items are to be auctioned off.

A concession stand will be open and a one dollar donation allows persons to enter a beef drawing. And a chili feed will begin at noon. Merchandise for the auction is being donated by local merchants and members of the Christian Life Center. Stewart Severe will head the auctioneering. Anyone wanting to donate items for the auction can call 676-9230 for pick up, and these items will be tax deductible, said Rev. Doug Thomas.

Ella Mae (left) and Fae Green work on a quilt, completely hand crafted by the women of the Heppner Christian Life Center. The quilt will be one of the many items auctioned off Sat., Sept. 19.

United Methodists begin fall sessions

About one hundred members and new friends of the Heppner United Methodist Church gathered for a Sunday school kick-off pancake breakfast, Sunday morning, Sept. 13, at the church.

Thirty-six children, ranging in age from two to 13, enrolled in Sunday school and welcome pins were presented to newcomers Eric McCoy, Jerid Ployhar, Brian Dames, Kim and Jodi Johnston and Jake and Joe Bacon by Joy Krein, superintendent.

The following fall teachers were introduced: Carol Helphinstine, who will instruct a new class for two-year old children; Lisa Harsin, teaching three through five year-olds; with Cindy Wright assisting with substitution. Sharon Harrison will instruct children in kindergarten through second grade while a new teacher, Harold McLean, will teach third through fifth graders. Sixth through eighth graders will be educated by Peggy Fishburn on Sunday mornings while Debbie Koffler, youth advisor, will help plan youth activities for the year and Marcia Anderson will help plan the Christmas program, it was announced by a church spokesperson.

Jean Brazell, music director, was presented a musical button that stated, "I'm happy when I sing," for her contribution of music to the Sunday School program.

Al Brazell announced that he will instruct a class for adults during the Sunday school, 9:30 to 10:25, and encouraged adults to attend.

United Methodist welcomes members of the community to join in fellowship on Sunday mornings, said a church spokesperson. Sunday school begins at 9:30 and continues until 10:25, with church services from 10:30 to 11:30. A coffee hour follows in the church basement.

FOR YOUR FALL FERTILIZING NEEDS WE'RE HERE TO SERVE YOU!!

READILY AVAILABLE CHEMICALS
AND APPLICATION ASSISTANCE,
CALL ON US AND WE'LL BE THERE.....

Ione Plant 422-7289

JOHN RIPPLE MANAGER

The Chemical Dealer You Own

Morrow County Grain Growers, Inc.
Lexington 989-8221

Wilderness. How much is too much?

By federal definition, Wilderness is "an area where the earth and its community of life are untrammelled by man, where man himself is a visitor who does not remain." Wilderness is to be preserved, its enduring beauty to be enjoyed by future generations.

Wilderness cannot be used for forest production or for developed recreation. Access is only by foot, horseback, or canoe. There are no picnic tables, toilets, roads, firepits, or lean-tos allowed in Wilderness.

A nationwide public opinion survey last year found that nearly one-fourth of the people thought developed campgrounds were plentiful in Wilderness areas. In fact, there are none. 3 million acres more?

Oregon now has over 1.2 million acres of Congressionally-designated Wilderness. The nation has over 80 million Wilderness acres spread across 41 states. Now, Congress is considering adding another 3 million acres of Wilderness in Oregon. How much is too much?

If we lock up too much productive land—and let Congress throw away the key—how can the increasing wood product needs of America be met? In addition, there is a growing need for more campgrounds, the improved areas where most people choose to enjoy the outdoors.

We feel that existing Wilderness areas are a wise use of federal land. We supported the original 1964 Wilderness Act, and continue to support the preservation of truly unique areas. However, further arbitrary additions to the current 1.2 million acres of Wilderness already set aside in Oregon will limit both recreational opportunities and our ability to meet future demand for wood products.

What you can do.

It's especially important for people who work and live in communities with forest products operations to take an interest in the Wilderness issue.

The just-published 1980 Oregon Timber Supply Assessment of the State Forestry Department points out that "between 1975 and 1980 the National Forests in Oregon moved 1.16 million acres from the four timber-producing categories, 9% of the National Forest timberland, into non-timber uses, such as Wilderness." Timber supply is too important to Oregon's forest-based economy to lock up productive land without a good reason.

Please write us for more information: Oregon Forest Industries Council, P.O. Box 12519, Salem, OR 97309, or call 588-0050. For an alternative point of view, write: The Oregon Wilderness Coalition, 271 West 12th Avenue, Eugene, OR 97401, or call 344-0675.

When you decide how you stand on the issue, talk about it with your friends, write a letter to the editor, or call the Oregon offices of your Congressman and Senators. Together we can keep a good thing growing. OREGON FOREST INDUSTRIES COUNCIL.

HUNTER'S SPECIALS
Go after the big ones with these specials!
'74 CHEV., 4x4 Long wide box, 4 sp., V-8 $2,225*
2 FORD 4x4 BRONCOS
73 3/4 ton 4x4 GMC
77 GMC 4x4
Ron McDonald 676-9921
Chevrolet Inc.

HUNTER'S NIGHT
Sept. 24
Spaghetti, Lasagna
Prizes Galore
Pinochle Tournament
Sept. 23
Elkdo Tues. Sept. 22
HEPPNER ELKS 358

GET READY FOR WINTER INSULATE YOUR HOUSE TODAY!
Call collect for a FREE ESTIMATE
HOME INSULATION & ASSOC. INC.
503-276-1897
We also can insulate metal buildings