

Local coupon book now being compiled

A coupon book offering discounts and specials from local businesses is now being compiled by the Heppner Chamber of Commerce, Chamber President Doug Smith announced last week.

About 200 of the books will be printed says Smith, for distribution to newly arriving members of the community.

"We hope it will stimulate interest in local businesses for the new people who are coming into the area," Smith said.

Member businesses will have space for one coupon each, and non chamber members will be contacted about being included for a nominal fee.

If you are interested in having your business in the coupon book, contact either Doug Smith at Heppner Bowl, or David Sykes at the Heppner Gazette-Times.

Learn how to square dance with the Grand Squares

Ione Grand Squares

Ione Grand Squares would like to invite everyone to come learn how to square dance. Grand Squares is a family oriented club that has been in this area dancing and having fun for over 18 years.

Now is the chance to join in. We are beginning our lessons on Thursday, Sept. 26 at the Elementary gym in Ione from 7 to 9 p.m. All ages are welcome so feel free to bring your children, stated JoAnn King, instructor.

Anyone interested may call Cindy Osterlund, 422-7173 or JoAnn King, 422-7407 for more information.

"Just grab your partner or come single and have some fun! We'll be looking forward to meeting you!" concluded King.

Awarded academic honors

Area residents were among Whitman College students honored for academic achievements at the college's fall opening ceremonies.

Recognized for Academic Distinction, for achieving a grade-point average of at least 3.5 for the spring semester 1985, were: Patrick Struthers, a sophomore, graduate of Heppner High School, the son of Marie and Edwin Struthers.

Parents Club to meet

The Heppner Parents Club will be holding their first meeting Thursday, Sept. 26, 7:30 p.m. at the elementary school following the grade school open house. Everyone is invited to attend and voice their concerns and ideas, stated a club representative.

'Family Fellowship Night' slated at IUCC Sept. 25

Ione United Church of Christ announces 'Family Fellowship Night' with special guest Dr. Pauline King, Wednesday, Sept. 25 at 6:30 p.m. The fellowship night will be held in the IUCC basement with a potluck dinner and an audio visual program.

Child care will be provided, stated the Rev. Cathy Barker.

Dr. King, 60, although officially retired from the Christian Medical College in Vellore, is still active as an UCC missionary. She also continues to serve as a professor and consultant at the college. In addition, Dr. King serves as director of the Family Village Farm in nearby Katpadi which brings healing and hope to many destitute and abandoned widows, children and elderly people.

Lex yard awarded Sept. honors

In Lexington Harrison and Doris Raymond at 368 Water Street have been awarded Yard-of-the-Month honors for September.

In just one year this couple has turned a large vacant lot into a beauty spot with well-arranged combinations of native and purchased plant materials and weathered woods, said a Garden Bugs spokesperson.

They have planted neat lawns, 14 trees, 12 rose bushes, a prosperous vegetable garden, two raised flower beds now featuring colorful varieties of petunia and one, edged with railroad ties, containing roses.

Sagebrush is attractive against the yellow mobile home on the back side, and the Raymonds keep looking for other native plants to incorporate into their garden, continued the spokesperson. Charming paths of native stone are also being built, as well.

Mr Raymond has recently retired from construction work, having put in many years on the Grand Cooley Dam. They came to Lexington from Woodburn, and before that they lived in Brewster, Washington.

Rill elected as FFA district officer

At a Blue Mountain District FFA meeting held at Milton-Freewater, September 9, Noella Rill of the Heppner Chapter was elected to the office of District Secretary. Noella replaced Noel Bondo of the Hermiton FFA Chapter who is moving out of the area.

Noella joins the officer team consisting of Eric Coppock of Pendleton, District President; Alex Lindsay of Heppner, District Vice-president; Robin Bothum of Pendleton, Treasurer; Bob Wolfe of Hermiton, District Reporter; Cindy Humbert of Mac High, Sentinel. The District Advisor is Walt Matteson of Mac High, Milton-Freewater.

All friends and neighbors are cordially invited to attend a reception and open house for

Dave and Valery Campbell

Saturday, September 21 from 2-5 p.m.

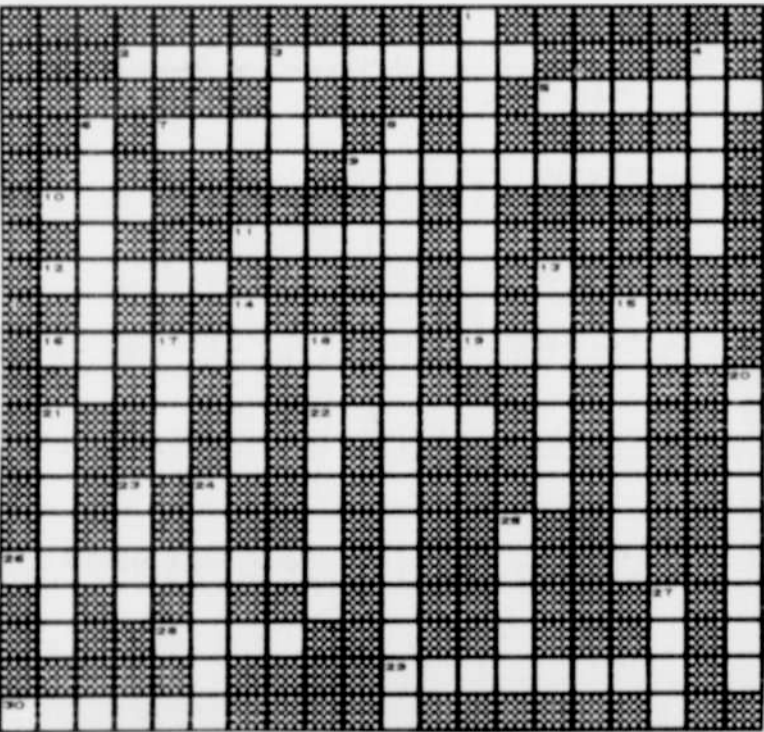

at their house at 345 N. Gilmore
