Delpha Jones 989-8189

Guests of Irene Padberg this week have been her stepmother, Fanny Allstott, Mrs. Allstott's daughter, Mrs. Enio Luato, and Mr. Luato, all of Portland.

Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Jones and Virginia Peck motored to Spray on Tuesday evening last week where they attended the social night at the Spray Grange Hall. Mrs. Jones presented Lenora Neil with a 50-year grange member certificate and necklace. Mrs. Neil joined Tillicum Grange in 1933 with her parents. She later transferred to Columbia Grange and then to Spray Grange. A lovely potluck dinner and evening of fellowship was enjoyed.

Leila Palmer, Dorothy Burham and Catie Padberg attended a Rebekah Lodge luncheon at the Ione Grange Hall on Sunday. Bunchgrass Rebekah Lodge of Ione was hostess. A lovely dinner was served. Entertainment was enjoyed, and games were played with everyone receiving a prize.

Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Jones attended the wedding of Dwight D. Crow and Helen Farraster, both of Pendleton, at the Church of God in Pendleton on Saturday. Mr. Crow is Mr. Jones' nephew. The Joneses also attended a reception for the couple following the ceremony.

The Rev. Stuart Dick, pastor of the Lexington Christian Church, is teaching and receiving training at the Interfaith Christian School in Hermiston. There are 90 students enrolled at the school.

Dinner, awards program planned by 4-H Council

By BIRDINE TULLIS
Program Assistant
Morrow Co. Extension Service

Monday, Oct. 10, will be a big event for all south Morrow County 4-H members and leaders, as well as youth and adults wanting to learn more about 4-H membership. That's the plan of 4-H Council committee members Judy Wright, Janell Bailey, Irene Plocharsky and Betty McLaughlin. All 4-H families (those of both members and leaders) are invited to attend a potluck dinner starting at 6:30 p.m. at the fairgrounds in Heppner that evening, followed by a full program of awards and recognition of achievements of members and leaders.

A special invitation to attend is offered to parents of young people interested in joining 4-H, as well as any adult wanting to learn about leadership of a 4-H club.

Those attending with last names beginning A-J are asked to bring a main dish or casserole; last names which begin J-R may bring salads; and those people whose names begin from S to Z are asked to provide a dessert.

Table service will be furnished by the council.

For more details, call the extension office, 676-9642 or 676-9622.

Heppner F.F.A. teams place 7th in contests

Heppner FFA teams placed seventh in both advanced and beginning livestock judging at a Pendleton Junior Show on Saturday, Sept. 24.

Travis Harrison was Heppner's high scorer with 300 points out of a possible 350. He was the seventh high individual overall. Cindy Stroeber was 10th high among the beginning contestants with a score of 268.

Other members from Heppner that participated in the contest were: Kevin Hughes, Susie Martin, Sandra Wattenberger, Dorothy Hays, Stacey Kennedy and Paula Heatherly.

Mac-Hi of Milton-Freewater won the advanced contest and Pendleton won the beginning contest.

OSU announces 1984 Art About Ag Show

By BOB COSTA
OSU Extension Agent
Morrow County

Prints, drawings and functional ceramic items will be accepted for the 1984 Art about Agriculture Show, to be held next February at Oregon State University.

Categories for the show were announced by Tom Allen, exhibit chairman and OSU professor of botany and plant pathology.

Artists interested in being included in the juried show will be asked to submit their works in January. Sponsored by the OSU College of Agricultural Sciences and the O.C.R.I. Foundation, there will be about $8,000 in purchase and cash awards.

Last year's show featured paintings, sculptures and fiber art. Some pieces were purchased as the start of a permanent collection within the College of Agricultural Sciences. The permanent collection will be expanded and diversified by concentrating on different media this year.

Drawings may be in such mediums as pencil, pen and ink or charcoal. Ceramic items submitted should be functional pieces related to farm home or farm use.

Prints submitted must be hand produced by such methods as lithography, silk screen, etching or wood block. Mono prints, photographs or photolith prints will not be accepted.

The 1984 Art about Agriculture Show will open in OSU's Stewart Center in conjunction with the annual Agricultural Conference Days program February 28 and 29.

More information is available from Tom Allen at the Department of Botany, Oregon State University, Corvallis, Oregon 97331. Announcements and entry forms will be distributed soon to art centers and associations.

Heppner Army man completes O.S.U.T.

Pvt. Dean Skillicorn, son of retired Army Sgt. 1st Class Lynn and Carlene Skillicorn of Heppner has completed one station unit training (O.S.U.T.) at the U.S. Army Infantry School, Fort Benning, Ga.

O.S.U.T. is a 12-week period which combines basic squad tactics, patrolling, landmine warfare, field communications and combat operations. Completion of this course qualifies the soldier as a light-weapon infantryman and as an indirect-fire crewman.

Soldiers were taught to perform any of the duties in a rifle or mortar squad.

He is a 1980 graduate of Heppner High School.
