

Descendants of Hibernians met for picture on St. Pats Day

Descendants of the Heppner Chapter of the Ancient Order of Hibernians met at the Courthouse in Heppner during the 1984 St. Patrick's Day festivities to pose for the above photo; 8 x 10 color enlargements of which are available at the Gazette-Times in Heppner. A photo taken in 1914 of the, then active, Hibernians was run on the front page of the March 8 issue of the Gazette-Times.

Juvenile Services Comm. to meet April 14

The Morrow County Juvenile Services Commission will hold a public meeting on April 4 at 7 p.m. at the town hall building in Boardman. The public is invited to attend this meeting to present opinions and suggestions regarding the commission's proposed programs for the 1984-85 fiscal year.

The commission proposes to continue funding five existing programs said a spokesperson for the commission, and add a new one: the Summer Youth Employment Program.

1. The "Summer Youth Employment" program will match young people, aged 14 to 18 with suitable jobs during the summer months. This program will operate in the north end of the county and will be designed to provide work experience under closely supervised conditions.

2. The "Latchkey" program is located in Boardman and irrigon. It is designed to meet the need for better supervision of elementary school youngsters who lack a full supervision before and after school because of working parents who are unable to make provisions.

3. The "Responsible Adulthood" workshops are intended to provide students with information to help them make responsible decisions regarding teenage sexuality, drug and alcohol use, peer pressure and other pertinent topics. The presentations are being made at all age levels within the schools, as well as to community groups.

4. The goals of the "Sexual Abuse Treatment" program are to provide a systematic approach to reporting, investigation and treatment of sexual abuse in Morrow County. Stress is placed on minimizing trauma to the child, providing adequate treatment providing adequate treatment for the offender and his family, stopping the abuse and reuniting the family whenever possible.

Assistants' Program, high school students tutor selected grade school children or their peers who are having trouble with their school work. Some of the student tutors receive wages for their assistance, while others work on a voluntary basis.

6. The "Crossroads Shelter Homes" program contacts selected families within the county to be on call 24 hours a day to receive juveniles in their home who need temporary emergency foster care as deemed appropriate by the police or Juvenile Court.

Heppner merchants ask input for 1985

Heppner merchants met last Friday, March 23, at Kate's Pizza and Pastry to evaluate the strengths and weaknesses of this past St. Patrick's Day celebration. The merchants expressed a desire for comments from area residents about the day's events so that they would be better able to plan for next year. We will have to "come up with some good ones (ideas) to beat this year," encouraged Jim Farley.

Suggestions may be addressed to Linda Hutchinson, 676-9001, who presided at the informal meeting. Six other local merchants were present; they termed the day "a success." "We got a lot of good will out of the day," commented Hutchinson.

The parade and the performances by the Baker Drum and Bugle Corps were mentioned as the two elements which seemed to appeal to most people and which helped to promote the spirit of the day.

Three areas were discussed which merchants cited as needing improvement next year:

--Many people had expressed disappointment to various merchants that the Heppner High School band did not march in the parade;

--Some people who did not have recreational vehicles had mentioned their inability to find overnight lodging; and

--More people may have been able to watch the parade if the route had been longer.

A teen-age dance was suggested as a possible addition for next year's celebration as a means of including this age group.

Other suggestions for next year were: a team of pack horses for the parade as well as an exhibit, more "side-walk" stands, and the expansion of the celebration to include two days.

Ione woman celebrates birthday

A group of Ione ladies met last Thursday, March 22, at Beecher's Cafe in Ione to help Anna Ball celebrate her 77th birthday.

Those present for lunch, birthday cake and ice cream included the honoree, Vera Reitmann, Lucile Reitmann, Ruby Roberts, Edith Matthews, Edith Nicholson, Doris Gollyhorn, Francis Smouse, Geneva Palmer, Norma Rae, Ida Coleman and Laura Holtz. Following lunch, the ladies continued their celebration with more refreshments and visiting at the home of Geneva Palmer.

Son of area woman no longer missing

Seven weeks ago, the mother and grandmother of Errol S. Connor were alerted of his disappearance from Honolulu, Hawaii, where he was stationed with the U.S. Army.

His mother, Pat Osborne, reports that Errol was found last Wednesday, March 21, working at a gas station in Lakeview, Oregon.

Osborne says that she and her daughter, Michelle Pettyjohn, accompanied her son to Honolulu where he reported back to Schofield Barracks on Monday morning, March 26.
