2nd annual Rendezvous set in Pendleton

What could be more exciting than Rendezvous '83? Well, it's Rendezvous '84, a four day Western festival designed for family fun and participation and coming up in Pendleton on July 4 through 7.

The Pendleton Rendezvous Company, orgainizers of this second annual event, invite you to dig out your Western wear and old costumes and come back with them to the days when the Mountainmen and Indians came together to tell long tales aroung the campfire, compete in games of skill and celebrate the past year's exploits and adventures.

It all begins on July 4 with an authentic Basque Barbeque, ice cream and pie social, children's games in the park, the arrival of the Wagon Train and, after dark, a fireworks display.

Over the next three days, the activities include something for everyone including an Indian Encampment, Muzzleloaders, Buffalo Chip Toss, a Liars' Contest, Spelling Bee, Perch Jerk, Quick drawers and a Bank Hold-up. If that isn't enough, try the on-going Chautauqua, the Squaredancingf, the Historical Home and Farm Tours, or a run in the Rendezvous Mile. There will be lots of music, craft and food booths, Old Time Industrial Displays, Bonfires, a Saloon Crawl and two Street Dances. Additional activities just for the kids are games and contests and a Youth Barn Dance.

Each evening there will be a performance of "Special Edition III," an original musical play based on Pendleton's proud 104 year history. Saturday afternoon will highlight the Cowboy Tour guaranteed to be full of lying, fiddling, singing, and storytelling.

It's for the entire family. For more information and a schedule of events, write Rendezvous '84, P.O. Box 1085, Pendleton, Or 97801 or phone (503) 276-4224.
