Cheese distributed in Ione and Irrigon

Pat Brindle, Heppner Neighborhood Center coordinator was in Ione last Monday, March 1, giving out government surplus cheese and helping fill out fuel assistance applications. Wednesday, March 3, Brindle and a volunteer traveled to Irrigon to help Mary Gasser, a Blue Mountain Economic Development Council employee with fuel assistance and cheese distribution at the North Morrow Annex. Low Income Energy Assistance Program (fuel assistance) has served 113 families in Morrow County. Government surplus cheese had been given to 135 families in Morrow County by the end of February, Brindle said almost all of the center's cheese had been distributed April 1. All classes begin at 6:30 p.m. at the Seventh-day Adventist Church, 560 N. Minor in Heppner.

Eileen Saunders, master of public health, will be director and Delta Huber coordinator for the classes.

A $7 fee per family will be charged to cover the cost of a cookbook that each family will and those who qualify who haven't received cheese should apply for it at the center soon.

Response to the advertisement for a weatherization crew was good. Weatherization should begin later in March.

Twelve women attended last Thursday's afternoon social. The women made St. Patrick's Day corsages and enjoyed a few games of bingo.

Volunteer Income Tax Assistance (VITA) representative Pegge Ramos has recently been in Heppner filling out income tax forms for those who qualify for the service. She is scheduled to return to Heppner March 19.

Many clothes and household items have been donated to the center in the past few weeks. They are greatly appreciated.
