IHS honors student

Taylor is active in track, basketball and football. Last fall, he was chosen offensive guard on the second team of the Big Sky football conference. Each morning Rod serves as the school "crier" by reading announcements over the intercom. He is especially busy this year helping promote projects for the entrepreneurship class, "Wings of Work." These include: message centers, whistles, bookends, stadium seats, door stops, and pine cone fire starter kits. His untiring drive and selling advertising made it possible for the class to complete production efforts on the Morrow-poly game which will be marketed in January. Welding is his hobby.

Ione High School has announced that its November student of the month is junior class president Rod Taylor.

AAUW members hear guest speakers

Two usually taboo subjects, funerals and insurance, were topics of the evening at the Heppner-Ione American Association of University Women meeting held Jan. 17. Special guests were Pat Sweeney of Sweeney Mortuary in Heppner and Denise Berg, Hermiston and Marshall Bers, Spokane, both insurance representatives. The speakers were informed and very well received," said AAUW member April Hilton-Sykes. "We discovered that we didn't know that much about some things that eventually touches all of us." It was really an interesting and informative meeting," she added. The meeting was held at the home of the Rev. Cathy Barker of Ione. Hors d'oeuvres were served. AAUW meets the third Thursday of each month at member's homes. For more information call Hilton-Sykes, 676-9939.

Pomona to meet

Pomona Grange will meet this Saturday, Jan. 26, 10:30 a.m., at Willows Grange in Ione. The Lecturer's program speaker will be Louis Carlson, president of the Morrow County Port Commission and past-president of the Oregon Wheat League. He will talk about his recent trip to Japan with the Governor's Trade Commission and activities at the Port.

IHS students name teacher of the month

Ione High School students choice of teacher of the month for December was Del LaRue. In his 14th year at I.H.S., he teaches biology, earth science and math. LaRue also serves the school as counselor, athletic director and basketball, track and football coach. He is the coach of the little boys pee wee basketball teams.

FFA tells of greenhand initiator & contest

The Heppner Chapter Future Farmers of America held its greenhand initiation and chapter leadership skills contest on Thursday Jan. 10 at the Heppner High School cafeteria announced FFA reporter Noella Rill. Eight members were installed into the Heppner Chapter. The new members are: Angie Ashbeck, Duane Ball, Jason Dougherty, Derek Hoefft, Ryan Duncan, Cathy Martin, Mike Van Schoeck, and Jim Clark. Following the initiation ceremony the chapter held its leadership skills contest which consisted of prepared public speaking, extemporaneous speaking, and creed speaking. Participating in the prepared public speaking were Noella Rill, Susy Martin, Stacey Kennedy, and Andrea Ball. Rill's topic was, "Using Guard Dogs for Predator Control in Sheep." Martin's topic was, "The Eastern Oregon Wine Industry." Kennedy's topic was, "Energy Conservation on the Farm." Ball's topic was, "Electronic Identification of Livestock." Andrea Ball won and will represent the chapter at the District contest. Participating in the extemporaneous speaking were Alex Lindsay, Noella Rill and Susy Martin. Alex Lindsay won and will represent the chapter at the district level. Creed speaking participants were Cathy Martin and Duane Ball. Duane Ball was the winner and will represent Heppner in the District contest. The District Leadership Skills Contest will be held on February 13, 1985, in Pendleton.

New board members: Don Key, Jim Swanson and Scott Madison, of the Soil and Water Conservation District were installed at a regular directors meeting January 15 at the SWCD office in Heppner. The SWCD annual meeting will be at the Lexington Grange March 12.

New council members take oath

The Ione City Council met in the Council Chambers of Ione City Hall Tuesday, Jan. 8. Former mayor Linda LaRue was present to administer the oath of office to mayor-elect Wayne Hams who then swore in new council members Judy Osmin and Jim Boor. Osmin was elected to serve a four-year term in the November General election. Boor was appointed to fill the two-year balance of the position vacated by Hams when he became mayor. The council reappointed committees for the year and heard a delegation requesting that someone be appointed to serve on the steering committee which is considered a proposed road providing a more direct link between Boardman and the south end of the county. The meeting concluded with the council presenting outgoing Mayor LaRue with a gift and thank you for her service to the city.
