

Letters to the Editor

Sen. Fadeley for governor

To the Editor:
As Democrats worked on the anti-sales tax campaign, we were glad to hear that Ed Fadeley may run for Governor of Oregon. Mr. Goldschmidt lent his name to the pro-sales tax campaign. 77.8 percent of the people voted "No" on the sales tax issue. The Republicans have Betty Freauf to run for governor. She opposed the sales tax as well. Democrats should have such a choice in the primaries.
The sales tax issue showed what the people can do. It is important that both parties, Democrat and Republican, have the choice of whether they want more government or not. To the people who voted on the sales tax issue: believe in the political system. The political power is yours if you are willing to give the time and money to the candidate of your choice. Senator Fadeley is ready to serve you. He has given much of his life to the people of Oregon. Betty Freauf has given much of her time lobbying for a freer society in Oregon.

We would like to see Senator Fadeley in the race for governor in the general. A win-win situation would be nice for a change. Right now, the Republicans have Betty Freauf. If Fadeley does not run, who will offer the Democrats a choice over the less responsive Goldschmidt?
Democrats for Fadeley
(s) Garth Putnam

Local gardeners invited to club meeting

To the Editor:
Open Note to Gardeners and Flower Lovers
Recently we in the Heppner Garden Club discovered that several local gardeners thought ours was an exclusive group with membership limited to a select few invited to join. Not true.
At about the same time we found that some of our members knew little of the scope and diversity of the opportunities offered through our membership in the Oregon State Federation of Garden Clubs.
Solution: We are making our October 7 meeting an open meeting and inviting all gardeners and flower lovers in our area. We begin at 6:30 p.m. at the All Saints Episcopal Parish Hall with a scrumptious salad buffet (most gardeners are also good cooks) and follow up with an informative and entertaining (we hope) program telling what garden club is all about. Our district director Cece Slocum of Hermiston will be there as well as members from the Ione and Lexington clubs.

Everyone is invited; no one is obliged to join. Our guests are to have a good supper and a good time talking about our great hobby of flowers and gardening.
RSVP at 676-5417 or 676-9496 to insure lost of food.
Jane Rawlins (Pres.)

Sifting

through the Times

10 Years Ago
This October marks the first anniversary of the Heppner Child Development Center. The occasion was celebrated with birthday cake for the children, staff and board members. Carnation corsages were given to the staff members.
Bob Ewell, Tri-County Health officer told the Chamber of Commerce that a survey of the three counties is planned where residents will be asked to complete a simple form and return it to the health department.
25 Years ago
A state highway department crew Monday started work on a new footbridge adjacent to the Linden Way highway bridge across Hinton Creek in the north end of Heppner. Orville Cutsforth, prominent Lexington Republican, announced this week that he is strongly supporting the national Democratic ticket, and will assume an active role in the Oregon Farmers for Kennedy organization.
By Judge Oscar Peterson
The Mid-Columbia Planning Council has been organized recently embodying the counties of Umatilla, Morrow, Gilliam, Sherman, Wasco, and Hood River. Its purpose is to correlate the economic factors in these six counties by studies to be made in a continuing long range planning program designed to be a guide to the future development of the area.

with the shotgun, the only shooting iron at hand, and he doesn't care who knows it's the first buck he's ever killed in many years of hunting.
Benny Robertson is among the fortunate hunters checking into town so far this season, but thanks his lucky stars at that, for had it not been for the valor of another, his buck might have got away. Benny shot a nice little buck, knocking him over, only to see him arise again and take off down the mountainside. Below were Max Schulz and a hunting companion. The deer came upon them, and Max grabbed its horns in bulldogger fashion, throwing it over.

Health Dept.

Friday, Oct. 4-immunizations and blood pressure clinic, all day, Health Department office, Lexington
Tuesday, Oct. 8-immunizations and blood pressure clinic, 1-4 p.m., Irrigation County offices.
Friday, Oct. 11-immunizations and blood pressure clinic, all day, Health Department office, Lexington.
Monday, Oct. 14-closed for Columbus Day Holiday.
Tuesday, Oct. 15-blood pressure clinic and immunizations, 2-4 p.m., Heppner Neighborhood Center.
Wednesday, Oct. 16-blood pressure clinic and immunizations, 3-4 p.m., Ione Bank of Eastern Oregon kitchen.
Friday, Oct. 18-blood pressure clinic and immunizations, all day, Health Department office, Lexington.
Tuesday, Oct. 22-immunizations and blood pressure clinic, 1-4 p.m., Irrigation County offices.
Friday, Oct. 25-immunizations and blood pressure clinic, all day, Health Dept. office, Lexington.

50 Years Ago
After a fellow has hunted the elusive deer for many years and never had so much as a shot at one, or as Ben Patterson put it, had never so much as seen one, there's a lot of kick in bagging one. Add to that the feat of shooting the deer with a shotgun, and you can imagine the elation of Ben who had just that experience. Ben and Logie Richardson were out in quest of grouse (not deer) last week-end when Ben came upon a little two-point buck. He shot the little fellow

Looking for underground homes/businesses

Q. I wonder if your readers could tell me where underground homes or businesses have been built in Oregon? - L.M., Alesia.
A. How about it, readers? Have any of you built underground homes or businesses? If you have and would like to share experiences with L.M., or let her take a look, drop a note to Energy Answers and we'll pass it along.
Q. A recent article I read said there's no thermal reason to put insulation in the ceiling rather than the walls. Is this true? If so, can you explain why? - T.C., Roseburg.
A. Uninsulated ceilings may lose heat at a slightly faster rate than uninsulated walls. However, the difference is usually minor. Because hot air rises, many people think that ceilings need more insulation than walls. But researchers have found little temperature difference at different heights in most homes.
Ceiling heat loss due to radiation may be somewhat greater than wall heat loss due to radiation. This is because the roof radiates heat to the cold night sky whereas the walls radiate heat to the relatively warmer ground, buildings and other objects.
These differences in heat loss are usually minor, so the reasons for using higher levels of ceiling insulation are economic, not thermal. It's cheaper in new construction to provide space for insulation above the ceiling than in the wall. In existing homes, it's easier and less costly to add insulation above the ceiling than inside the walls.

Q. I have a working wood stove. The wall in back of it is a mixture of stone and brick that looks awful. I would like to replace it but I am renting and don't want to spend $30 or $40 on new brick (2-brick or something similar). Is there any other material, such as a plaster-board, that is much cheaper but will be fireproof? If so, is there a paint that won't be affected by heat? - V.P., Rogue River.
There are noncombustible materials you can use, but plaster-board is not one of them because of its paper facing.
Here are a couple of possibilities:
- Sheet steel spaced out one inch from the wall to allow air ventilation. Use 28 gauge sheet steel. It's only about one-hundredth of an inch thick.
- Quarter-inch asbestos millboard spaced out one inch from the wall for ventilation.
As for paint, you can use an epoxy paint, which is noncombustible, on either the sheet steel or the asbestos millboard. But be forewarned: Epoxy paints take about a week to dry.
A better bet might be a high temperature spray paint normally used for stoves or engine blocks. It's readily available at hardware stores.
We're sending you a copy of a handbook outlining requirements and guidelines for installing wood stoves. It suggests other protection possibilities and sizing of the protective shield. The handbook was published by the Oregon Fire Marshals Association. Other readers who would like a copy at no charge may contact the Oregon State Uni-

ENERGY ANSWERS

FROM THE OSU EXTENSION SERVICE
University Extension energy agent in their area. The name and address of the agent may be obtained by writing Energy Answers, OSU, Corvallis, OR 97331.

Gospel singers set local concert

Nationally known gospel singers, Ransom and Mary Hess, will present a program of gospel music at Lexington Baptist Church, Wednesday, Oct. 2 at 7 p.m.
Mr. Hess has presented concerts to audiences nation-wide appearing in over half of the 50 states. Some of the plateaus of his singing career include the privilege of presenting a concert in the White House during the presidency of President Gerald Ford.
He became quite well-known in the gospel singing field during the 15 years he broadcast his own daily radio program over KGER, a popular California radio station, says a press release from the Hesses.
They endeavor to sing the time-proven songs and a variety of new ones, using the fantastic sounds of their electric keyboard as well as beautiful instrumental background tapes to bring a well-rounded presentation.

Community Calendar

Pine City reunion slated

A Pine City Reunion will be held Sunday, Oct. 6, at the Hermiston Civic Recreation Center, 215 W. Orchard, in Hermiston. It will be an Open House from 1-5 p.m.
Everyone interested is urged to attend.
For further information contact Olela Neill Akers, Box 182, Prairie City, Oregon 97869.

Fundraiser slated at Ione library

A bake sale-Amway party will be held October 10 at the Ione City Library from 10 a.m. - 4:30 p.m. Pies, cakes and assorted baked goods will be available. Those who wish to request particular items may call Shirley McNary, 422-7513, Lorraine Ladd, 422-7413, or any other Topic Club member.
All proceeds from the bake sale and dealer profit from the Amway sales will go toward buying new books for the library. Donations will also be accepted. Aside from the $200 donated annually by the city, the Topic Club must raise funds needed for purchase of new books.

Nutri-Nibblers slate meeting

The Nutri-Nibblers will meet Monday, Oct. 7 after having taken a summer recess. The meeting will begin at 7 p.m. in the general purpose room of the Seventh-day Adventist church.
Part of the program for the evening, besides discussion of plans for the new year, will be working on completion of the few lessons left from last Spring. Those who were present then are asked to bring their lessons with them. Newcomers will be fitted into the program according to their individual preferences.
All who are interested in good nutrition are invited to attend. Plan to enjoy a light evening meal with the group.

Cardinal Club welcomes new principal

The Ione Cardinal Club and school faculty invite all community members to a potluck dinner at 6:30 p.m. Monday, Oct. 7 at the school cafeteria to welcome Dick Allen, Ione school principal, and his family. The Cardinal Club will also be honoring new and returning teachers that evening.
Families are asked to bring a hot dish and salad or dessert.

Methodist Sunday school begins

The United Methodist Sunday School will begin Sunday, Oct. 6. A pancake breakfast will kickoff the fall program at 9 a.m. Sunday school will follow the breakfast. For the remainder of the year, Sunday school will begin at 9 a.m.
For more information, call Peggy Fishburn, 676-5246 or Patti McAlpin, 676-9812.

Senior citizen bowling league forming

A senior citizen bowling league is forming at Heppner Bowl.
The league meeting will be Monday, Oct. 7 at 2 p.m. "Bring a friend or a whole team," said organizer Sam Worley.
Questions may be directed to Worley at 676-9208.

Retired educators set Oct. 5 meeting

Unit 9 of the Umatilla-Morrow Counties Oregon Retired Educators Association will meet on Saturday, Oct. 5, at the Elks Club in Milton-Freewater at 11 a.m.
The business meeting will be followed by a luncheon at noon.
The program will be given by Dr. Patrick Spencer from the Geology Department at Whitman College in Walla Walla.

Garden Club invites new members

By Justine Weatherford
Monday evening, Oct. 7, all persons interested in gardening in this community are cordially invited to an open-house Salad Supper which will begin at 6:30 p.m. in the Episcopal Church Parish Hall on Gale Street.
Cece Slocum from Hermiston, President of Blue Mountain District 10, will be one of the evening's speakers. There will be a humorous skit on flower arranging performed by Heppner members.
Questions will be answered about garden club activities and projects. The officers of the Heppner Garden Club are: Jane Rawlins, president; Bebe Munkers, vice-president; Martha Doherty, secretary and Vivian McConnell, treasurer.
Theta Lowe, last year's president, is chairman for the Salad Supper, assisted by Jerry Doherty and all members of the club.

NEW 7-11-21.
ODDS ARE YOU'LL LOVE IT.

Because with 7, 11, 21, the odds are terrific. Better than 1 in 6 that you'll win something. From a free ticket. To $21,000. To even a chance at the jackpot. Not only that, it's fun to play. Because you don't just match 'em. You add 'em. If they add up to 7, 11, or 21, just scratch the prize box. And see what you win. New 7, 11, 21. Don't be the odd man out. Play it. And enjoy.

INSTANT PRIZE STRUCTURE

(Based on approximately 30 million tickets in the game.)

Instant Prize	Number of Winners	Chances of Winning
Overall Odds	5,162,250	1:5.82
Free Ticket	3,000,000	1:10
$ 2	1,920,000	1:15.63
$ 5	240,000	1:125
$ 100	2,000	1:15,000
$11,000	125	1:240,000
$21,000	125	1:240,000

Odds and number of winners may vary based on sales, distribution, and claims.

SEED WHEAT
SHOP BEFORE YOU BUY
QUALITY SEED ALWAYS YIELDS MORE

- 1) Seeds should be LARGE - no more than 9,500 seeds/lb. in STEPHENS and no more than 12,500 seeds/lb. for HILL '81.
- 2) Seed should be absolutely pure. O.S.U. certification means at least 2 independent inspections for purity. The only reason that seed is sold uncertified is that it won't meet all O.S.U. certification standards.
- 3) OREGON STATE LAW says no goatgrass in any seed sold and all seed must have a purity analysis supplied to the customer with each load.
- 4) After all of your quality criteria are met - then BUY your SEED CHEAP... from us.

We have STEPHENS and HILL '81 REGISTERED or CERTIFIED TREATED with VITAVAX 200

Eric Anderson
422-7204
PLEASE LET PHONE RING

Special of the Week
KITCHEN TOWELS

3 for $ 7.99
Reg. $1.99

Murray's Drug