

Weddings Berg — Elliot

(Editor's note: Last week's Gazette-Times had a story about a wedding which contained several typing errors. We regret the errors. Below is the corrected article.)

On Saturday, April 21, 1984, Annabelle Berg, formerly of Heppner was married to Alva Elliott at his home in Hines, Oregon, by the Rev. Lance Lovlin.

The bride wore a white two piece suit with pink accessories. She carried a cream colored lace and satin fan with a bouquet of pink and white roses and baby's breath. Brides maids were the bride's granddaughters, Christy Bourrie and Donna Ball of Heppner.

Ms. Bourrie wore a light blue dress belted at her waist and Ms. Ball wore a turquoise dress with a white lace jacket. They each carried a single pink rose.

George Bradley, Seattle, son of the bride, was best man. Yvonne Bradley, Seattle, daughter-in-law of the bride served cake while Doreen Richardson, the groom's neighbor and friend, poured champagne.

Other guests included the bride's grandsons-in-law, Wayne Bourrie and Gary Ball, both of Heppner.

The couple are making their home in Hines.

Hedberg — Abrams

Frances Louise Abrams and Frederick Lambert Hedberg, both of New Carlisle, Ohio, were married April 14 at 10 a.m. at the home of her parents, Robert and Marion Abrams, Heppner. Mrs. A. Fred Hedberg of St. Petersburg, Florida, is mother of the groom.

The Rev. Edwin Watts, All Saints Episcopal Church, read the wedding service before a small group of friends and family members. Attendants for the bride and groom were Margaret Jacobs, Birchwood, Minnesota and Keith Collier, Pendleton.

Heppner friends greeted the couple at a noon luncheon party following the wedding.

Out of town guests included the bride's grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Richard Abrams of Bothell, Washington; aunt and uncle, Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Haskell, Everett, Washington; Tony Rick and daughter, Sarah, Portland; Mary Abrams, Pendleton; Tom and Linda Collier, Halfway; Mike Sweek and Nancy Hoeker, Eugene and Tim Loyd, Pendleton.

Sunday morning, May 15, the newlyweds left for San Francisco and Los Angeles; they will be at home at 1135 Teresa Lane, New Carlisle. The bride, a graduate of Colorado State University and the University of Dayton is a chemical engineer; the groom, with degrees from Yale, the University of Arizona and the University of Massachusetts is a chemist. Both are employed by the U.S. Air Force at research facilities, Wright Patterson Air Force Base, Dayton Ohio.

Engagements West — Yocom

Joe and Hilda Yocom of Lexington and Kenneth and Donna Hunker of Oak Harbor, Washington, announce the engagement of their children Mildred (Millie) V. Yocom and William (Bill) W. West.

Yocom is a graduate of Heppner High School and Moler Barber College, Portland. She is employed by Trail's End Barber Shop, Pendleton.

West is a graduate of Oak Harbor High School and Lin-Benton College, Albany. He is employed by Fleetwood Trailer Plant.

The couple plans a June 23 wedding at Heppner.

'St. Helens' movie slated

The Morrow County 4-H Leaders Council is sponsoring a film, "St. Helens," starring Art Carney, Friday, May 18, 7:30 p.m. at the Heppner Junior High gym.

The council is attempting to provide family entertainment for the community by bringing in "G-rated" films, said a spokesperson for the council. If there is a good response to this film, the council will try to sponsor some more films next year also.

Trisha Mahoney takes second at rodeo

The first Annual Morrow County High School Rodeo was held Friday, April 27, and Saturday, April 28, at the Dodge City Arena in Boardman. The rodeo was an invitational and approximately 200 students from all over Oregon participated.

Hank Vazza of Boardman took home the trophy buckle for Boys' Cow Cutting which was donated by Tony and Eileen Osbourne of Irrigon.

Trisha Mahoney of Heppner earned a second place in the Barrel Racing.

"Local support for the rodeo was just terrific; we had lots of people call and offer to donate trophy buckles. Merle Carlson and Clarence Fredrickson each donated a ton of hay to be used for the stock, and lots of local people turned out to watch the events," according to Italy Taton who helped organize the event.

The rodeo in Boardman was held in conjunction with one hosted by the Umatilla County Rodeo Team in Hermiston. The Hermiston performances were held in the afternoon on Saturday and Sunday and the Boardman shows were held in the evening on Friday and Saturday.

The holding of the two rodeos on the same weekend and relatively close was for the benefit of the high school students who participated. It helped to hold down travel and lodging costs for the students.

Trophy buckles were donated by The Enterprise and the Heppner Gazette-Times, Russell Shell, Greg Prior, Mark Fertilizer, Dennis Logan, Simplot and Gary Fredrickson, Kegler's Sentry Market, Inland Empire Bank (Boardman branch), Tony and Eileen Osbourne, Gregg's Tavern, Robert and Linda Smith, Miller produce, Dennis Logan and Western Empire, Greg Prior and Taggares Farms. The High Point Team trophy was donated by the Dodge City Inn.

Those placing in the eleven events were:

Calf roping - sponsored by Russell Shell: first - J.D. David, Canby; second - Clint Pierce, Culver; third - Tiny Bertsch, Stanfield; fourth - Steve Sherrill, Hermiston.

Bareback - sponsored by Heppner Gazette-Times and The Enterprise: first - David McCarty, Echo; second - a tie between Rodney Debacka and Kenny Say both of Chiloquin; fourth - Mike Stephens, Forest Grove.

Steer Wrestling - sponsored by Greg Prior: first - Kelly Nummellee, Salem; second - Tony Hannon, Redmond; third - David McCarty, Echo.

Ione Extension named Study Group of the Year

By BIRDINE TULLIS
OSU Extension
Program Assistant
Morrow County

Extension honors for Study Group of the Year, 1984, went to the young homemakers group in Ione.

Annually, the study groups submit reports of their involvement in community and within their membership. The honors had gone to the large North Morrow group for the three past years, but this year the young homemakers of the Ione area were selected for their outstanding contributions to their community.

The Ione Study Group is a young homemaker group which has increased its membership this year to 30 members. Meetings are held in the evening and draw young homemakers from a large area.

The meetings provide both educational programs and social activity for the many town and farm members.

They are active as a group, and individually in community affairs and programs. In addition to regular meetings, they include special events for their husbands and sponsor open meetings for community.

Some activities this past year were: community Easter Egg hunts, sponsored annually for all children in Ione area; a child fingerprinting program in Ione; open meeting for community on the topic of "Assertive Parenting"; donated $50 to International 4-H Youth Exchange (IFYE); donated full Summer Week scholarship for 4-H in amount of $100; donated full summer camp scholarship of $20.

The group made special baskets of homemade goodies for senior adults in community at Christmas. This project was especially noteworthy, as they made up the goodie baskets with the special dietary needs of the recipient in mind.

They spearheaded a fund raising drive, which earned about $500, for a young mother who had two kidney operations, as well as assisting her with homemaking and meals during her recovery period.

In addition to regular programs, members provided special interest classes on topics selected by the group as T-shirts for kids, etc. Everyone was invited to participate in their special interest lessons.

The study group also sponsored CPR classes for the community.

The group shares interest in international programs. A special open meeting was held to provide adults in the community with the opportunity to hear and see the program by I.F.Y.E. returnees.

One member of the group serves on state 4-H International committee, and is the Morrow County International contact person. She also hosts returning I.F.Y.E.'s

Another member served as instructor for a countywide event, providing information regarding special interest in growing herbs. She repeated the program for annual Homemakers Day.

Some members serve as 4-H leaders; all are involved in school and community affairs relating to children.

Jeri McElligott, Ione has served as president of the group the past year and will receive the traveling gavel in recognition of the group's achievements.

Treasury Dept. releases unclaimed property

By JUSTINE
WEATHERFORD

A short while ago some county residents received a Part IV Federal Register mailing from the Department of the Treasury, Comptroller of the Currency, providing information relating to the disposition of unclaimed property recovered from national banks that were closed before and during the 1930's. They also received a claim form which needs to be returned by July 31, 1984.

The mailing gives lengthy lists of persons in this county who had deposits in the First National Bank of Heppner and in the Farmers and Stockgrowers National Bank of Heppner. It also lists a few depositors in the Condon National Bank as well as in many other banks in many states.

The treasury document states "The greatest volume of the property held by the office consists of legal, financial and personal papers, including abstracts, leases, titles, receipts, letters, agreements, passports, notes, stock certificates, mortgages, deeds, wills, bills of sale, bonds, contracts, insurance policies and certificates of deposit. There also is included a smaller quantity of watches, jewelry, flatware, guns, coins, currency and household and other miscellaneous items. None of the property has been appraised professionally and the office has made no judgment concerning the monetary value of the items."

"For further information contact: Roger S. Williams, Management Analyst, Financial Operations (202) 287-4475, or Brenda Curry or Francis Rath, Attorneys, Legal Advisory Services Division (202) 447-1880, 490 L'Enfant Plaza East, S.W. Washington, D.C. 20219."

The two Heppner national banks were closed in 1933 during the great depression. Their closure was very hard on businessmen, farmers and livestock men of Morrow County. Due to the scarcity of cash to conduct daily business, the Morrow County Court issued sheepskin script which was to be redeemed by the county at maturity—but a good portion of the script was kept as souvenirs and collector's items. Some of this sheepskin script can be seen in the Morrow County Museum.

indeed a sad thing for the area.

Virginia Peck accompanied by Zelma Watkins of Wasco visited Saturday at the Oddfellows Hologate Center in Portland. They enjoyed the President Una Makin's luncheon at the Rose Mano. Most of the 1984 officers were present. In the afternoon they attended a lovely program and tea at the Friendship House at the Center. There was a beautiful musical program, a talk by the administrator of the unit and a tea. They also visited Joe Yocom's grandfather Sam Brock, a former Wasco, Co. resident, who is the oldest resident of the center at 102 years old. They returned home later on Sunday evening.

Erda Pieper, who has been a patient in a hospital in Portland is now recuperating at the home of their daughter Marsha Hall and her family.

Mr. and Mrs. C.C. Jones and Dorris Graves visited Spray Grange on Tuesday evening. A fine meeting was enjoyed and Mrs. Jones, who is Wheatland County Pamona Deputy presented Art Hicks with a beautiful 50 year jewel and booklet for his continued membership in the Grange for 50 years. Refreshments of cake and coffee were served.

Mrs. Graves, a member of the Wheatland Pamona Ex. committee spoke a few words about the Pamona Grange and its goals as a county Grange and issued an invitation to attend Pamona, at Anson Wright Park in July when Rhea Creek will host the day. This meeting will be on a Sunday starting at noon, so that working people can attend.
