donated by Sears was won by Mike Brosnan. Additional sponsors for the rodeo include Don Greenup for cows and calves; Bob Mahoney for team roping steers; Sid Britt for dogging steers; and E.O. Farms, Western Empire Farms, Western Alfalfa Farms, and Frederickson Farming, all of Irrigon, for hay to feed stock not only for the Wednesday night show but for the weekend rodeo as well. Entry fees paid by the cowboys and donations from sponsors are a vital part of the Morrow County Rodeo. "Without them, we wouldn't have a Morrow County rodeo," said a rodeo committee spokesperson, "so when you see any of these sponsors mention to them whenever possible that we just couldn't do without them." (Look for results of the Morrow County Open rodeo in next week's Gazette-Times.)

Heppner FFA'er returns from national convention

By NOELLA RILL
Heppner FFA Chapter

Alex Lindsay, a Heppner FFA Chapter member recently returned from a trip to Manhattan, Kansas, where he attended the American Institute of Cooperatives National Convention August 5-8.

Alex earned the high score for the Blue Mountain District on the Cooperative Quiz at the District Convention held in Pendleton, in March 1985. Alex then took the quiz at the State FFA Convention and earned high score for the Eastern Oregon Section.

The winners from all four sections received trips to Manhattan, Kansas. They were accompanied by one State Officer and one FFA advisor.

At the Convention FFA members stayed in Campus Dorms at Kansas State University. They attended general sessions which featured keynote speakers who spoke about many things, including cooperatives. Small Group sessions were held to teach young farmers about cooperatives.

Alex, who will be a senior at Heppner High School has competed in many FFA activities and holds the office of Blue Mountain District Vice-President. He also maintains a FFA project of Beef Cattle and Crops.

Alex enjoyed meeting people from all over the United States and will keep in touch with his new friends, which he will hopefully see when he goes to Kansas City, Missouri, for the National FFA Convention this fall.
