Letters to the Editor

Business lunch series good for community

To the Editor:
Since October 3, the Small Business Development Center has been sponsoring a business lunch series. They are held each Thursday noon at the Elks. The topics have been geared specifically for the businesses here in Heppner, Lexington, and Lone.

The attendance has been fair, but could be so much better. We are fortunate to have this opportunity right here at home.

I have attended these lunches and find the information invaluable. The speakers are worthwhile, but the real treat is the opportunity for all of the business people to share their ideas and concerns about the particular subject being presented.

We are all busy people. This lunch series is a good thing for our community. Let's show those sponsoring it that we want to see this kind of program continue. Please join me at one or more the next four lunches.

Thank you,

Courtesy car is a needed service

To the Editor:
I think the Courtesy Car is a valuable and badly needed service especially for the elderly. It makes it possible for those people who can't drive their cars and others who need a ride, to shop locally, keep Dr. appointments, visit friends, attend meetings, etc.

Why isn't the town as a whole more supportive of the Courtesy Car?

A lot of people are very grateful to Buzz Lynch for making this service available. I use the Courtesy Car so

I know how promptly they respond, the courteous, helpful and thoughtful way the passengers are treated.

I am very appreciative of this service and I hope more people of the community will get behind the project and help keep it going. It is helpful not only to those who use it but also to many local businesses.

Please think about it and let us all do what we can to help.

Remember, with the bad weather approaching it will be needed more than ever.
