

Watts given farewell party

Approximately 40 well-wishers gathered at the Elks Lodge in Heppner to wish the Rev. Ed and Zoe Watts farewell last Wednesday, April 24. Cake was served with coffee, tea, punch and wine while guests wrote their personal messages to the couple on a six-foot greeting card made from construction paper. The Watts left Heppner on Monday for Lakeport, California, where Fr. Ed has been named as rector of St. John's Episcopal Church.

Heppner woman returns from insurance education program

Nancy Brownfield of the Swanson Insurance Agency in Ione attended the Personal Lines Institute of the Society of Certified Insurance Counselors on February 28 - March 2. Brownfield was one of four recipients of the Safeco Insurance Company CIC Scholarship for 1985. The Society is the nation's largest provider of continuing education for insurance professionals. According to Pam Hold, Assistant Vice President for the Society, Brownfield represents the kind of dedicated and enthusiastic agent who has made a commitment to the business and follows through with actions and not mere words. It is appropriate that she was elected by Safeco for a scholarship that was founded with the same spirit. Brownfield has attended three CIC institutes since entering the business in 1983. A Heppner resident, she has an Associate of Arts degree in Marketing and Management from Blue Mountain Community College.

Hack promoted

Michael L. Hack, son of Larry A. and Donna M. Hack of Heppner, has been promoted in The U.S. Army to the rank of private first class. Hack is a vehicle driver at Fort McClellan, Ala. He is a 1982 graduate of Union High School, Or.

Boardman golf team wins

The Heppner Golf team went to Boardman last Thursday and played a co-ed golf match. Dave Green and Renee Struthers shot a five over 67 to earn medalist honors. The match, however, went to the Boardman team, winning by 10 strokes 383-393. Other scores for Heppner included Keith Kenison and Jacque Johnston (73), Sean Lawson and Dawn Palmer (77), Dan Struthers and Kirsten Green (78), Carl Martin and Sheila Piper (85), and Marion McMillan and J.J. Osmin rounded out the squad with a 98.

Top scorers for Riverside were Jason Michael and Laura Muir with a 71. Other scores were Kelly Seel and Lorrie Phillips (73) and Troy Flug and Dawn Westmoreland shot a 77. Three J.V. players played a round of eighteen. Riverside's Eric Cotilla shot a 102 for Heppner. Dennis Warren had a 118, and Jeff Devin shot a 143.

More lottery winners

The most recent lottery prize winners in the area purchased their tickets from Central Market. Mike Nelson, a $5,000 lucky winner, and Steve Bohlen, a $500 winner, are reported to be roommates temporarily working on a construction project in the area.

Local man featured at vo-ag conference

Dave Hall, vocational agriculture teacher at Wallowa, Oregon attended the National Vocational Agricultural Teachers' Association (NVATA) Regional Leadership Conference at Boise, Idaho on April 17-20. He joined other vocational educators in agriculture to discuss issues and concerns confronting the profession. Vocational agriculture educators from 15 states participated in the conference.

Hall was a major presenter at the conference and was featured on a panel of western states vocational agriculture teachers achieving excellence in local programs. Hall presented a presentation on local school facilities.

Hall is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Hall of Heppner. He is a 1968 graduate of Heppner High School and was active in the vo-ag department and the Heppner FFA Chapter.

Volunteers honored at luncheon

National Volunteer Week was celebrated in Heppner with a recognition luncheon given by the Retired Senior Volunteer program for volunteers 60 years of age and older.

Maxine Elder of Athena brought along her large collection of "antique" hats to display and shared some of the memories certain hats evoked. Other guests were invited to share any memorable moments in their lives which their hats brought to mind.

Usually the volunteer with the most hours or the most spectacular volunteer activity is featured at volunteer recognition; this year it's the steady ones in the background. Anna Johnson has very unobtrusively been serving the Heppner community for years. As a volunteer at Pioneer Memorial Hospital she has visited and helped the nursing home patients. Since the first south Asian family arrived in Heppner she has taught them English as a second language and in the process has become a close friend and counselor to them.

Special thanks were also given the RSVP "day girls" at the neighborhood center whose excellent training and years of experience in the functions of this Community Action

Agency have enabled it to continue its services during a prolonged illness of the coordinator. Volunteers who have served in this capacity in recent years are: Theta Lowe, Irene Swanson, Camella Samples, Maxine Gray, Alena Anderson, Eleanor Gony, Helen Dyer, and Verna Brinda.

The ladies were given a demonstration of the effect excess weight has upon the body. A cape with huge pockets was placed on a volunteer. Five pound sacks of flour were put in the pockets until 30 pounds of weight were added. The volunteer could barely move. It was pointed out that for each extra pound of weight almost a mile of tiny blood vessels are made and the heart must pump blood through them all. "Low calorie" dishes were featured on the menu.

The Retired Senior Volunteer Program consists of senior citizens who are serving their communities in a volunteer capacity. There are no dues - just fringe benefits. Anyone who is interested in becoming a member or finding volunteer activities suited to his skills or interests should contact June Wagner, Box 935, Pendleton or call collect to 276-3311.
