

Local 4-H'ers receive awards at Oregon State Fair

Several local 4-H'ers have been named in a press release from the Oregon State University Extension Service. Following is a list of 4-H'ers and the awards they received at the Oregon State Fair.

A champion award in decorative painting went to Linda Morter, lone.

Earning a blue award in 4-H decorative painting were Susan Plocharsky of Heppner and Patty McElligott of lone.

Receiving a blue award in the horse showmanship contest involving 4-H members in grades seven through nine was Brenda Mathis of Irrigon.

Blue awards for 4-H fiber arts were given to Mary Osmin, Heppner in the junior division and Amy Hobbs of Irrigon in the intermediate division.

Receiving blue awards in the intermediate division of the 4-H food preservation jam or jelly class was Nance Wright of Heppner.

Benji Pearson of Heppner received a blue award in 4-H knitting.

A blue award in senior horsemanship, for 4-H members was presented to Dawn Timms of Irrigon in the Senior Hunt Seat class.

Marketing seminar offered for area businesses

No business can survive without successful marketing; yet marketing is often the least understood of any aspect of business operation says Tom Hampson director of the Small Business Development Center, a department of Blue Mountain Community College. The business people of Heppner, Lexington and lone will have an opportunity to learn about this important topic at a seminar co-sponsored by the Heppner-Morrow Chamber of Commerce and B.M.C.C.

"Targeting Your Market: Aim for Success", is the title of an all-day workshop scheduled for September 25 from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. at the Heppner Elks Lodge. Lunch will be included in the registration cost of $25 for individuals and $30 for a business (maximum two employees). Pre-registration deadline is September 18.

The seminar will be presented by "At Main Associates, Inc." a marketing firm based in Pendleton. Paulette Bartee and Nancy Rees, principals in the firm, will explore the basics of marketing in the morning session. The afternoon session will be devoted to small group work sessions in which the information covered in the morning session will be applied to each business person's own situation. "The seminar is designed to provide the business person with an understanding of marketing and some tools which they can use on the next business day," said Ms. Bartee.

"The seminar was presented in Hermiston in July and the response was excellent. People came away from the session with ideas they could use immediately", according to Hampson.

The seminar format will be similar to the format of the Hermiston seminar, with one exception. "For the Heppner seminar, we will tailor one of the afternoon sessions to include information for Merchant and Chamber groups to assist them in developing marketing strategies for the community, as a whole. Our conversations with the community and business leadership in the area have led us to adapting the seminar to address these interest", Hampson said.

Dry weather brings snakebite increase

Reports of people bitten by rattlesnakes are up this year. The increase is probably related to the current dry spell, according to the American Medical Association.

Mel Boyer, A.M.A. secretary in the Portland area, says 41 biting incidents have been reported through August 15. Only 37 attacks were reported during all of 1983. While the number of bites are higher this year, the total is still well below the 108 bites recorded in 1967-another year with a hot, dry summer.

Boyer noted that during dry weather snakes tend to seek cool, moist areas. Favorite among these places are brushy creek bottoms and edges of lakes. He says one of the more common encounter situations is when boaters are stepping from the boat to shore.

Anglers, boaters and hikers in areas known to have rattlesnakes should keep a sharp eye for likely snake resting places. Avoid walking through stream or lake side brush that obscures the path ahead. Also, do not reach over or around bushes or rocks when the top or other side is not visible.

With some of the early archery seasons about to get underway and various hunting seasons not far off, many additional recreationists will be outdoors, though rattlesnakes are not normally a major problem with hunters, it might be wise to exercise extra caution this year, especially in areas east of the Cascades.

A person bitten by a rattlesnake should remain calm and go to the nearest hospital for anti-venom treatment, Boyer said.

1st woman firefighter

The Heppner Volunteer Fire Department has a new member, Rondi Johnson, who is the first woman to serve on the department.

She has recently moved to Heppner with her husband who works for Columbia Basin Electric Co-op.

BMCC coordinator resigns

Blue Mountain Community College's south Morrow county Coordinator Tina Tharp has resigned her position to take a teaching job outside the area says a BMCC news release.

She will be available in the community to provide a very limited amount of assistance for the fall start-up of classes until a new Coordinator can be hired. Persons interested in applying for the position may contact Nancy Brownfield in Heppner for a job description and details or call the College for further information.

They previously lived in Hermiston where she was also a member of the fire department.

Heppner fire chief Forrie Burkenbine says that all capable firefighters are welcome in the department.

Catholic churches offer adult education opportunity

Beginning in late September, a special new educational opportunity will be available to Catholic churches in the Diocese of Baker announced Sheridan Tarnasky of St. Patrick's Catholic Church in Heppner.

The DeSales Adult Education Program, a result of years of planning, will enable every parish and mission throughout the Eastern Oregon Diocese to participate in an in-depth study of today's Catholic church. The program is named after St. Francis DeSales, patron saint of the diocese.

The DeSales Program is divided into three units of once-a-week sessions for six consecutive weeks, a total of 18 classes. Unit I-Sacred Scripture is entitled "Finding Jesus in the Gospels" and begins September 25. Cost for each unit will be $7.

According to Tarnasky, classes in Heppner are tentatively set for Tuesdays at 7 p.m. and Wednesdays at 2 and 7 p.m. In lone the classes have been scheduled for Wednesdays at 8 p.m.

For more information or to register contact The Rev. Brian McGovern or call Sheridan Tarnasky at 676-5059, or Rose Baker at 422-7119.

Registered and Certified HILL '81 - STEPHENS SEED

EARLY BUYERS! This year I am offering a 30 cent cwt price discount for any seed bought before September 20th. As I base my seed price on the Portland market I want to pass on the storage and interest savings of buying early.

ALL CUSTOMERS! You have a lot invested in a crop. Your cheapest insurance in purchasing clean seed is a shipping certificate. It is not O.S.U. Registered or Certified if you do not receive an O.S.U. shipping certificate.

I only sell what I grow. I only sell O.S.U. Registered or Certified. I personally make the last rousing pass through each field, and I now personally clean or supervise the cleaning and sizing of each seed lot. Give me a call or come out and see me. I would like the opportunity to supply your wheat seed.
