Movement of loan grain requires ASCS approval

Judy Buschke, County Executive Director for the Morrow County Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Committee said farm program participants who are planning to move farm stored grain under loan to make room for their 1984 grain must make arrangements in advance to do so.

"Farmers who plan to commingle their 1984 and 1983 harvests and request a loan, also need to make arrangements with our office."

Buschke said grain under regular or reserve loan is mortgaged and it is removed before repayment of the loan or receipt of release authorization, it is considered unauthorized removal and subject to penalty. The penalty consists of immediate repayment of the loan, plus interest, plus early redemption, if applicable, denial of further loans and possible investigation by the Office of the Inspector General.

To help maintain the quality of grain under loan, farmers may rotate their farm-stored grain as new crops are harvested.

One rotation method is for the farmer with sufficient storage capacity to store his most recent harvest on his farm, and then obtain authorization from the county ASCS committee to release the older crops from other bins.

If a farmer does not have sufficient storage space, upon approval of the county office committed, grain under loan can be released to the farmer up to 30 days before he or she expects to have the new grain harvested. The grain can then be removed from the bin and sold or fed.

A third method is for the producer to get permission from the county ASCS committee about 90 days before harvest to release the grain under loan which is then placed in a licensed warehouse. "We will hold the warehouse receipt until 30 days before harvest."

The ASCS officials also reminds farmers that careful and regular inspection of their farm-stored grain at this time is particularly important. Producers with price support loans are responsible for the quality of the grain through the loan's maturity date.

USDA announces wool support prices

Support prices for wool and mohair for 1984 marketings are $1.65 per pound for shorn wool and $5.169 per pound for mohair, according to Secretary of Agriculture John R. Block. Mohair is being supported at the same percent of parity as wool.

Block said pulled wool will continue to be supported at a level comparable to the support price for shorn wool through payments on unshorn lambs.

As in past years he said shorn wool payments will be based on a percentage of each producer's returns from sales. The percentage will be that required to raise the national average price received by all producers for shorn wool in 1984 up to the support price of $1.65 a pound, he said. In 1984 shorn wool prices are expected to average around 75 cents per pound compared to 61.3 cents in 1983.

Mohair payments will be calculated in a manner similar to wool Block said projected prices indicate payments will be necessary for 1984 marketings. Mohair prices during 1984 expected to average around $4.75 per pound compared to $4.05 in 1983.
