Cake walk for 4-H

Have you ever heard of a cake walk and how about a cup cake walk? How about a cake and a cupcake walk for beautifully decorated cakes?

That's news, and you'll find it happening Tuesday, August 24, 4:00 p.m. at county fair. Cake decorating appealed to many 4-H members this year. In addition to exhibiting their cakes, they agreed a good way to see that the cakes are enjoyed is to sell them while they are still fresh. There'll be a small charge to participate, but the funds will go to a worthy 4-H cause chosen by the members.

The large cakes exhibited will be used in one cake walk. For little people (pre-school age) the members will be making mini-cakes or cupcakes for a special event tailored just to their size.

Come by the exhibits in the Annex... pick out the cake you admire... and join in the cake walk! Maybe it will be your prize to carry home. You'll have plenty of time for this event just before the Family Night activities start.

Jan Coe, 4-H cake decorating leader, will be the lady in charge of the event. Don't miss it!

Local businessmen to race mules at rodeo

Businessmen from Heppner, Lexington, and Ione will compete in a race all their own at Saturday's and Sunday's performance of the Morrow County Rodeo.

The local merchants will be riding mules to the finish line in this special race which promises entertainment for everyone.

Rodeo will feature local, and N.W. talent

Local cowboys from all over the Northwest will come to town next week for the annual Morrow County and open Rodeo.

The Morrow County rodeo gets underway Friday night, Aug. 27, beginning at 7 p.m., and will feature many of the local talented cowboys many people like to see. Only those cowboys who have lived in the county for at least one year may enter the Friday night show.

The open rodeo runs Saturday and Sunday, August 28 and 29 starting at 1:30 p.m. and will highlight cowboys from all over the Northwest.

Cowboys will compete for many prizes during both the events, with spurs, blankets and other prizes given away.

For the Morrow County cowboys, they will be competing for the much coveted saddles given to the top all-around cowboy and best calf ropers.

The saddles are donated each year by Kinzua Corp. and the Morrow County Grain Growers.

The Morrow County Fair & Rodeo Court will participate in the rodeo and the three days of rodeo will prove to be great entertainment once again for everyone.
