Historical Soc. travels to Harney County

By DELPHA JONES

Saturday morning, May 1, found 36 people eager and ready for a Morrow Co. Historical Soc. trip to Harney County. The bus departed Heppner at 7 a.m., stopping at Ruggs to take on the Rhea Creek passengers.

The group stopped at the Cant House where they enjoyed cinnamon rolls and coffee and enjoyed many displays there. They then motored on to Burns where they checked into their motels and were welcomed with lovely arrangements of spring bouquets.

After lunch, the group was met by Marcus Haynes of the Harney Co. Historical Soc. The group enjoyed seeing the Hines Mill, the skeleton of a hotel and other points of interest there. They visited the Piute Indian Reservation and heard a bit of the history of that tribe. A visit to the museum was most enjoyable, and dinner was served at the Pine Room for the group. After a short rest, they were entertained at the recreation room of the museum with beautiful slides of the country and wildlife of that county. Following the slide presentation they were served tea, coffee and cookies by members of the Harney Co. Historical Society.

On Sunday, after breakfast, the group met the bus with the tour guide, Mr. Haynes and started toward Frenchglen. Many sites that had been planned for the group to see were unaccessible due to an unmass amount of high water, the worst in many years. A round barn had water standing all around it and up the sides of the building.

A trip to the game refuge there was fun and some pictures were taken. Then the group traveled to the Pee Ranch, one of the headquarters of Pete French and his ranchers. The original house had burned down but there is part of an orchard, some farm machinery and an interesting barn and corral.

The group then motored to a newly built trailer court. There the group had some cold drinks, visited with the young managers, viewed more machinery and then went on the Frenchglen where they walked through the small town. The school house there is a well kept-up building and the group found out later that there are eight students attending school there. They also browsed around the store and Post Office and then on to a luncheon of man-sized sandwiches, salad, desserts, coffee and iced tea. The weather cooperated and the group was able to eat out of doors at the picnic area at Frenchglen.

After a short rest, the tired but happy group started homeward. After leaving Mr. Haynes at Burns they motored on to Mr. Vernon and enjoyed dessert and coffee. The group then took the route home through Fox Valley and Long Creek and then on to Heppner, getting home just before dark.

The Historical Soc. Committee said they appreciate all that went on the trip and each and everyone made it enjoyable for everyone.

Another trip is being planned for sometime in the near future.

Those going on the trip were Ruth McCabe, Freda Slocum, Harold and Edna Peck, Helen Currin, Theta Lowe, Elmer and Muriel Palmer, Grace Buschke, Vera Rietmann, Katie Padberg, Millie Evans, Eula Bloodworth, Ed and Eleanor Gonty, Ruth Nutting, Ruby Colley, Geneva Palmer, Harold and Mary Wright, Mildred Wright, Frank and Gladys Connor, Ken and Leila Palmer, Cecil and Delpha Jones, Norma Rea, Inez Erwin, Norman and Jean Nelson, Lucille Rietmann, Jim and Margaret Hayes, and Ken and Frances Smouse.
