

3rd Annual W.C.C.C. Invitational to host 90 golfers

With 45 of this year's entries coming from out of town there is sure to be some excitement and some excellent golf to be shot this weekend said a spokesperson for the third annual Willow Creek Country Club Invitational.

Golfers coming from Tacoma, Washington; Burns, Oregon; many from the Portland vicinity, several from central Oregon, some from the valley; a handful from the surrounding area and 45 from Heppner are scheduled to participate in this year's tournament.

The record held by Charlie Rawlins of one under par for the 36 holes is in jeopardy of being bettered by any one of about 20 golfers says Ron Bowman of W.C.C.C.

This year's field seems to have to beat Treve Gray of Pendleton Country Club. Gray is a scratch golfer (no handicap), coming off a good tournament win June 9-10 at the Pendleton Round-up Invitational, a tournament which hosts 150 golfers throughout the Northwest.

Bowman says some of the golfers to be after Gray will be: his father, Ron (6) from Pendleton; Don Peterson (7) Pendleton; Ernie Christiansen (12), Tacoma, Washington; Darrell Simmons (9), Burns; Gary Alexanian (8), McNary; Howard Broussard (12), Lake Oswego; Norm Grey (13), Hillsboro; Scott Taylor (13), Gresham; John Wall (7), Bend; and Oscar Shoemaker (14) from Boardman.

Hometown men who could be in the running include Don Lott, John Edmundson, Wayland Hyatt, Rick Johnston, Gary Watkins, John Boyer, Ed Hiemstra, Ed Gunderson and Ron Bowman.

Besides the $3,000 in prizes and merchandise the four flights are going after hand crafted trophies, made by Johnny Shaw, for low net and low gross winners in each flight.

The two days of golf will be capped by a sole survivor of the 20 lowest scores Sunday afternoon. Tee off time for this event should be around 3 p.m. estimates Bowman. High scorers drop out on the holes until there is a winner.

Tee offs start at 7:30 a.m. on Saturday and Sunday and play continues throughout most of the afternoon. The public is invited to come and watch the competition and fun at no charge.

Heppner News Bits

Ida Farra, who is one of the thirteen-child West family—all still living—has just returned from an "it rained every day" trip to McLaughlin, South Dakota. The occasion that drew six sisters and three of their brothers was the Golden Wedding Anniversary of the oldest sister.

The seven whom Ida traveled with from Oregon, Idaho and Washington, enjoyed stopping in a brother's home in Rapid City, S.D., near which they visited the Mt. Rushmore National Monument. The anniversary party that brought many relatives and old friends together for the first time in many years was held in the city auditorium in McLaughlin.

Ida says that on Saturday night, June 16, everyone enjoyed a roast pig dinner. On Sunday there was the well-attended reception, and that was followed by a big ham dinner and then an all-night dance.

Lowell Turner, Santa Rosa, California, arrived in Heppner Tuesday for a visit with his mother, Lois Winchester.

Mildred Paulberg returned home Thursday from a two-week visit with her daughter Mary Evelyn Ross, Mary Evelyn's husband, Gordon, and their family.

Several area residents attended the Saturday, June 23 funeral of Casper Ray Warmuth. Warmuth was the husband of the former Nola Keithley of Heppner. He died Tuesday, June 19, 1984 at the age of 65.

Those attending the funeral were Everett Keithley, Sharon and Bob Harrison, Mary Bristow, Don Bristow, Lucile Rietmann, Harold, Sharon and Nova Rietmann, and Mary Jean McCabe.

Applications have been made available to select the 1984 Farm Family of the Year.

These forms are available through all county extension offices, the Oregon State Fair office, inserted in the Farm Bureau News and in farming outlets throughout the state says a press release from the Oregon State Fair.

The purpose for this contest in its third year, is to select and acknowledge the Oregon Farm Family who best represent the spirit of farming and agriculture throughout the state.

Nominees are evaluated on the basis of strong family involvement in all areas of farm management, innovations in the family farming operation, the use of modern farming techniques and methods, active community involvement and leadership in agricultural organizations.

The winning family will receive a plaque and a check for $1,000. All applications must be postmarked no later than July 31.

Quilts to be shown in Pendleton

The Bear Paw Union, a Pendleton area quilt group, has announced that they will be conducting a quilt show and sale July 4-7 at the Helen McCune gym. The show hours will be from noon to 6 p.m. daily. Admission will be $1.

Special features of the show will include: a ribbon and cash award for the best quilt of the show, a people's choice ribbon award, selected quilts which will be for sale, displays by local quilt clubs, and knowledgeable quilters who will be on hand to answer quilt questions.

Entries are currently being accepted for the quilt show. Quilts may be either old or new, but they must be finished.

Anyone interested in entering a quilt in the show may contact Terry Austin, 278-0298 or Boone Winter, 276-6636, before June 30.

What's Your Opinion

Ken Dyball

Question: "How do you feel about the stricter drinking and driving law coming into effect July 1?"

"I think it's a good idea... I've had to put together too many people who have been victims of drinking and driving..." said Ken Dyball of Heppner, "I'm glad they are going to enforce the law with drivers having a high alcohol content (.08 or above on the Blood Alcohol Content Test)..."

I also approve of the drinking age remaining at 21, however, I don't really think that the federal government should pull the purse strings with federal highway funds on states who don't raise the drinking age. Somehow I don't think that's exactly kosher. After all, where do they think the federal funding comes from?...Us."

Several entries for the 1984 Morrow County Fair and Rodeo Parade, to be held on August 18, have been received. However, there is lots of room for additional entries before the deadline date of July 27, according to Tom McElligott and Cara Costa who are co-chairing the parade this year.

Prizes and ribbons will be awarded in many divisions, including: Adult organizations, Business Floats, Out-of-County Floats, Best Mounted Family Group, Best Comic, Clowns and Clown Groups, Antique and Classic Car Clubs, Old Cars and Trucks, Children's Floats, Children's Marching Units and Bands and Bugle Corps.

The theme this year is "Progress-The Ticket to Success". Many ideas are expected to be used, both serious and humorous.

Mini-College was begun to expand the informal educational offerings available through the Extension home economics program, explains Claudia Jones, coordinator of the program. Classes, which last from three to nine hours, are taught by OSU faculty members, business representatives and skilled volunteers.

Plans are underway for the 12th annual event which will be held during the third week in June, 1985 at OSU. Mini-College participants may live in OSU residence halls or commute to campus. Information about the 1985 program will be available at county offices of the OSU Extension Service next spring.

Fun and fireworks have been planned for the Fourth of July celebration at Boardman this year beginning at noon with a parade from Riverside High School proceeding through town and ending at the Boardman Marina.

Other events scheduled to take place at the Boardman Marina include: a horseshoe tournament at 1 p.m.; Bingo from 1:30 to 5 p.m.; softball games from 1:30 to 6 p.m., kids' games beginning at 2 p.m., and a fireworks display at 9:30 p.m. Hot dogs, soft drinks and beer will be available concessions.

6 local gardens toured

Heppner Garden Club members and friends recently toured six local gardens.

Their first stop was at the Rock Street garden of Martha Doherty and her mother Jerry. This is an example of a new yard and an even newer area for fruit trees, vegetable plantings and just "Martha's Park" space. Martha told about her experiences managing the sizeable space outside the house, and Jerry showed everyone her fine house plants.

The beautiful backyard garden of Jan and Les Paustian above Barratt Blvd. has a large fountain in the corner where it joins their spacious, cool patio. Their flower-surrounded lawn has a nice variety of blooms.

The third stop was at the vegetable garden of Tom and Nancy (Cleveland) Welborn at the upper end of Church Street. After viewing the superior vegetable plantings, the tour group was invited to inspect the Welborn yard where they were enchanted by the cement and brick work and plantings at the back of the house. They admired the herb garden, the sun-to-be-completed brick pool and fountain and the cement pad for a future gazebo. Nancy and Tom said the entire place was a family project, involving their parents and their three children.

Next, the group walked around the yard of Jerry and Sonja Smith which is packed with many things of interest. Jerry explained that they enjoyed their cactus beds, that he brought the lanterns on the patio from Mexico and that he is intending to add to the little pool, bridge and statuary area beyond the patio. The Smiths were again commended for the shrubbery they have planted across Cannon Street to the east of the municipal swimming pool, and the care they are giving it.

Former Heppner Mayor Bill and Daisy Collins have a very fine, well-established yard at the south end of Main Street. It was selected for viewing because of their great hillside planting. Their yard was one of Heppner's first Yard-of-the-Month winners.

The final stop on Monday evening, June 18, was at this month's winning yard at the Ralph Marlatt home on the Heppner-Condor Highway.

As darkness approached the touring group assembled in the home of Bill and Jane Rawlins where they met to talk about what they had seen and about plans for the next several months of garden club activities.

Time to enter the Fair & Rodeo Parade

Anyone wishing to have an entry in the parade may contact either Tom McElligott or Cara Costa at the Morrow County Abstract & Title Co., Inc., P.O. Box 576, Heppner, phone 676-9912.
