DOGAMI reports Morrow Co. soil test results

The Oregon Department of Geology and Mineral Industries (DOGAMI) has released the results of a study in which samples from Morrow and Clatsop Counties were collected and analyzed for their potential as silica sand resources. Three deposits from which a silica sand product can be produced were identified in Clatsop County.

The 12-page study, "Bench Testing of Silica Sand from Deposits in Clatsop and Morrow Counties, Oregon," was conducted by DOGAMI geologist J.J. Gray, in cooperation with the Port of Morrow, the Mineral Resource Institute of the University of Alabama, and a private industrial firm. It has been released as DOGAMI Open-File Report 0-84-5.

The areas from which the samples were collected are both along the course of the Columbia River and contain deposits of sandstone, fluvio-glacial sand and gravel, dunes, and silt and sand of a glacial lake. The testing for silica sand potential was based on standards for the most stringent silica sand markets. Each sample was assayed, sized, subjected to magnetic and gravity separation, and re-assayed. The results of the tests are presented in tabular form in the report.

The new report, DOGAMI Open-File Report 0-84-5, is now available at the Oregon Department of Geology and Mineral Industries, 1005 State Office Building, 1400 SW Fifth Avenue, Portland, OR 97201. The purchase price is $4. Orders under $50 require prepayment.

Health improvement classes offered to the public

By DELTA HUBER

As a service to the community, the Seventh-Day Adventist church in Heppner will be offering a four-session health improvement course called "Newstart Homestyle." It will feature video lectures by California medical research physicians telling of most recent findings regarding the relation of the American Lifestyle to the leading causes of ill health and death.

The title, "Newstart," is an acronym based on the eight natural remedies for sickness: Nutrition, Exercise, Water, Sunlight, Temperance, Air, Rest, Trust in God.

At each of the four classes there will be samples of natural foods prepared in simple ways and demonstrations of their preparation with hands-on participation by the enrollees. Each member will receive a hard-back notebook and syllabus with recipes, nutritional information, menu planning guides and other helps toward improving the American Lifestyle. Titles of the four lessons are Breakfast Blues, Meatless Main Dishes, Low Fat Low Cholesterol Spreads, Dressings and Gravies, and What? No Desserts!

Each course will be limited to 10 members. Those interested may call Delta Huber 989-9107 or Grassers 676-9449. First course will begin Monday, October 22.
