

Mustangs meet Wasco Co. in last games of season

By GLENN SMITH

The Heppner Mustangs baseball team traveled to Wasco Co., Saturday, May 15, to battle out their last game of the season in a double header that ended in one victory to each team. The games left the Mustangs with a season standing of seven and 12 and a league standing of five and 10. Coach Dale Holland commented, "Both teams were evenly matched and this resulted in a really good game with close scoring."

Heppner lost the first game to Wasco Co. with a score of 4-6. The key point in this game seemed to be Wasco's good defense, turning two good hits (a line-drive by Bruce Way and a deep fly by Doug Holland) into double plays.

Heppner rallied in the second game to turn the tide but even so it was a close win with a score of 7-6.

Heppner's win rested on the shoulders of Mark Way, who pitched relief for three innings in the second game, helping to save the game. Way also played very well at third base during both games. Heppner's win was not based solely on pitching, but also by some fantastic hitting by the Mustangs.

Doug Holland was four for four in the second game, helping him to end up with a season average of .590. This was Doug's third consecutive year in which he successfully maintained a batting average of over .500. Other leading hitters for the Mustangs included Greg Connor who had two hits, Tom Hammon and Harry Groshens.

4 HHS girls compete at state track meet

Four members of Heppner High School's girls' track team competed in a district 7A track and field meet last weekend at Lewis and Clark College, Portland. Mary Kincaid tied for sixth place in the high jump with two other girls and Stephanie Payne placed third in the 100 M dash, reported Coach Dale Conklin.

The 400 M. relay team placed third in their heat. Coach Conklin stated, "We ran as well as we did all season long so we weren't disappointed." Since only the top two teams placing were allowed to compete in the finals, the Heppner team consisting of Janelle McElhany, Jodi Padberg, Mary Kincaid and Stephanie Payne, did not qualify.

"The athlete's that competed from our district, as an overall group, did very well. That indicates the level of competition that we had all season long, which was pretty tough," Conklin said.

By JUSTINE WEATHERFORD

Our second chapter about this year's leading pioneer family, the descendants of German-American Henry Padberg, had several omissions. The paragraph telling of the oldest of the Padberg children, Mary Regina, stated that during her marriage to Joseph Lieuallen she mothered two daughters, Vela and Letha. Then the lines "Mary's second marriage was to Mat (Mathias) Halvorsen who was a partner in the Halvorsen-Mason Store in Ione" were omitted.

Also, Edward Lee Padberg's older son, Arley Lee, never married. It was Opal Padberg Cason Burton's son, Robert E. Cason, who was married to Marian Louise Green. Also the name of the fourth Kincaid brother, the youngest son of Ruby Padberg and Harold Oliver Kincaid was omitted because it was not on the incomplete chart we used.

Darrell and Alvina Padberg found time to come and talk with this reporter last Sunday. They were uncertain of the names of some of the younger members of the family, and Darrell's sister Pearl Kruse didn't include all of the fourth, fifth and sixth generation names in her recent letter, so we are unable to give them all to you.

Pearl wrote "Five of Henry and Martha's children left descendants. Quite a number of them have made their homes in Morrow County or nearby."

Descendants of their first child, Mary Padberg Lieuallen Halvorsen Weddle, who still lives here are her younger son Lewis E. Halvorsen and his wife Dot (Carmelita Elvena Crabtree). Their children are Mark of Hermiston, Joe and Frank of Ione and Linda (Mrs. Larry Prock) of Pendleton.

Mary's daughter, Vela Lieuallen, married Walter M. Eubanks, and their first child, John E. Eubanks, married Mildred Mattie Morgan; they now live at Parker's Mill. Their children are Donald and Sandra. The younger Walter Eubanks children were Veda, who married Clarence Brenner; Howard, who married Annabelle Margaret McCabe; the late Ida Eleanor; and Bill J. Eubanks. The Howard Eubanks children are Marlene (Mrs. Howard G. Davison) and Larry, who married Connie Kay Walden. Bill Eubanks' children are Leonard and Judith (Mrs. Chet C. Herzberg).

Henry's first son, Lee, is represented here by his son, Darrell, who with his wife, Alvina (Casebeer), lived in the house at Ione where Darrell was born. Darrell is a partner in operating the 1870 Rhea Creek farm which is occupied by their son, Marvin, his wife Tanna and their children, Dustin and Darcee. Marvin will be the Master of Ceremonies for this year's picnic. Darrell and Alvina's daughter, Leann Padberg Rea and her husband, Jerald, and their children Rick, Darla, Terrell and Robert live east and north of Lexington.

Darrell's sisters were named Opal, Pearl and Hazel. Opal's children are Guyla Cason (Mrs. Ralph Misetich) and Robert Cason. Pearl and Clarence D. Kruse's daughter Karen married Stanley M. Tremayne, Hazel's daughter, Lynn Benge, married George C. McDonald.

Will (Bill) is represented by his daughter-in-law, Irene (Alstott) Padberg, who is the widow of Bill's son Irvin. Their children were Bill and the late Buster Padberg whose son Wade is married to Connie Quigley Will's daughter is Eva Padberg Griffith of Blake Ranch (widow of J.J. Griffith). The Griffiths had seven children, many grandchildren and now great-grandchildren. Rene Griffith Ledbetter (Mrs. John Ledbetter) is their only family member living here now.

John Padberg's family members include his daughter-in-law, Catie (Fridley), Padberg, the widow of his first son Oris, and their descendants. Their daughter Doris married L.D. Walter Vinson, and their W. Corley) and Lora Ann (Mrs. Floyd A. Vaught), and their son Elmer Elden, who married Eileen C. Sperry. Elden and Eileen's son, E. Lee Padberg married Linda Sue Brubaker. Their children are Jodi and Brian. The younger son of Oris and Catie, Charley H. Padberg, married Darlene Baker, and they and their family live in Washington. John's second son, Archie J., married Susie Allstott, and their four children are Archie J. Jr., Vernon E., Juanita, and Lola. Archie's second wife, his widow Mildred, lives in Heppner.

The fourth Henry Padberg son, Lewis, is represented here by his grandson, Lindsay Kincaid, his wife Diana and their daughters, Margaret and Mary. The other Kincaid grandsons are Ralph of Silverton; Roger of Portland; and Lyle, Texas. Their mother was Ruby Padberg Miller Kincaid. Her sister Emerald married Leslie E. Roundy and their children are Kaye, Keith and Julie. The second Henry Padberg daughter, Lydia had no children.

Pearl Kruse's letter notes that the picture which was published last week of Henry and his six children "was taken in Ione near the end of December 1903."

She also pointed out that several of the six members of the second-generation married siblings, and therefore, their children were double cousins.

Through its six generations of living in Morrow County, this extensive family has made many worthwhile contributions to the communities and institutions to which its members have belonged. Since the family is so extensive, it is hoped that descendants of Henry and Martha Padberg will long live in Morrow County.

Murrays chosen Yard of the Month winners

Mr. and Mrs. Bob Murray

By JUSTINE WEATHERFORD

The Bob Murrays of 125 East Quaid, Heppner, have been awarded the outstanding Yard of the Month, but the Chamber of Commerce-Heppner Garden Club sign has not been located since it was taken from the yard of the John Shaws and can not be placed as it should be in the Murray's yard. The sign was made by high school FFA boys under the leadership of Roger Records and was carefully refinished before its placement at the Shaws on March 15.

Marge and Bob Murray have poured lots of love and skill into their home and landscaping. The small yard at the front of the home doesn't show a multitude of plantings; one must walk to the back yard to view their bigger garden.

Actually Marge is the head gardener of the family. She loves flowers and shrubs. She says Bob mows the lawn, trims the trees and enjoys having her work with the flowers. She finds gardening is very relaxing and her green thumb is evident inside their completely renovated home where six house plants flourish.

Marge Murray is allergic to lilacs but she is most happy growing peonies, bleeding hearts, dahlias, primroses and a great variety of bulbs. She says she has not yet had very good luck with roses.
