

Antique barber's chair donated to auction

Korey Morgan, 15 months, the son of Virgil and Debbie Morgan of Ione, sits in this antique barber's chair that Bill and Marilyn Rietmann have donated to the Ione United Church of Christ Auction.

The Rietmanns bought the chair at the auction 13 years ago and refurbished it. It had come from an Ione barber shop which Jack Ferris purchased from Dick Turpich in 1920. Mrs. Rietmann said the shop was located in the old Oscar Cochran building on Main Street, and contained facilities for shaves, haircuts and hot tub baths.

The annual auction and barbecue will be held Saturday, June 4 at the Ione Grange Hall.

New officers elected by Ione Garden Club

A "Business only" meeting was held Wednesday, May 11, at the home of Helen Martin, president of Ione Garden Club. The purpose of the meeting was to elect new officers and take care of business postponed because of the district meeting in March and the plant sale in April, said a club spokesperson.

New officers elected were Loree Hubbard, president; Lorraine Ladd, vice-president; Delta Huber, secretary; and Helen Martin, treasurer. The June meeting will be held on the 15th instead of the regular second Wednesday date, said the spokesperson because the state convention of Oregon State Federation of Garden Clubs is to be held June 7 through 10 at Wilsonville Holiday Inn. Helen Martin and Loree Hubbard both plan to attend. They will report on the convention at the June 15 meeting which will be held at the home of Lorraine Ladd.

Program for the May meeting was a tour of Lavender Hill Herb Farm near Walla Walla, Wash. on Tuesday, May 10.

Longtime resident wins yard of month

By JUSTINE WEATHERFORD

From May 15 to June 15 the Heppner Garden Club and Heppner-Morrow Chamber of Commerce are honoring Emma Drake of West Baltimore Street as the Yard of the Month winner. Mrs. Drake is a busy, active lady who will turn 90 next September.

After she and her late husband, Ray, gave up ranching and moved from Sand Hollow, they bought the house long known as the Devin Home, where she has continued to garden for over 25 years.

Mrs. Drake planted all the trees and flowers in her extra large yard. She has prune, peach-plum and cherry trees; but her apricot blossoms froze this year, and she has had problems trying to grow an apple and a peach tree. She points to some lovely fir trees on the west hillside, just below the very old wall there, saying "Lois Winchester brought those as tiny trees from the mountains and gave them to me to set out." Mrs. Drake has many flowers of every color which bloom during the year. Among the flowers in the back and front yards are some plastic and cement animal reproductions which have been gifts, the latest of which came on Mothers' Day. She is especially proud of a cement deer and fawn which grandson Rick made for her.

An old barn sits at the back of her lot — one of the few in-city barns remaining. She says it's practically empty now — just holding her lawnmower and an antique hack which her son-in-law, Paul Warren, intends to refinish someday so everyone can see it in future Heppner parades.

This prize-winning gardener, super cook, mother and great-grandmother is a very valuable asset to her family, friends and entire community.

3 Heppner Jr. High students score well on S.A.T. test

Three Heppner Junior High School students recently received special recognition for high performance after taking the Scholastic Aptitude Test (S.A.T.) as part of Arizona State University's Project for the Study of Academic Precocity, announced Linda Shaw of the Heppner School's Talented and Gifted Program. Ten Heppner seventh and eighth graders qualified to take the test.

High performance on achievement or intelligence tests was necessary for participation in the S.A.T., which is the test taken by college-bound seniors in high school to obtain college admission and/or scholarships.

Those from Heppner taking the S.A.T. were Duane Ball, Kathleen Brazell, Ryan Duncan, Mark Fishburn, Shannon McLaughlin, Jacklyn Robinson, Ron Sporseen, Sean Stack, Dan Struthers and Sophie Struthers.

The three students who received special recognition for their high performances compared to the other western U.S. and Canadian students who were tested were: Duane Ball - verbal skills test, Shannon McLaughlin - test of standard written English and Sophie Struthers - verbal skills test and test of standard written English.

Shaw said an awards ceremony is to be held in Oregon, but word has not been received as to time and place.

A total of five centers will survey all of the United States and Canada in a search for the most educationally advanced and intellectually gifted seventh and eighth graders.
