From this final group, one boy and one girl emerge as national champions in each of the three age categories. The winners receive trophies, and their names are inscribed on a special plaque in the Naismith Memorial Basketball Hall of Fame in Springfield, Mass.

The Elks Hoop Shoot is the country's largest free throw shooting contest for youngsters. It is also the largest and most visible of the many youth activities sponsored by the Elks and has served to highlight the Elks' national commitment to youth.

The program began as a local Elks activity for young boys in Corvallis in 1946. Within 12 years, support for the event had grown enough for the Elks Oregon State Association to take it to the state level. And in 1972, the "Elks Hoop Shoot" was expanded to include contestants from 19 states. By 1974, girls were added to the competition, and the program has continued to grow ever since.

The competition to become a champion is rugged but rewarding. At each level, contestants take a total of 25 free throws. National finalists have averaged around 90 percent accuracy in recent years.

Families of finalists on the state, regional and national levels attend the competition as guests of the Elks, and are encouraged to play an active part throughout the contest.

One girl from LaGrande has gone to the national finals two times, winning all the marbles one year and she came in second the next year. It is possible for anyone to win, Swanson said.

"Please come to Ione or Heppner January 22 from 9 to 11 a.m. and watch our young people compete," Swanson said. For more information, contact Swanson or Holland.

Cards & Honkers tie for 1st in Big Sky play

By CRAIG GUTIERREZ

The Cardinals of Ione upped their league record last Friday to 2-1 as they defeated their longtime rivals, the Arlington Honkers. The Cardinals defeated the Honkers 51-36 and are presently tied for first place in the Big Sky Conference with the Honkers of Arlington because the Echo Cougars dropped their second in a row to Helix.

When the birds hit the floor for the first quarter play period they were as good as beat for they lacked their usual enthusiasm during pre-game warm-ups. The Honkers didn't help much as they came out fired up and outscored the Cards 12-6. The Cardinals didn't execute, they didn't play defense, but were soon to regain the characteristics of a winning team for the rest of the game belonged to Ione.

In the second period, the Cardinals lifted their spirits and made a comeback behind Tim Patton's eight second quarter points. Patton also led the Cardinals in total game points and rebounds with 27 points and 16 rebounds for the night. The Cardinals upped their points to 24; the Honkers only added six to make the score at half time, 24-18, Ione.

Ione didn't let up as they came out of the locker room and took the floor looking at a narrow six point lead. Don Taylor added six of his game total eight points to bring the Cardinals lead to nine. Tim Patton also dumped in four for the birds as Ione was in command, 36-27.

In the fourth quarter, the Cards again brought their lead upward as they ended the game with a comfortable lead of 15 behind Patton's seven last quarter points. Roger Morter went to the line nine times in the game and shot an excellent 77 percent in the last quarter.

The Cardinals, as a team shot 65 percent from the line and 38 percent from the field. The Cardinals will play the Echo Cougars and the Wheeler Co. Falcons this weekend

Center donations up

By MARY ANN CERULLO

Donations were up in number this Christmas, stated Pat Brindle, director of the Heppner Neighborhood Center, during her monthly report to Morrow County Court, Wednesday, Jan. 12. Brindle felt the increase was due to the food drives that were held in the south end of the county.

Seven pickup loads and one horse trailer filled with Christmas baskets went to families in the north end. Brindle reported she later learned of some families who were missed and on December 27 another carload of baskets were sent up. Brindle estimated that about 136 Christmas baskets were given county wide.

In other business, Justice of the Peace Charlotte Gray reported to county court that as of January 1, 1983, all traffic revenues in Justice Court will go to the county. Gray warned the court that if the state police officers file their traffic tickets with District Court, the revenues will go to the state, not to the county.
