special lunch awarded at the conclusion of the Books 'n Beyond program.

Reading journey ends with banana splits

Banana splits were served to 28 students, fourth grade teacher Diana Kincaid, and teachers' aid Pam Minster who recently completed the Books-n-Beyond Program at Ione Elementary.

The program began in January as an effort to encourage students in Grades K-6 to read more and watch television less. Students also were encouraged to visit the city library to check our books.

Prizes were awarded as incentives

TAG awards presented

The fourth annual academic achievement awards banquet was held Thursday, May 23, at the Heppner High School cafeteria. The sit down dinner was provided by the faculty committee for the academically talented and gifted.

Each teacher at the high school was asked to supply names of three students who excelled both in grades and in the consistency of their work. Skills awards were given by the science, math (including computers), language arts, journalism, library, and business departments.

Keynote speaker Dave Sinkevitch encouraged students to strive for blue-ribbon, gold medal quality, and to avoid mediocrity. Along with their talents, a willingness to learn, and hard work, he said, were all they needed to bring their dreams into reality.

The following students received the Presidential Academic Fitness Award: Renee Struthers, Stephi Payne, Trisha Mahoney, and Jim McConnell. To receive this award students had to score above the 80 percentile on a standardized achievement test, maintain a 3.5 grade point average over four years, and have completed all of the "new basics" identified by the Presidential Commission for Excellence.

All of the following students received awards for academic excellence, some of them received multiple awards:

Lexington News

By Delpha Jones 989-8189

The grist wheel from the Rice and Davis Grist mill was set at the Lexington City hall grounds on Friday. The wheel was presented to the Morrow County Historical Society by George and Virginia Stillman of Heppner. The mill, one of Lexington's main industries, was started in 1885 and by 1890 Joseph Burgoyne had purchased each partner's share and it was known as the Burgoyne Mill. It was located on the west side of Willow Creek near the Burgoyne residence. The flour ground here was known as Lexington Snowflake Flour. A sign is being made by Ione Shop Class to be installed with the wheel. The City of Lexington are M.C.H.S. worked jointly getting the work done with Ray Papineau and Cecil Jones the man power with much moral support from interested residents. It is hoped to be completed in time for the Centennial celebration of the town of Lexington on July 16.

Lifeguard says 'Thanks'

LIFEGUARD MEDICAL TRANSPORT staff and Board of Directors wish to thank the voters of Morrow County for their overwhelming support in the May 21st election. We, as well as you, who are now co-owners of the LIFEGUARD service should be encouraged and proud of your dedication to and support of a lifesaving program that is a benefit accessible to all. We interpret this 75 percent majority vote also as an endorsement of the conscientious efforts and sound business management provided by all those who have worked with LIFEGUARD from its inception.

To continue the LIFEGUARD service it is necessary that the funding base be spread out from Umatilla County to include the entire service area of Northeast Oregon and Southwest Washington. The three counties voting on May 21st, Morrow, Grant, and Walla all passed their levy by at least a two-third majority. Efforts to expand this funding base are on-going with Baker County planning to vote in September and possibly Walla Walla County in Washington voting sometime in the fall of 1985. Those of you who have friends, relatives, business associates, etc., in any of the counties not yet having voted could assist this effort by being informed and talking about LIFEGUARD to these people. The conversational support or word-of-mouth endorsement is the best advertisement we can have. Remember, the more counties who support the program, the less it will cost each of us.

Again, thank you to the voters of Morrow County. We appreciate your support and look forward to providing a first rate program for our entire region.
