Sheriff's Report

The Morrow County Sheriff's office handled the following calls and cases during the past week:

On October 5, Robert P. Mahoney of Heppner reported the theft of a tachometer from his truck parked at Hardman. The tachometer was valued at about $100.

On October 7, a Boardman ambulance transported a male reported to have severe stomach cramps to Consolidated Good Shepherd Hospital in Hermiston from a rest area west of Boardman.

On October 10, David George McNary, 28, of Lone was involved in a motor vehicle accident involving a cow.

In a third October 10 incident, Zenaido Rocha Naranjo, 23, of Boardman, was arrested for allegedly carrying a Concealed Weapon. Naranjo posted bail and was released.

Obituaries

Wilma Edna Drobny

Wilma Edna Drobny, 49, formerly of Condon and Ione, died September 25 in The Dalles Hospital, following a heart attack.

She and her family were on their way to Montana.

Funeral services were held September 28 in Estacada, followed by burial at Eagle Creek Cemetery.

Pall bearers were Neil, Tom and Perry Crawford, Joseph and Frank Drobny and Don Rivers.

Mrs. Drobny was born June 17, 1933, in Condon, to Arthur and Irene Dalzell. In 1952, she graduated from Ione High School and lived in the Ione area several years before moving to the Eagle Creek area.

She married Elwin Jamie Drobny on December 6, 1969. They traveled a lot in Oregon and Montana because of her husband's work with a power line crew.

Mrs. Drobny enjoyed knitting and crocheting and working with handicapped children.

She is survived by her husband, a son, Arthur, stepsons Chris of Boise, Idaho, Joseph of Eagle Creek and Frank of Ford Lewis, Wash.; her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Dalzell of The Dalles; a sister, Wilda Crawford, Eugene; two step-grandchildren, one niece and three nephews.

Clayville Chapel of Estacada was in charge of arrangements.

Should choose Kulongoski

To the editor:

Morrow County voters should choose Ted Kulongoski for governor next month. One reason is because his incumbent opponent, Victor Atiyeh, favors the death penalty.

What's wrong with execution as a punishment for murder? Over the years it has been shown that people who can afford top quality lawyers never get a death sentence.

There's also the possibility of a wrong conviction. If the mistake is discovered after the innocent person is given a prison sentence, he can be released. But there's no redress after an execution.

And finally, some are not content to have capital punishment for murder alone. They want it for every other crime too, including overtime parking. In the days when Henry VIII was king of England, there were over 150 offenses punishable by death. They included stealing even one scilling, letting water out of ponds, moving stones which marked land boundaries and of course, witchcraft.

To the editor:

This is a fan letter to the people of Heppner.

I was privileged to spend almost 10 months with you while the dam was being built. It is an experience I wouldn't have missed for anything.

In my 20 years of following a rock crusher over four states I have seen a lot of towns. But never one quite like Heppner.

A fan letter

It made me feel so good, my first day there, to walk down the street, a total stranger, and get a big smile and a hello from everyone I met. All the time I was there you treated me like I was one of your own and I loved it.

The two ladies who asked if I was John Maas' mother were forgiven the minute I met him.

I have a warm, soft spot in my heart for you Heppner folks. I'll never forget you.

Sincerely,
Iris (Mrs. Homer) Maas

Weddings

Jones — Yocom

Mr. and Mrs. Leland Jones

Marie Yocom, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joe Yocom of Lexington, became the bride of Leland Jones, grandson of Marie Bannister of Weston, on August 21 at the First Christian Church in Pendleton. The Rev. Tyler Soine officiated.

The bride, given in marriage by her parents, carried a fan of pastel silk daisies, miniature rose buds and lace.

Maid of honor was Millie Yocom, sister of the bride, of Boardman. Bridesmaids were Jeanne Martin of Baker and Maureen Healy of Heppner. Jane Jones, niece of the bride, was flower girl. Miniature bride and groom were Brenda Jones, niece of the bride, and Ryan Munkers.

The bride's attendants wore pastel gowns and also carried fans of silk pastel daisies and lace. All flowers were made by the bride's grandmother, Elva Yocom.

Best man for the groom was Kim Sams of Weston. Brandt Bannister, cousin of the groom, of Athena, and Tod Snider of Weston, were ushers.

Wedding music was sung by Mr. and Mrs. David Piper of Lexington and Mrs. Betty Marquardt, also of Lexington, played the organ.

Following the ceremony, a reception was held at the Pendleton V.F.W. Hall. Serving were aunts of the bride and groom. JoLynn Daly attended the gift table and Janice Healy, the guest book.

After a wedding trip to the Oregon Coast, the couple are at home in Pendleton.

The bride is a graduate of Heppner High School and attended Blue Mountain Community College. The groom graduated from Athena-Weston High School and also attended Blue Mountain Community College. They are both employed at Fleetwood Travel Trailers in Pendleton.

Gill — Daly

Mary Kathryn Daly, daughter of Charles and Yvonne Daly of Heppner, and Jon B. Gill, son of Bob and Georgia Gill of Gooding, Idaho, were united in marriage on September 11 at St. Mary's Catholic Church in Pendleton. Fr. Timothy Collins and Msgr. George Murphy officiated.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore an ivory gown of English net with a V-neck bodice which was trimmed in Schiffl. The cummerbund and long sleeves were trimmed in ivory satin and the two-tiered skirt was laced by a satin ruffle border. She carried a bouquet of ivory and bronze silk roses and carnations, accented with baby's breath.

The church was decorated with vases of blue and white roses and carnations.

Maid of honor was JoLynn Daly, sister of the bride. Janice and Maureen Healy of Heppner were bridesmaids. Candle lighter was Jennifer Grant, niece of the bride.

The bride's attendants wore copen blue floor length skirts with sheer chiffon blouses in a blue print with white lace trim while the candle lighter wore a street length dress.

Best man was Ron Gill, brother of the groom, of Gooding, Idaho. Ushers were Don Gill, brother of the groom, of King Hill, Idaho and Tim Daly, brother of the bride, of Heppner.

Piano music and vocal selections were by Jim Ackley.

The mother of the bride wore a street-length melon pink dress, while the groom's mother wore a two-piece street-length dress of dusty pink polka dot with white piping.

Following the ceremony, a reception was held at The Parlor in Pendleton.

Table decorations of blue roses, white carnations and baby's breath, along with the bride's bouquet, attendants flowers and boutonnières, were all made by Susan Evans of Heppner.

The three-tiered wedding cake, which was decorated in the bride's colors and accented with wedding bells, was made by Linda Shawcross of Pendleton.

Mrs. Jim Leuallen and Mrs. Rawley Stanley, both of Adams, served cake and Mrs. Fred Jarrard of Milwaukie poured. Mary Kay Leuallen attended the guest book.
