

Make it Yourself with Wool contest for adults Oct. 24

By BIRDINE TULLIS

Adults, as well as the younger generation, will have an opportunity to show hand made woolen garments at the district Make It Yourself with Wool Contest, Heppner, Catholic Parish Hall, October 24. The adult group will be contestants 25 years of age or over. Judging standards will be the same as for the younger groups, with each participant modeling their handmade garment. The garment may be knit, crocheted, or sewn, but it must be 100 percent wool, or no less than 65 percent if a blend is used.

A full day of activities is planned for both participants and the public. In addition to the judging of the contestants, a public fashion show will be presented at 1:30 p.m. Prior to the fashion show, a luncheon is planned for all contestants, with mothers of the younger groups invited to attend. There will be no charge for the luncheon, but participants are asked to bring a salad if possible. Rolls and drinks will be provided.

A special program, open to all, will be presented at 11 a.m. by Dorothy Hurlie, fashion consultant at Vera's Buttonhole, Hermiston. Ms. Hurlie is a skilled seamstress as well as knowledgeable regarding latest fabric and fashion trends. Her program will include news of both, as well as tips on sewing with popular fashion fabrics. She will be showing hand made garments, as well as other ideas for the home sewer.

Carleen West, Ione, and Dorris Doherty, Pilot Rock, will be in charge of a welcoming coffee hour at 9 a.m. All participants should register for the day at that time.

Entry forms are still available at fabric stores, some schools, and Extension Offices. There are divisions for pre-teens, juniors, and seniors, as well as the special district adult division. Valuable awards are available for all divisions. Winners of the junior and senior division will compete in the state contest in Portland, with the opportunity to participate in the national contest if they are winners.

Ore. traffic accidents kill 64 in Sept.

Sixty-four people were killed in Oregon traffic accidents in September, a 36 percent jump over the 47 traffic deaths during September a year ago.

Although traffic deaths for the year to date still are below last year by about 3 1/2 percent, the state's record has worsened in the last two months. At the end of July, deaths were down nearly 13 percent. The decrease was down to 7 1/2 percent by the end of August, and now stands at the 3 1/2 percent level.

The yearly count now stands at 484 compared with 501 for the comparable period a year ago.

Fifteen September victims died in head-on collisions with other vehicles, while six others died when their vehicles crashed into fixed objects. Accidents involving trucks or truck trailers accounted for eleven September deaths.

Nine motorcyclists, three of whom were wearing helmets, were among the September victims.

Six pedestrians and three bicyclists also were killed in September.

Wheat weaving class to begin

A Blue Mountain Community College sponsored Wheat Weaving class will begin Saturday, Oct. 10 at Heppner High School in the Home Ec room.

Anyone interested in enrolling in the class is asked to call Nancy Brownfield, area coordinator, 676-5088.

Wheat & Meat program to be offered Oct. 27

By BIRDINE TULLIS

Oregon Wheat Commission, Morrow and Umatilla Extension Service, Wheathearts and Cowbells are combining experience to offer a special program dated for October 27, 7 p.m. Fairgrounds, Heppner; and October 28 in Umatilla County, Weston Community Hall, Weston.

A variety of bread products including Lavash, Bagels, English Muffins, Pocket bread, and other international breads will be demonstrated by local volunteers from the wheat industry, and good fillings and toppings for the various breads will be demonstrated by those involved in the beef industry. Identical programs are planned for both locations.

This is a free program presented annually, with lots of door prizes and samples of goodies, as well as recipes and the know-how to prepare them.
