M.A.S.H. COMES TO IONE HIGH

How far is it from the front steps of Ione High School to London, England? How about Juneau, Alaska? Or Mexico City?

In the spirit of the popular movie and television show "M.A.S.H.," the students at Ione High have erected signs outside the school telling you how many miles these, and other far off (and not so far off) places, actually are.

At the mythical 407th, the signs are hung on a post in the middle of the hospital camp. At Ione they are hung on a pole outside the school.

And just how far is London from Ione? Well, you'll have to go there, look up in the air, and find out for yourself.

"IT TAKES A WOMAN ..."

It was the girls who had the last laugh on a Heppner High School ski outing to Mt. Bachelor last weekend.

After two days of dishing out the comments on the incompetence of women, who was it who locked themselves in the showers?

After screaming for help for 15 minutes, seven wet, unclothed males were very glad that there were some "incompetent" females who were there to hear them.

Who's all wet now, boys?

FIGHTING FIRE WITH FIRE

It seems that a few members of the Heppner Fire Department have developed a sudden interest in aerobic dance. Their interest has so far been just for laughs, but Fire Chief Forrie Burkenbine might consider the dance class a requirement for department volunteers. They would certainly be in better physical condition, and would be able to run to the fire hall faster.

And after the first 15 minutes of one of Joyce Hughes' classes, we'd all love to see how hard they'd laugh ... providing they're still breathing!

Note: leotards and legwarmers will be provided upon request.

Heppner T.V. announces programming changes

Due to an equipment failure, WTBS - TV Channel 8 on Heppner TV Cable is being substituted by C.N.N. News. The station will be back on as soon as repairs can be made, reports Judy Laughlin of Heppner T.V.

Also a Sugar Ray Leonard bout scheduled for February 25 has been postponed, due to preventative surgery on his eye. Home Box Office will carry "Still of the Night" at 7 p.m. on that date, Laughlin said.
