'Catch a Wildlife Thief' program launched in Ore.

A program called "Catch A Wildlife Thief" or CAWT has been launched by Oregon Kiwanis Clubs, the Department of Fish and Wildlife and the Oregon State Police. Essentially the program is an effort to increase public awareness of poaching and the problems it causes, said a news release from the Department of Fish and Wildlife. As part of the program, stickers bearing the hotline number, 1-800-452-7888, have been produced, intended to be attached near a telephone, CB radio, on a tackle box or in any other convenient location so as to be handy when needed, continued the news release. In addition, a wall poster reminding citizens of the program is available for posting in businesses, offices, schools and other visible locations. Kiwanis clubs in many parts of the state are distributing these materials. Stickers are also available through offices of the State Police and the Department of Fish and Wildlife. Posters can be obtained through the department's regional offices or the headquarters office in Portland. In the meantime, sportsmen who have not yet run across a hotline sticker are encouraged to jot down the number on a slip of paper and include it with their hunting and fishing license so it will be handy if needed. Although Oregon has one of the most effective fish and wildlife law enforcement organizations of any state, poaching and other violations can only be effectively discouraged if all sportsmen make the effort to turn in violators, concluded the news release.

until all leases in all 15 counties have been bid and/or closed by the auctioneer.

Oil and gas leases will be awarded to the qualified bidder who offers the greatest cash bonus bid. However, in the event a cash bonus bid is not offered, a lease may be awarded to the applicant for the minimum required rental or, at the Division's option, any such parcel may be withdrawn until further notice. The successful bidder will be required to pay in full the application fee, bonus bid and the first year's rental of one dollar ($1) per acre before 4:00 p.m. of the next following business day. Company checks, but not sight drafts, will be accepted. Each lease issued shall be for a primary term of ten (10) years provided, however, that drilling must be commenced within six miles within seven years.

The Division reserves the right to withhold any tract or tracts and to reject any or all bids.

All leases offered are subject to the following:

1. Rights of surface owners for leases of reserved mineral rights.
2. Compliance with State laws and regulations thereunder.
3. Stipulations required by the State Forester to protect timberland, water quality and existing timber operations.

Campsite reservations now being taken

Summer campsites in 13 Oregon State Parks may be reserved beginning Monday, January 11, according to Steve Johansen, state parks operation planner.

Johansen said that sites may be reserved from Memorial Day weekend in late May through Labor Day weekend in early September.

Reservations may be made in writing or in person at the desired park between January 11 and September 5, although reservations in writing are suggested because of the possibility of offices at some parks not being staffed during off season months.

The 13 campsite reservation parks include:

- Beachside, Beaverly Beach and South Beach, all near Newport; Cape Lookout — Tillamook; Detroit Lake — Detroit; Devil's Lake — Lincoln City; Fort Stevens — Hammond; Harris Beach — Brookings; Honeyman — Florence; Prineville Reservoir — Prineville; Sunset Bay — Coos Bay; The Cove Palisades — Culver; and Wallowa Lake — Joseph.

Johansen said all procedures and fees for making reservations will be the same as last year. Each reservation application requires a $7 advance deposit, which includes a $2 nonrefundable service charge and $5 applied toward the first night's camping fees. Reservations cannot be made for more than 10 days in any 14 consecutive day period, he said. Telephone reservations cannot be accepted.

Campsite reservation application forms are available at many Chamber of Commerce, Division of Motor Vehicle, and Oregon State Police offices. They are also available at the State Parks office in Salem, at 525 Trade Street SE, 97310; and at State Park Regional offices in Portland, Tillamook, Coos Bay, Bend and La-Grande.

Those who are unable to obtain a reservation form may send a letter to the appropriate
