Atiyeh acknowledges nomination

A letter from Governor Atiyeh to President Harley Sager of the Heppner-Morrow County Chamber of Commerce thanks that organization for its participation in the selection process for the 1984 Governor's Volunteer Awards.

Atiyeh states: "The decisions made by the final judges were extremely difficult ones because of the unique contributions made by each of the nominees. Although the nomination you submitted was not one of the final winners, his special volunteer contributions are representative of the irreplaceable contributions our state's volunteers make. Thank you for your willingness to take the time to promote recognition of an outstanding volunteer's efforts."

The name of Louis Carlson, lone, was submitted by the Chamber as an outstanding volunteer of Morrow County. His years of volunteer work with his church (Valby Lutheran), with county youth, on various committees and boards, with several county, state and national agricultural organizations and with the Port of Morrow were the reasons given for Carlson's nomination.

Governor Atiyeh's letter states that the award winners were being honored at a luncheon on May 8, in Portland as part of Oregon's Volunteer Week celebration.

Local news bits

Women's basketball forward, Toni Swanson, with family ties in Ione and Heppner, is presently attracting attention in New South Wales, Australia says a spokesperson for the family. Swanson, who was a Washington State high school star, then who played regularly at Whitworth College in Spokane, has now begun playing for a Newcastle, N.S. W. representative team.

A picture of Toni and an article about her first game in which she scored 22 points is featured in a recent edition of a Sydney newspaper, which she mailed to Heppner last week. The sportswriter Bill Hawke says that she had only one training session (practice) before that first game, and she is "finding that referees and players in Australia let more go in play" than she says she was accustomed to in the U.S.

Toni is in Newcastle because her Whitworth coach, Marz Ainsworth, recommended her to basketball promoters in Sydney and Newcastle. Her parents are Dennis Swanson, a Northwest Orient pilot, who formerly lived in Ione and Joann (Ingram) who formerly lived in Pendleton. Toni's immediate family has lived at Auburn, Washington, for some time, but keeps close to many relatives in Morrow County.

Toni's grandmother, Irene Swanson, Heppner, and her parents plan to go to Australia during this current basketball season to visit Toni and to look around that country.

Gene Logan and his cousin John of Arlington are donating copies of the book "With No Apologies" written by Barry M. Goldwater to the libraries at Heppner, Ione, Condon, and Arlington because they "feel that it is a book which everyone should read."

A book-jacket comment by President Ronald Reagan states "Everyone in America should read his frank accounting of backstage Washington by an honest man. 'With No Apologies' is required reading for those who want to know the inner workings of the political world."
