Watne named '84 Lions president

The Heppner Lions Club installed new officers for 1984 during its annual Charter Night Celebration held at the American Legion Hall Friday, May 18 in Heppner.

Elected as president for the coming year was Lonnie Watne, a loan officer at Bank of Eastern Oregon. Watne was also named Lion of the year for his work and efforts during 1983.

Bob Kahl was named first vice president for 1984, and Don Shelton was named second vice president.

Other officers are: John Edmundson, third vice president; Bill Kuhn, secretary; Dave Tharp, treasurer; Don Cole, tail twister; Dick Sargent, lion tamer. Board of directors are: Larry Mills, Terry Hughes, Bill Helphinstine and Cliff Green.

This year's chartered night marked the 10th anniversary of the Heppner Club's founding. Charter member Cliff Green was speaker for the evening's dinner and meeting. Green spoke on the club's past accomplishments and urged members to "get involved with their community."

Incoming president Lonnie Watne said he would work hard in the coming year, and told Lion's Club members to expect his calling on them to help out in 1984.

Healy takes 2nd all-around

Maureen Healy of Heppner took the second all-around girl award in competition with the Eastern Oregon State College Rodeo Club last weekend, reported a news release from E.O.S.C.

Lori Ruark captured the first all-around title, chalking up 195 points. Healy followed close behind with 185.

Healy won the breakaway, placed third in barrels and finished fourth in goats. By adding 185 points from this competition to her year's total, Healy now ranks second in the nation. She follows first place girl, Rosalind Miller from Merced College in California, by only 17 points in this hotly contested race for top spot in the nation. Healy leads the region in point totals.

Advisor Art Greer was "especially pleased with the performance of the women's team. The whole rodeo went smoothly and the weather wouldn't have been better. The only thing lacking was crowds," he said.

The club has two more chances to compete before the regional finals at Blue Mountain Community College in Pendleton, this weekend May 19-20 in Coeur d'Alene, Idaho, and May 26-27 in Spokane, Washington.
