

Heppner Garden Club dresses up Main Street

Irene Swanson (left) and Theta Lowe of the Heppner Garden Club add the finishing touches after the club put in the flower pots filled with Marigolds around the bulletin board on Main Street last Saturday.

Ron McDonald provided the wooden flower pots and Bill Rawlins raised the Marigolds.

Lexington News

By Delpha Jones 989-8189

The Garden Bugs met for the regular meeting on Thursday at the home of Lois Allyn. The program for the afternoon was a very interesting talk on weed identification. The group toured the Allyn and Burcham yard identifying the various weeds found there.

Old business was the broken water line in the park and it was reported that the Oddfellow are going to assist Ray Papineau in the fixing of the pipe.

The club thanks all who helped with the Memorial Day Flower sale and those who donated the flowers so that the sale was possible. They thank the people who assist in the activities of the garden club.

Five shrubs were purchased by the Garden Bugs for planting at the City Hall and they do look nice. Plans to plant petunias around the Grist wheel are underway.

A trip is being planned for the 20th to the cactus greenhouses in Irrigon, the group plans on visiting Hermiston and having lunch and will tour the greenhouses in the afternoon. They will leave about 11 a.m.

The group will sell lemonade and cookies during the celebration in July 13 at the Lexington Park. Rainbow candles will be available at that time. The member were asked to furnish one dozen home made cookies.

Oral and Marg Wright are the June yard of the month winners. They have a well kept yard with many pretty flowers.

The door prize was won by Eula Bloodworth.

Flowers have been planted at the park, with petunia in the old bathtub and bleeding hearts (the club flower) in various spots in the park. Also some of the pink hedge roses are blooming and are very pretty.

The next meeting will be at the home of Dorothy Burchams, at a special morning time as there are plans for another meeting there in the afternoon.

Archie Munkers was flown by Lifeguard helicopter to Pioneer Memorial Hospital one day last week from St. Mary's Hospital in Walla Walla.

Joyce Buchanan underwent major surgery in the University Hospital in Portland on Monday morning.

IUCC prepares for Vacation Church School

The Ione United Church of Christ will hold its Vacation Church School June 17-21, from 9 to 12 each morning. The fun and activities will center around the theme "God's People. Empowered by LOVE!" Stories, games, songs, crafts, and drama will be a part of each day's events and refreshments will be served, announced the Rev. Cathy Barker.

All children age three through those entering the sixth grade are invited to attend. Teachers will be Tonya Heideman, Kim Thompson, Sandra Halvorsen, Cindy Osterlund, and Cathy Barker. JoAnn King is coordinating refreshments and Cathy Halvorsen is helping with registration. Junior High girls will be helpers in some classes.

The supervisor for the five-day school will be Joy Haertig, the summer intern for Condon and Ione United Churches of Christ. She will provide support for the teachers and leadership for all age groups.

The offering will go to Heifer Project International to purchase a goat to be given to a needy family somewhere in the United States or overseas. The students will learn the usefulness of a goat as they work to raise $100 for this project. The motto will be "GO GOAT!"

Registration is at 8:45 a.m. Monday, June 17. A donation of one dollar per child is asked to help with the expenses.

All the students of the Vacation Church School will present a sharing program to family and friends on Friday evening, June 21 at 7:30. Each class will share something they have learned, and all the students will sing and tell about the offering for the goat. Refreshments will be served. The public is invited.

Heppner Happenings

By Mary Bryant 676-9493

Mrs. Snoda Blake recently saw the pleasure of having her five granddaughters and her daughter-in-law, Mrs. Bill Blake, mother of the girls, as overnight guests. The visitors were Mrs. Beverly Fitzgerald of Salem, Mrs. Barbara Teachout, Dallas; Mrs. Jennifer Weaver, Eugene; Mrs. Kathy Ross of Monmouth, and Mrs. Karen Keder, of Jefferson. Mr. and Mrs. Bill Blake formerly lived in Heppner and their girls attended school here. It was a big event for Mrs. Snoda Blake as the girls had to arrange for baby-sitters, etc. in order to all be here at one time.

Mr. and Mrs. Harlan McCurdy, their daughter, Janet Currin, and her three sons, Brian, Casey, and Joe, visited the Bruce Moyers in Missoula, Montana, recently. Mrs. Moyers is the former Diane McCurdy and she and her husband both graduated from Heppner High. Their daughter, Cyndi, graduated from Big Sky High School on June 2, at Missoula. Randi Moyers, another granddaughter, had recently finished her first year of nursing at the University of Missoula. The McCurdys were happy to be part of the celebration.

Judge and Mrs. Bob Abrams have received word from their daughter, Elizabeth, that a woodblock print of hers had been accepted as part of the Oregon-Washington Juried Exhibition at Maryhill, June 29 through August 17. Elizabeth lives in Portland with her husband, Tony Rick, and their daughter, Sara.

Mrs. Joyce Hughes has received notification that she is now a certified aerobic dance instructor.

Mrs. Nina Denton will attend the graduation of her daughter, Claudia Sherman, this weekend. She will graduate from Eastern Washington State College at Cheney, WN, and will receive a B.A. in Psychology.

On Wednesday, Mrs. Denton went to the Tri-Cities for a doctor's appointment and on to Yakima for a visit with Dick and Lorna Borman, former residents of Heppner.

Frank and Kay Anderson entertained at a wine and cheese tasting party at their ranch home on Saturday evening. There were about 40 present.
