Panter—Ganzhorn

Jackson (Jack) Ganzhorn and Sarena Panter

Sarena Marie Panter and Jackson Jay Ganzhorn announced their engagement at her grandparents' 50th anniversary celebration last month.

She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. Ray Panter of Heppner. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Carl J. Miller and Cecil M. Ganzhorn.

The couple plans to be married August 25 at 1 p.m. at the Western Conservative Baptist Seminary Chapel in Portland.

The bride-elect is currently employed at Bone Company of Portland. Ganzhorn will be working toward a graduate degree in Fisheries and Wildlife at Oregon State University in Corvallis beginning this fall.

HHS Jr. selected for 4-H staff

Paula Plocharsky, daughter of Warren and Irene Plocharsky of Heppner, and a junior at Heppner High School will be assisting in the home economics contest and in the Exhibit Building at the Oregon State Fair.

Thirty teen staffers from throughout Oregon will work from one to five days at the fair in Salem, Aug. 24 through Sept. 3 says a news release from the State Fair Office. Under the supervision of college-age staff members, these teen volunteers will help arrange hundreds of 4-H exhibits, assist with registration, assemble and post class listings, and make daily announcements on the public address system. Some students will gain experience in public speaking by acting as commentators during the livestock judging.

Students attend Business Week

Melissa Gates and Lana Reid of Heppner High School were among nearly 400 students and teachers who attended Oregon Business Week 1984 on the campus of Western Oregon State College in Monmouth, July 29-August 3.

Students and teachers gathered at WOSC July 29 and spent a week studying the American Private Enterprise System. Daily lectures, seminars and discussion sessions were conducted by a faculty of more than 100 Oregon business executives from throughout the state.

This year's fifth-annual summer event was presented jointly through auspices of the Oregon Council on Economic Education, State Department of Education, Associated Oregon Industries Foundation and WOSC. Chairman was John Salisbury, KXL Radio commentator.

Gates and Reid applied for and received full expense-paid scholarships to participate in the Business Week program. Gates is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Gates of Lexington. Reid is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Reid of Heppner.

Business Week was created to provide high school students and teachers with a practical learning experience in the various aspects of the system that sustains the American economy.

Highlight of Business Week occurred Friday evening, Aug. 3 when Gates and Reid received graduation certificates of achievement following a commencement address by Oregon's Governor Victor Atiyeh.

Weddings

Viall - Donovan

Mr. and Mrs. Curtis Viall

In an afternoon ceremony at Our Lady of Angels Catholic Church in Hermiston, Carol Ann Donovan and Curtis Keith Viall, both of Boardman were united in marriage.

The bride is the daughter of Carroll J. and Shirley A. Donovan of Boardman.

The bridegroom's parents are Vernon H. and Dora Sue Viall, Boardman. The Rev. Brian McKenna, Hermiston, officiated at the ceremony.

Soloists were Joe Wightman, Milton-Freewater; John and Dalene Pollman, Randle, Wash.; Jack Donovan and Lesli Viall, Boardman. Playing the wedding music was Lisa Mittelsdorf, Boardman.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a gown her mother had worn 30 years before at her wedding. The lace and crystal pleated dress featured a tiered skirt and sheer fitted jacket with mandarin collar. Her fingertip veil of matching lace fell from a sequined headdress.

She carried a nose gay of yellow and white daisies and a family heirloom white Bible.

Lori Russell, Boardman, was maid of honor. Bridesmaids were Vicki Daniels, Kris Baker and Lesli Viall, sister of the bridegroom, all of Boardman.

Joe Daltoso, Boardman, was best man. Ushering were Scott Daniels, Boardman; Phil Bride, Portland; and Dave Haralson, Yacolt, Wash.

Sherry and Ryan Donovan, niece and nephew of the bride, Boardman, were flowergirl and ringbearer.

The bride and bridegroom both graduated from Riverside High School in Boardman in 1980. The bride also received her degree in elementary education this spring from Western Oregon State College at Monmouth.

Viall graduated from the University of Portland with a B.S. degree in electrical engineering. He is now with the U.S. Air Force.

The couple is living at Nellis Air Force Base in Las Vegas, Nev.

Study group attends festival

By JUSTINE WEATHERFORD

As she has for many years, former Heppner High School English and drama teacher Jane Rawlins again led a group of South Morrow County people to the Shakespearean Festival at Ashland from July 30 until August 3.

After a five weekly study and discussion sessions, the American Association of University Women study group consisting of Katherine Lindstrom and Cathy Barker of Ione, and Marie Lane, Cheryl Greenup, Irene Swanson, and Justine Weatherford, of Heppner accompanied Mrs. Rawlins as they attended three Shakespearean plays and two other dramas. The seven enjoyed "The Taming of the Shrew" and "Henry the VIII" in the large, outdoor, Elizabethan Theater, and saw "Troilus and Cressida," "London Assurance," and "Cat on a Hot Tin Roof" at the Angus Bowmer Theater.

Besides the seven plays, the group gained much understanding of the productions by taking the Backstage Tour under the tutelage of Stage Manager Kimberley Jean Barry and ambitious, Irish-American performer, Actor Stephanie Shine, who is featured on the front page of the current issue of The Catholic Sentinel.

The Morrow County tourists traveled south via Redmond (where they stopped at Grandma Barker's home), via Bend (where they lunched at Sandy Carlson's establishment) and via Oregon's magnificent Crater Lake to Medford where they had a Chinese dinner and where Mrs. Weatherford separated from them to spend the week with her son Bill Haberlach and family. The six other travelers stayed at the well known Mark Antony Hotel in central Ashland.

On Friday morning Katherine Lindstrom took a bus to Williams, California, to visit a few days with her daughter Susan Wiper and family. Mrs. Weatherford also did not return with the county women as she traveled to Sun River Resort for a two-night holiday with the Haberlachs and with her daughter Ann Chenhall and family from Cheney, WA., who brought her back to Heppner on Sunday evening.
